SURRENDER DEAL ON IN SPAIN

PLOT TO BOMB BRITAIN'S KEY DEFENSES BARED

Revealed at Hearing of 12 Suspects.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Map on page 2.)

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Details of a document called the "S" plan, allegedly the Irish Republican army plot to sabotage Britain's defenses and vital industries, were read in Bow street police court today by Prosecutor G. B. McClure as twelve Irishmen were arraigned in connection with the recent bombing outrages.

The court action followed a jittery week-end, during which special precautions were taken to guard against threatened damage to public buildings, climaxed today by a new telephoned threat to blow the Bow street police station "sky high." McClure told the court the "S" plan was seized in the baggage of Michael O'Shea, 24 year old Middlesex laborer.

Six Point Plan.

The prosecutor said the six point plan called for sabotaging the military, air, and naval forces; airplane, munitions, and supply factories; public utilities and transport services; key industries; commerce, banking, shipping, and minor industries, and six large newspapers.

McClure said the plan also envisaged the spreading of confusion through the issuing of false orders for mobilization of British troops and air raid precautions organizations. This was to be accomplished through the theft of official government letterheads, envelopes, and rubber stamps to make the communications from the foreign office, the war office, and the admiralty look genuine.

The "S" plan also urged the plotters to join the air raid precautions services and bore from within, and make Britain's national service program a target for sabotage through the burning of buildings where enlistment lists and other records are kept.

Classify Explosives.

In connection with government offices, the plan advised enlisting the aid of sympathetic employés to deposit "incendiary unit No. 1 or No. 2" in cupboards prior to closing hours.

The London, Birmingham and Coventry electricity systems were marked for early "land mines," according to McClure's description of the plan. The prosecutor pointed out that some parts of the plan already were carried out, such as the blasting of power stations and London subway stations.

The week-end activities ascribed to the Irish Republican army included the firing of four Coventry stores by incendiary bombs planted before closing on Saturday.

Letters Seized.

The court also was told that police seized letters referring to caches of explosives and outlining methods to be used in planting bombs. Some of the letters allegedly were signed with the initials of the defendants who were ordered held in jail for eight days.

In linking the "S" plan to the Irish Republican army, McClure referred to a letter received by Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax on Jan. 13, demanding immediate withdrawal of all British armed forces from Ireland. The letter threatened to "intervene actively in the military and commercial life" of Britain if the demands were not met.

The letter was dated Jan. 12 and set a four day deadline. On Jan. 16, the power station bombings began.

The demanded withdrawal of British troops apparently referred to Northern Ireland as the last of the British soldiers were reported taken from Ireland on Oct. 3, last year, in accordance with the treaty signed with England on April 25. It was the first time in 247 years that no British troops were in Ireland.

$100,000 Fire at Resort.

A $100,000 fire in a holiday resort at Skegness, Lincoln county, tonight was being investigated on the possibility that it may have been connected with the recent wave of terrorism.

There have been other fires which the police suspect were incendiary as well as twenty-one bombings since the terrorist campaign began.

It was officially announced today that the projected visit March 7 of the duke and duchess of Kent to Belfast, Northern Ireland, had been postponed until later in the year.

CANDIDATES GO TO BAT ON CITY SCHOOLS ISSUE

Talk to Teachers at Same Meeting.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Removal of politics from the public school system was a subject that drew concentrated attention last night in the mayoralty campaign. The three leading candidates for mayor spoke from the same platform at a meeting of the Chicago Teachers' union in the Auditorium theater. In a fifteen minute address each of the three expressed his opinions on school affairs.

Dwight H. Green, candidate of the regular Republican organization asserted Chicago's most important problem is removal of political influence from the schools. He outlined his proposed remedies. State's Attorney Courtney held that political domination of the schools is a main issue and pledged himself to remove it.

Mayor Outlines His Plan.

Mayor Kelly, Courtney's rival for the Democratic nomination, outlined the plan he has devised for a citizen's committee to approve or disapprove appointments to the board of education. Mayor Kelly pledged himself to support the plan.

The three rivals did not sit together on the rostrum, but came out from the wings at intervals. Mr. Green was the first speaker.

"It is no secret," he said, "that for twenty years Chicago's school system has been steeped in politics. Today parents shudder as they see the education fund diverted, the requirements lowered, teachers' pay kept low, and the shameless political machine squandering a trust fund designated and intended for the education of our children.

What He Will Do.

"The way to change it is to take the schools out of the hands of politicians and place them in the hands of people who are free and independent politically. If elected mayor that is what I will do.

"Among the candidates, only one can do anything immediately about our schools. That is Mayor Kelly. There has been talk of a commission to pass on the qualifications of school board members. I ask why has this not been done? Why just talk about it?

State's Attorney Courtney, next speaker, said the schools were a major issue.

"The criticism seems to be," he said, "over the political domination of the schools by the political machine that now dominates the city.

Cites His Own Record.

"Six years ago I pledged myself to sever politics from the state's attorney's office. In six years we have had 10,000 criminal cases. I defy any one to say politics has entered into one single prosecution during my régime. I promise tonight that under my administration politics will be severed from the board of education.

"My purpose as mayor is to reappoint the minority on the board opposed to political domination. As to other members I would ask in the interests of the children that they submit their resignations. The new board would naturally want a superintendent in accord with the spirit of the board and would want to give him sole responsibility for administering in the interests of democracy and common sense."

Mayor Is Last Speaker.

Mayor Kelly was the last speaker. "Chicago mayors," he said, "from time to time have faced serious conflicts of opinion on the policies and objectives of the school board.

"These are political times and I may be accused of playing politics to do the expedient thing and not the right thing, but I think we have worked out at least a partial solution. Core of the problem is that a progressive government of the schools can be insured if a citizens' committee, counseling the mayor on future school board appointments, would have authority to approve or disapprove all such appointments. I have agreed to follow this procedure, to appoint such a committee, in the hope that in so far as is humanly possible politics can be taken out of the school system.

"Before this week is ended I hope to announce the personnel of this committee."

3 Thin Thieves Use Transoms to Loot Homes

Three skinny burglars who boasted of breaking into 150 homes in six months were in jail last night and Jefferson Park police relaxed. They felt reasonably sure that the members of the transom gang would be unable to wriggle through the bars of the station lockup.

The transom gang gave both Jefferson Park and Cragin police many anxious nights. Sometimes there were seven or eight burglaries in one neighborhood within a few hours. The police always were a few blocks or minutes behind the robbers, who entered the homes by climbing through kitchen transoms.

Seen Going Into House.

The three were captured Sunday night, when a neighbor saw them go into a house at 5534 Newport avenue. The arrests were kept secret until yesterday so that police could seize a jeweler charged with buying the stolen property. The three burglars then confessed to Sergt. Justin McCarthy.

The prisoners are Robert Wold, 18 years old, 3848 Wabansia avenue; Herman Semenek, 24, of 1713 Keystone avenue, and Edward Reddington, 20, of 1704 North Springfield avenue, members of the gang, and Rolf Wenstad, 44, a jeweler at 3812 North avenue.

Reddington, according to the gang's confession, was the most important of the trio, for he could get through transoms that stopped the others. Police said he had a record as a juvenile burglar going back to the age of 13. Semenek was seized in the same police district four years ago as head of a band of youthful thieves. He was put on probation for a year, and later this was extended another year.

They Carry Four Guns.

Semenek, Reddington, and Wold said they had robbed a home at 5712 Roscoe street before they were surprised in the Newport avenue place. Policemen George Schneider, Charles Gross, and Lawrence Daly guarded the doors with drawn guns and the burglars gave up without resistance. They were better armed than the policemen, with four loaded pistols. Two other guns later were found at their homes.

They threw away the jewelry that looked cheap, and spent the proceeds from the rest in night clubs and saloons, they said.

80% OF CLEVELAND'S TRAFIC VIOLATORS FOUND TO BE ON WPA

Cleveland, O., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Safety Director Eliot Ness tonight called a meeting of WPA officials and law enforcement officials to consider a report by Municipal Judge Perry A. Frey that 80 per cent of the persons charged with the more serious trafic violations are WPA workers.

Intoxicated and reckless driving and dangerous speeding were named as the serious violations in Judge Frey's report to a citizen's trafic committee.

"The problem is an acute one," Ness said, "because if a WPA worker is sentenced to the workhouse it becomes necessary for his family to go on direct relief."

Meanwhile, Judge Burt W. Griffin, chief justice of the Municipal court, declared that the same class supplied a large percentage of all types of misdemeanor cases.

CANADA LEARNS ITS ROOSTERS DO NOT LAY EGGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 6.—The dominion bureau of statistics has been advised that roosters do not lay eggs. Consequently the per capita consumption of eggs in Canada has dropped considerably. These statements were made today by President W. A. Landreth at the annual meeting of the Canadian Produce association. For many years Canada led the world in egg consumption, based on the annual output of one egg a day for each person. The statisticians at Ottawa, according to Landreth, went merrily on their way counting eggs until some one pointed out that they were giving roosters talents they did not possess by including them in the survey.

Vegetarian Society Objects to Calling Hitler Vegetarian

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The Vegetarian Society of New York, through Bertram Newman, its executive secretary, today asked a newspaper here to refrain from calling Adolf Hitler a vegetarian. The society, according to Newman, has proof that the German fuehrer sometimes eats ham, and that his limited meat diet is purely a health measure.

A Lady Pensioner Looks at Marriage with Doubt

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Iowa old age assistance officials said today they received the following letter from a woman pensioner commenting on the uncertainties of modern marriage. "Dear Sir: I am returning my old age pension check as I am married now and won't need it any more perhaps."

A Sentimental City Pours Out Its Sympathy

The Joseph Fausts at 5132 Deming place have had eighty-two letters since Friday, all from strangers.

Their phone has been ringing almost constantly for three days.

People they had never seen before streamed through their bungalow Saturday and Sunday.

On Sunday night Mrs. Faust brought together an unmarried mother who couldn't keep her infant son and a physician and wife who wanted to adopt him.

All this took place because the Fausts played Good Samaritan on Friday. Actually it began last Tuesday. That was when Mrs. Irene Marino, 26 years old, found herself no longer able to care for her daughter, Gloria, 3 months old. On Thursday the woman with whom she had left the baby turned her over to the Warren avenue police. The lady had four of her own and couldn't care for Gloria too.

Mother Is Aided.

Readers of THE TRIBUNE will recall how Policeman Joseph Faust saw the infant, phoned his wife, and suggested that they adopt the child; how his wife agreed. You will remember reading that on Friday Mrs. Marino, almost fainting from hunger and exhaustion, came into the Chicago avenue station and told her story. The Fausts took her home, too.

Chicagoans read of these occurrences. That is why that up to yesterday afternoon Mrs. Marino had received $17 in cash, shoes, stockings, petticoats, a sweater outfit, and two dozen diapers for Gloria. She also had received four offers of jobs and several proposals of marriage.

Congratulated in Verse.

Of the letters the Fausts have received, many [two in verse] congratulated them for their generosity. One or two asked further charity.

One man, from out of town, wrote and offered to adopt Gloria, although it has been made plain that if any one adopts her it will be the Fausts.

Mrs. Marino, who hopes to find an office job so she can be with Gloria evenings, yesterday did the Faust's washing and helped with other housework. She is able to eat once more and has started to sleep nights. She is almost happy again.

Mrs. Faust is still incredulous at the furor her kindness has aroused.

LOYALISTS ASK PLEDGES OF SAFETY FROM FRANCO

6,000 REFUGEES AN HOUR CROSS FRENCH BORDER

LE PERTHUS, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Spanish government's whipped Catalonian army poured into France tonight at the rate of nearly 6,000 men an hour with Gen. Franco's rebel troops almost at their heels.

The flood of refugees, now about two weeks under way, neared the 100,000 mark tonight.

Through mountain passes from Bourg-Madame, opposite Puigcerda, to Cerbere, French border town on the Mediterranean, columns of soldiers and refugees, twelve miles long in some places, retreated into France, taxing relief funds and food supplies.

The remnants of an army of more than a quarter million men which had fought Franco to a standstill in the Ebro river valley last summer laid down their arms as they crossed the Pyrenees mountains boundary.

Weary from Long Attack.

Most of the soldiers were weary from the month and a half of pounding by rebel guns and bombs and disheartened by the fall on Jan. 26 of Barcelona, former government capital and Spain's greatest city.

Their faces were grimy and unshaven. Their khaki uniforms were muddy and torn. Some men wore bandages. Some hobbled on crutches. Some bravely shouted, "on to Valencia!" others were full of despair.

Women walked with their soldier husbands. A soldier helped his one-legged comrade by carrying his artificial leg—the injured man had found crutches easier to manipulate.

Civilians, continuing the same ragged processions that swelled toward France when Franco laid seige to Barcelona, now were in a minority.

The Treck of Civilians.

But still there were thousands of them—mothers carrying babies and herding older children, old men bending under their luggage, young girls pushing baby carriages loaded with suitcases.

The more fortunate ones rode. There were peasant women on donkeys and trucks. Babies peered out from saddlebags slung across luggage-laden mules. At sunset family groups lighted fires and cooked bits of food salvaged or given by relief agencies.

Rolling army kitchens also were set up near rest camps but food supplies seemed insufficient.

At the end of the trail were concentration camps for soldiers and non-combatants and the necessity of choosing between rebel and government Spain for repatriation.

Cavalrymen Bring Horses.

Hundreds of Spanish cavalrymen, mounted police and assault guards rode their horses, mules, and burros into France. Only a few Spanish peasants were lucky enough to bring along their live stock. Most of their cows, sheep, and goats had been slaughtered for food.

Along the mountain road French mobile guardsmen stood at 25 yard intervals, gently shepherding the refugees. More than 100 units of the French army's motorcycle machine gun corps patroled the frontier zone.

Squads of French infantrymen with fixed bayonets went into the woods a hundred times during the day to break up camps of Spaniards in the Pyrenees foothills. Military planes patroled the frontier, spotting the camps and radioing their positions.

French Residents Protected.

Exchange offices did a big business. A 100 peseta note, issued during the war by the loyalist régime, was worth one franc this morning. By afternoon it took 500 paper pesetas to buy a franc [$.026].

All French peasant and village families in the border zone were warned to keep their children indoors until the retreat was over, because of the large number of unexploded hand grenades thrown away.

The frontier echoed all day to shots fired by Spanish soldiers at birds, stones, and tin cans to exhaust their ammunition before they laid down their arms.

Want Italian and German Influence Eliminated.

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Spanish government was reported ready to surrender its remaining one-fourth of Spain tonight upon obtaining from the rebels little more than "moral guarantees."

Jules Henry, Envoy of France.

The Spanish government foreign minister, Julio Alvarez del Vayo, conferred tonight with the French ambassador to Spain, Jules Henry, and the British minister, Ralph Stevenson, in the police station at Le Perthus. From other diplomats it was learned they had discussed the possibility of a government surrender to rebel Gen. Francisco Franco and an end to the two and a half year old civil war.

All of Catalonia having been abandoned to the rebels yesterday, events moved swiftly today. Tonight's meeting, concerning which all of the principals remained silent, had been arranged earlier by Premier Juan Negrin, who later returned to Spain.

Negrin Changes Stand.

From diplomats it was learned that Premier Negrin's stand, which only yesterday was that the government would fight to the bitter end in the Madrid-Valencia area in central Spain, had changed during the day.

The government was represented as willing to surrender upon receiving only these guarantees:

1. No reprisals against government leaders who would fall into rebel hands as a result of mass surrenders at Madrid, Valencia, Alicante, and other centers of government resistance.

2. Formal assurances by Gen. Franco that all Italian and German influence would be banished from Spain by the rebels.

[Several weeks ago Gen. Franco announced that no foreign power would have a voice in the affairs of a victorious rebel Spain. The issue is of grave concern to France and Britain, who fear Italian and German military forces will remain in Spain after the rebel military victory.]

British Relay Message.

Immediately after the Le Perthus meeting, Henry and Stevenson telephoned their foreign offices. It was assumed that the British foreign office would communicate with Gen. Franco at Burgos immediately.

[Burgos dispatches reported that Gen. Franco, confident of a complete victory, had met all suggestions of an armistice with a declaration that his terms were "unconditional surrender."]

Another meeting of the British and French envoys and Alvarez del Vayo was expected to take place tonight. It was reported the British and French are urging the loyalists to prevent further "needless bloodshed."

Madrid Chief Holds Meeting.

The Le Perthus meeting coincided with reports from Madrid that Gen. José Miaja, supreme commander in central and southeastern Spain, had conferred at length with all civil and military authorities for that territory. Government forces in that zone are estimated to number 500,000 men.

[A dispatch from Paris reported Gen. Miaja had refused to answer any communication from Premier Negrin and added it was believed likely he is already seeking to make an armistice with Gen. Franco to avoid further bloodshed and relieve the famished people of Madrid.]

Peace maneuvering began on Saturday when Franco spurned an offer to negotiate a peace on the basis of terms offered by Premier Negrin, involving, among other things, a plebiscite by which the Spanish people would elect a government.

Breaks with President.

The premier then met with his cabinet and President Manuel Azana just south of the French border. The premier stood firm for continuing the war in the Madrid-Valencia-Alicante region. Foreign Minister Al-

LeakyRoofFails to Dampen Woman Legislator's Ardor

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—(AP)—A heavy rain forced its way through the roof of the state capitol today and dripped on the desk of Representative Helen Mankin of Fulton county. The woman legislator, undismayed, hoisted an umbrella and continued to take part in proceedings.

varez del Vayo sided with Negrin. There were violent words and Azana and some of the ministers left immediately for France.

Yesterday Alvarez del Vayo came to Perpignan where he conferred with the French and British ambassadors to Spain. Diplomats said the envoys held out little hope for any help in continuing the war.

Hopes to Unload Refugees.

France hoped to achieve some sort of truce to permit her to unload the thousands of refugees and militiamen to whom she is giving refuge.

[In Paris a foreign office spokesman, reflecting the urgent nature of aid to the refugees, said, "we have to pay now and quickly because the problem cannot wait for negotiations. We hope some one will help us before too long because the government cannot stand the expense very much longer." A London dispatch said the British foreign office was studying a request from the French foreign office that Britain share the expense of refugee aid.]

Rebel conquest of Catalonia, Spain's rich northeast, was complete but for the final, unresisted mopping up. The government's armies, beaten and routed, were in flight toward France. Franco's armies were occupying the undefended territory as fast as their motorized equipment could carry their advance guards.

Roll to French Border.

The conquest rolled to the French border at one point tonight, southeast of Puigcerda, some 60 miles inland from the Mediterranean.

One advanced column, proudly flying the red and gold banners of rebel Spain from tanks and armored cars, mounted a ridge of the Tosas mountains at dusk.

From their vantage point these rebels could see French troops patroling mountain trails on the French side of the border. The rebels paused only a few minutes to cheer in victory before pressing on toward the Puigcerda gateway into France.

Rebel troops also entered Ripoll, an important road and rail center between eastern and western Catalonia. By taking Ripoll, the rebels isolated a division in the Seo de Urgel region, turning it into a "lost" unit entirely dependent upon its own resources. Ripoll is less than 12 air miles from the border, but there is no road directly north over the high peaks of the Pyrenees.

Planes Sink Small Ships.

BURGOS, Spain, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Rebel headquarters announced today that rebel planes had sunk several small ships at La Selva, 8 miles below the French frontier on the Mediterranean. The planes which bombed and machine gunned the port also were reported to have destroyed government munitions dumps.

Italian Aspirations Must Not Be Rejected, Britain Warned

ROME, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Fascist press today warned Great Britain that rejection of Italy's "natural [territorial] aspirations" would result in a "violent situation."

After Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain had reaffirmed British-French solidarity in the house of commons, Il Giornale d'Italia said:

"The British government knows very well that Fascist Italy intends to pursue her natural aspirations to their just realization. It is possible then to suppose the government, and Chamberlain in particular, contemplate the alternative of a violent situation and a collapse of all British home and foreign policy?"

Press Displays Ill-Feeling.

The press also displayed ill-feeling toward Britain—for the first time in weeks—over London's "cavilling" reaction to Premier Mussolini's reported determination to keep his soldiers in Spain until the rebels had won a "political" as well as a "military" victory.

Chamberlain's speech was not published here, but diplomats regarded it as the strongest British support given France since the world war. They felt certain it would be badly received and possibly end the era of good going towards Britain which followed Chamberlain's visit here Jan. 11-14.

Viktor Lutze, Adolf Hitler's Storm Troop chief, started on a tour of Italian Libya's frontier with the French North African protectorate, Tunisia, which Fascists covet. The trip will keep in the foreground Hitler's promise of aid to Italy in case of war. The Fuehrer made the promise in his Jan. 30 reichstag address.

Lutze will be the guest of Gov. Italo Balbo of Libya. The trip will take the Storm Troop chief to Gadames on the Libyan-Tunisian frontier.

Italians Defy France.

Following up press indications that Italian troops would remain in Spain until a "political" victory had been achieved, Fascists said this was in accord with assurances to Britain that Italian legionnaires would be withdrawn when the war was won.

"The British-Italian accord [of last April 16] has nothing to do with this," said the newspaper La Stampa. "Let the strategists of Quai d'Orsay [French foreign office] get that in their heads right now."

La Stampa said Italian forces intended to stand watch in Spain against "political intrigues of certain foreign powers" against the rebel regime.

"If Paris wants the legionnaires to return to Italy as soon as possible," the newspaper said, "it has only to let things take their course without trying to supplant [Generalissimo] Franco."

BRITISH PROMISE TO AID FRANCE IF WAR BREAKS OUT

Chamberlain Defies Italy and Germany.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—"Any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate coöperation of this country."

This outspoken declaration of military aid to France was made in the house of commons today by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and was greeted with great applause. It was interpreted as a warning to Italy and Germany against resorting to force to satisfy Italian clamor for a slice of France's African empire.

Italy's Threat Recalled.

The prime minister's words took on added significance as a result of yesterday's unofficial pronouncement in Rome that Premier Mussolini plans to keep Italian "volunteers" in Spain until Generalissimo Francisco Franco, rebel leader, had achieved a political as well as a military victory. The Italian statement was made by Virginio Gayda, Roman editor and Mussolini's mouthpiece.

Chamberlain announced his government's policy in reply to a question put by Arthur Henderson, Laborite.

Henderson had asked if a statement by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France that Great Britain would help France in war was "in accord with the views of his majesty's government."

Text of Chamberlain's Reply.

The prime minister responded as follows:

"According to my information, Bonnet's statement in the chamber of deputies of Jan. 26 was that in case of a war in which the two countries were involved all the forces of Great Britain would be at the disposal of France just as all forces of France would be at the disposal of Great Britain.

"This is in complete accordance with the views of the British government.

"It is impossible to examine in detail all the hypothetical cases which might arise, but I feel bound to make it plain that the solidarity of interest by which France and this country are united is such that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate coöperation of this country."

Some saw in Chamberlain's words a promise to send a large army to France if war broke out, in addition to naval and aerial assistance. Britain, which relies on voluntary recruiting rather than a military draft, has a relatively small standing army.

KING MAY USE ARMORED CAR WHILE IN CANADA; FEAR TERRORIST BOMBS

OTAWA, Ont., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Fearing that the plans of the alleged Irish terrorists against whom the British royal family now is being guarded in London might extend to Canada, the Canadian government has been seeking designs and information on armored motor cars for the use of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth during their tour of the dominion. An American expert is said to have been consulted regarding construction of the cars, which probably will be made in the United States.

CITY LIMITS SIZE OF BUILDINGS IN AIRPORT VICINITY

The city council yesterday passed an ordinance limiting the height and bulk of buildings around the municipal airport to prevent future flying hazards for the enlarged field. It affects all structures in the area bounded by 51st street, Kostner and Austin avenues, and the city limits.

All buildings are limited to sixty-six feet in height. Previously a height of 132 feet was allowed. The bulk of residences and apartments is limited to no more than thirteen times the lot area, instead of the former fifty. Commercial buildings are reduced to thirty-six times the area instead of seventy-two.

This measure, sponsored by Ald. John E. Egan [13th] protects the city's investment in the airport, it was said. Property owners are now prevented from erecting structures near the field that would be dangerous to tenants as well as to every plane using the airport.

2 BOULEVARDIERS SETTLE THINGS IN THEIR MINDS

What they thought:

No. 1—He's following me all right. I'll walk a little faster. Maybe if I step into this doorway. . . . No. Can't shake him. He's waiting. Seen better days. It's a shame. A little something to stick to his ribs and he'd be a fine looking fellow. Hmm. I wonder. Well, orders are orders. There's nothing to do but telephone.

No. 2—Mmm. Marquette police station he's calling. Sergt. Edward Koerner, is he? He's telling them to send the wagon over to Cermak road and Ashland avenue—for me. Guess he knows I'm lost. And hungry. Here they come. O, he's getting in, too. Maybe he's going to take me home and keep me. My tail's almost wagging off. Guess I'm the happiest Boston terrier in the whole world.

PROBE MYSTERY SHOOTING OF GIRL IN NO. SIDE FLAT

Police are investigating the mysterious shooting of Miss Dorothy Lundstrom in her apartment at 1823 Lincoln Park West last night. She was found wounded in the left arm. She told Detectives Herbert Preston and Thomas Gallagher that a strange man shot her. She is 23 years old.

Police were called to the apartment by Rudy Krause, 30, of 5535 North Newcastle avenue, a friend of Miss Lundstrom. He told them that he had telephoned her from downtown and she had begged him to come over because something terrible had happened to her. He found her wounded on the floor, he said. Policemen Preston and Gallagher later announced that the gun with which Miss Lundstrom had been wounded belongs to Krause.

Miss Lundstrom is a sister of Miss Berenice and Miss Carlyn Lundstrom, who figured in a sensational trial in Los Angeles in 1925. In that year Berenice threw acid in the face of her husband, Darby Day Jr., son of a Chicago millionaire. She was convicted. Carlyn, who then spelled her name Carolyn, was acquitted on an accessory charge. Day later divorced Berenice. Carlyn occupies the Lincoln Park West apartment with Dorothy.

ABANDON HOPE OF SAVING 81 ON SUNKEN U-BOAT

TOKIO, Feb. 7.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Reliable quarters today said the Japanese admiralty had given up hope of saving the remaining 81 sailors and officers who went down with the submarine I-63 in Bungo channel Thursday morning. Officials at the admiralty were silent, and did not repeat their usual statements that rescue operations were continuing.

The navy announced yesterday that six had been rescued. Authoritative quarters today discovered that the six were standing on the bridge of I-63 when she collided with another submarine during maneuvers 400 miles southwest of Tokio. The six crew members jumped over the side and swam to safety, it was said.

It was not believed any of the crew had been rescued from the sunken hull.

HOLDS NEW YORK TEACHERS' UNION HARMS SCHOOLS

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Col. Walter Jeffrys Carlin, member of the board of education, assailed local No. 5 of the American Federation of Teachers, the public school teachers' union, as "a harmful influence to the New York City schools" in an address tonight before the Fordham university alumni. Local No. 5 is under fire by the American Federation of Labor, with which the Federation of Teachers is affiliated, for subversive activities.

Col. Carlin charged that local No. 5 "definitly was controled by communists." He cited its suspension by the Central Trades and Labor council of New York last year for subversive activities and its expulsion also in 1938 by the joint committee of teachers' organizations for "deliberately sabotaging the efforts of this joint committee."

POPE HAS INFLUENZA; CANCELS AUDIENCES, STOPS ALL ACTIVITIES

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 7 [Tuesday].—(AP)—An attack of influenza compelled Pope Pius to cancel his audiences today, a Vatican news service reported. The pontiff's physicians advised him to remain in his private apartments and suspend all activity.

No immediate information was available in Vatican circles as to the gravity of the attack.

The pope is being treated by Dr. Giovanni Rocchi, assistant to his regular physician, Dr. Aminta Milani who himself is ill of influenza.

The pope, nearly 82, observed the seventeenth anniversary of his election to the papal throne yesterday by kneeling long in prayer in his private chapel.

He took no part in public activities but received a few intimates and read many telegrams of congratulations.

SECRET PURSUIT PLANE IS TESTED FOR AIR CORPS

Riverside, Cal., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Army pilots here today began testing a secret fighting plane designed to fly more than 400 miles an hour. It was built by the Lockheed Aircraft company in Burbank and assembled here in a carefully guarded hangar on March field, the army corps flying base.

The machine is built entirely of metal, is a mid-wing monoplane, and has two motors. It has the latest type tricycle landing gear with a nose wheel instead of a tail wheel. The plane is a pursuit ship for escorting long-range bombers on fighting missions. This fighter is one of the series of new pursuit planes in which the army in interested.

In 1933, the air corps found that the newest bombers were faster than their high speed single seat fighters. Since then the army has been hunting for fighting planes to reëstablish the speed superiority needed by small fighting ships.

ORDERS PROBE OF TESTIMONY IN DIVORCE SUIT

Judge Oscar F. Nelson yesterday ordered the state's attorney's office to assist him in the investigation of a divorce that was allegedly obtained through perjured testimony.

The case is that of Frank G. Wood, a tool maker. Wood obtained a divorce from his wife, Cora, in the Superior court last July on a charge of cruelty. They had been married 28 years. He testified he was a resident of Chicago, and that the acts of cruelty charged had taken place in Chicago.

Yesterday Mrs. Wood appeared with her lawyer, Wilburn A. Austin, before Judge Nelson. She charged that her husband was not a resident of Chicago at the time of the divorce, but a resident of Peoria, where he has been living since 1930. She charged that the acts of cruelty charged could not have occurred in Chicago since she herself was then in Peoria. Mrs. Wood is seeking to have the divorce set aside.

GLASS AND BYRD BEAT ROOSEVELT ON JUDGE CHOICE

Roberts Is Rejected by Senate, 72 to 9.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was overwhelmingly defeated today in a senate test of his control of the Democratic party. The senate, by a vote of 72 to 9, refused to confirm Mr. Roosevelt's recess appointment of Floyd H. Roberts to be a federal judge of the western Virginia district.

Virginia's two senators, Carter Glass and Harry Flood Byrd, both Democrats, opposed the appointment on the ground that it was made with the purpose of being "personally offensive and personally obnoxious" to them. Senator Glass told the judiciary committee that President Roosevelt had undertaken to give the governor of Virginia, James H. Price, a New Dealer, a veto over all senatorial suggestions for federal appointments in that state.

Called Politically Significant.

Senators attribute great significance to the President's defeat on the judicial appointment. The appointment was an outgrowth of Mr. Roosevelt's undertaking in the primary campaigns last summer to purge the Democratic party of all senators and representatives whom he called "yes-but" men. Roberts was appointed during the administration's unsuccessful effort to defeat Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] with young William E. Dodd Jr., son of the former ambassador to Germany.

Both the Dodd purge campaign and the Roberts appointment represented efforts on the part of the New Dealers to wrest control of the Virginia Democratic party from the anti-New Deal Glass-Byrd organization.

After the President's senate purge adventure had proved a 100 per cent flop, the administration's amateur political strategists announced that the battle for control of the party would go on and that the state organizations of anti-New Deal senators would be destroyed by the loss of their patronage. The announced objective was the control of delegations to the 1940 Democratic convention.

Ignores Advice of Senators.

But the President reckoned without an ancient, constitutional senatorial prerogative, one of the senate's most cherished traditions, if today's vote was any indication. The constitution says that appointments to offices under the authority of the United States shall be made "by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

He ignored the "advice" of the two Virginia senators, who submitted two suggestions for the judgeship vacancy, and permitted the governor and Representative John W. Flannagan Jr., Virginia's only New Dealer in congress, to make the nomination.

Senate librarians could find no case in the history of the United States in which a presidential appointment had been rejected by so large a vote as 8 to 1. Even some of the yes-men broke 100 per cent records to vote against the Roberts appointment, among them being such zealots as Lister Hill [D., Ala.], Lewis B. Schwellenbach [D., Wash.], James E. Murray [D., Mont.], and Theodore Francis Green [D., R. I.].

Those for Confirmation.

Those who voted for confirmation were George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.] and the following eight Democrats: Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader; Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi, Josh Lee of Oklahoma, Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia, Claude Pepper of Florida, H. H. Schwartz of Wyoming, and William H. Smathers of New Jersey.

It was significant that Lee, Bilbo, and Pepper were the only senators from southern states—the stronghold of Vice President John N. Garner—to vote for confirmation.

Several yes-men found it expedient to be absent when the roll was called, among them Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.]. Senator James Hamilton Lewis [D., Ill.] also was among the missing. Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] voted "No."

The vote was taken when Roberts' name was reached on the executive calendar without a word of discussion.

Senator Glass, who is 81 years old, was jubilant when the vote was announced. He grinned and chuckled as senators gathered around to congratulate him on his victory over the President of the United States.

Senator Glass said he expected the President to send up another "obnoxious" appointment and indicated that he would welcome another fight. Roberts has served on the bench since last July 7, when he received his appointment, but he will get no pay.

Nominee Rejected

HE COMMUTES TO CITY TO PASS BOGUS CHECKS

William Manning, 37 years old, was held last night by Englewood police as a bogus check passer. Since 1933, according to police, Manning has defrauded Chicago merchants of $10,000 through his operations.

Manning, who lives near Michigan City, Ind., was seized Saturday when he attempted to pass a bad check at a south side department store. He had already swindled the same store five times, but this time a credit official recognized him.

William Manning.

Police said that Manning started his crime career as a burglar, but because the burglary loot always was small, turned to passing bad checks. His check operations in Chicago were so profitable, police quoted him as saying, that he was able to commute almost daily from his home to Chicago.

P.-T. A. to Move National Headquarters to Chicago

Mrs. J. K. Pettengill, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, announced yesterday in Washington, D. C., that its national headquarters would be transferred from Washington to Chicago. The transfer was voted, Mrs. Pettengill said, to provide a more nearly equal service to 27,000 parent-teacher associations and more than 2,000,000 members.

PRESIDENT GETS 3 DAY RESPITE ON WAR SECRETS

Senators Still Insist on Full Expose.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Threatened senate condemnation of President Roosevelt's mysterious dealings with France and Great Britain was postponed today when Majority Leader Alben W. Barclay of Kentucky obtained a three day recess after a brief session. Barkley's move was believed to have been inspired by the administration to let senators' tempers cool.

The isolationists, however, continued their demands to remove the lid of secrecy and let the people know how far they have been taken on the road to war, in the words of Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.].

Too Late to Stop Exposé.

Both Democrats and Republicans declared that a full senate exposé of President Roosevelt's secret conference with the military affairs committee last Tuesday could not be prevented by three day recesses. The determination to let the public know what the President told the military affairs committee grew out of his press conference assertions of last Friday, when he denounced as boobs and liars senators and newspapers who had misrepresented his foreign policy.

Members of the committee still insist that Mr. Roosevelt told them our present first line of defense is in France.

Demand Release from Secrecy.

Members of the committee are demanding not only that they be released from their pledge of secrecy as to what was said at the White House conference, but that the White House make public the stenographic record.

President Roosevelt said the talk of secrecy was 100 per cent bunk, but members of the committee say they consider themselves bound by the President's admonition. The White House, through Stephen T. Early, the President's secretary, also denied that any stenographer was present or any record kept.

"A stenographer, Henry Kannee, whom I know, was present throughout the conference," Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] said today. "Whether he was taking notes I don't know, but he had his note pad and he was going through the motions." Kannee is Mr. Roosevelt's official stenographer.

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] also said a stenographer was present and actively engaged with his pencil.

Plane Crash Bares Deals.

The military affairs committee is expected to vote on Wednesday to make public the record of its investigation of the administration's assistance to the French aerial armament program. This investigation grew out of the crash of a new Douglas bomber, built for war department competition, with a French agent aboard.

Over the objections of the war department, President Roosevelt directed that special privileges be accorded the French air mission to facilitate the purchase of this country's latest military planes.

Betty Mae Graham, 18 years old, of 10636 Vincennes avenue, recently proved to her teachers' satisfaction that she definitly has overcome two physical handicaps. Betty is totally deaf and is a cardiac case. She has been awarded honorable mention for four semesters at the Art institute, where she is studying under the James Nelson Raymond Foundation for talented high school pupils. But it wasn't until she passed the Meier-Seashore art judgment test with almost the highest possible grade that her teachers in the Donald L. Morrill school, where she is a senior, knew how completely she had mastered her difficulties. She specializes in marionettes.

Another talented pupil is Michael Samusevich, 19, of 4020 South Montgomery street, who was born with only one arm and lack of development in one leg and the other arm. He is among the superior pupils in architectural drawing, and he throws a fast ball as a baseball pitcher.

CITY TAKES SNOW REMOVAL PLEA UP WITH WPA DIRECT

City Clerk Peter Brady was instructed by the city council yesterday to apply direct to Washington for 20,000 WPA workers to assist in removing snow from streets in the outlying districts of Chicago.

Mayor Kelly, in supporting the move, said streets are still clogged from the storm of Jan. 30, increasing fire and auto accident hazards and delaying deliveries. The local office of the Works Progress administration was asked for aid at the time of the storm, but refused on the ground that snow removal was a normal city function to be performed by hired labor.

The mayor said New York, with 8.5 inches of snow, spent $880,000 for 40,000 snow removers and 4,000 trucks. Chicago, with 14.9 inches, could spend only $220,000 for 4,000 shovelers and 500 trucks.

Right Move by "Checkers" Star Will Net Him $40,000

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—If Thomas Mordaunt, an actor who played in "Checkers," which had a successful run at Tony Pastor's in 1909, is alive, he will be able to pick up $40,000 if he will visit Public Administrator James F. Egan in the hall of records. Egan is holding the money, which comes from the estate of the actor's mother, who died Nov. 15, 1934, without leaving a will. Egan has been unable to trace the actor since his appearance in "Checkers" thirty years ago.

WPA WILL WEED OUT INELIGIBLES ALL OVER NATION

Plans for Wide Probe Told by Harrington.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

A nation-wide drive to weed out the ineligibles on the WPA rolls was announced yesterday by Col. Francis C. Harrington, recently appointed WPA administrator. He made the disclosure at a meeting of the forty-eight state WPA administrators yesterday in the Stevens hotel.

Col. F. C. Harrington.

General plans for the investigation of needs and eligibility of WPA employés have been worked out, Col. Harrington said. Harrington hopes to have the investigation completed by the end of March. Local factors, he said, will govern the means of investigation to be used in the various parts of the country.

Local Agencies to Do Work.

Harrington and his deputy, Howard O. Hunter, indicated that the Illinois Emergency Relief commission will handle the investigating job in Illinois. Leo M. Lyons, IERC executive secretary, conferred with WPA officials on the problem yesterday morning, it was learned.

The administrator said that local relief agencies, where WPA feels that efficient and competent organizations exist, will be subsidized by WPA for the cost of conducting the investigations.

Lyons said that both the IERC and the Chicago Relief administration are ready to coöperate with WPA in the investigation. He explained that the IERC is now using all its $100,000 a month allowed by state law for relief administration, and that WPA must supply funds if the IERC is to run an Illinois investigation of the federal organization.

No Estimate of Cost.

He said he could not estimate the costs of the investigation as yet, but that he expected he would have definite information on what WPA wants done and what the costs will be by the end of this week.

The IERC made an examination of the Illinois WPA rolls between November, 1936, and June, 1937, examining 154,536 WPA employés. At that time 25,505, or 16.5 per cent, were ordered dismissed from their jobs.

Harrington also announced that he is increasing the number of WPA regional offices from five to nine. Bruce Uthus, formerly one of Hunter's assistants here, will take over the Chicago office. His region, to be known as region VI., will consist of Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio.

U. S. GRAND JURY SWORN IN.
Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday swore in the February federal grand jury. E. J. Deneen, a Harvard, Ill., business man, was appointed foreman.

Action Started in Congress to Kill WPA and End Waste

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The WPA, leading spending agency of the New Deal, hit the downward trail to oblivion today as Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] introduced a bill to abolish the agency.

Woodrum took the house floor to explain his measure and the enthusiasm which greeted his proposal from both Democrats and Republicans seemed to assure its passage at this session. Congress is expected to override President Roosevelt's objections in the same manner it has crushed other administration protests in the last five weeks.

Representative Woodrum.

Woodrum is chairman of the house subcommittee which handles all work relief appropriations. He is leader of the economy movement which slashed 150 millions from Mr. Roosevelt's request for 875 millions to carry the WPA until the end of this fiscal year.

Proposes Substitute Agency.

The 725 millions which congress allotted to the WPA last week will almost certainly be the last money appropriated for the agency. It will expire June 30 after some three years of existence in which it spent 5 billion 325 million dollars. It will die under a cloud, convicted by congressional investigating committees as a political machine which spent money intended to aid the unemployed in an effort to influence elections.

Woodrum's bill proposes the substitution of an unemployment relief administration. One billion dollars is to be made available to this agency, less than half the 2 billion 150 million dollars appropriated for the present fiscal year. But the new agency will not determine the amounts to be spent in each state. Congress, under the Woodrum bill, will earmark how the funds shall be spent, month by month and state by state.

An additional 120 millions is appropriated by the bill to be used by the President for expenditure on direct relief.

Applicants for work relief will it more difficult to get on the pay rolls under the Woodrum bill. They will have to show that they can not get local assistance or any other form of federal aid and must prove that they will suffer actual want or privation if not employed.

Calls for Marked Reduction.

"The unemployment relief administration is empowered to make grants to states and other local public bodies for expenditure on work projects under the bill," Woodrum explained to the house. "As the bill provides for a marked reduction in the administrative staf of the administration by Jan. 1, 1940, a considerable proportion of the funds appropriated will necessarily have to be expended by way of grants to local communities.

"The expenditure of funds in this manner is amply safeguarded, however, as the administration must select or approve the work projects to be undertaken and will determine the eligibility for employment on such projects.

Provisions Made Flexible.

"As time will be required for local communities to establish adequate machinery for administering work projects, the provisions of the bill have been made sufficiently flexible to permit the administration to arrange the work program in every community, according to the circumstances there existing, with a view to turning over to the community as soon as it demonstrates its ability to handle the problem, the entire management and control of its unemployment relief work, subject only to certain necessary federal supervision and approval of the relief rolls."

Before May 15, under the bill, the administrator must submit to congress a statement of the funds to be required for projects in the states, together with a detailed summary of the factors on the basis of which the statement is made.

After congress fixed the allotments for each state the administrator may not increase the amount by more than 10 per cent. On the 25th of each month the administrator must file with congress a summary of proposed projects and expenditures for the ensuing month in each state.

The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee of the council.

A home investigation of every family on the rolls of the Chicago Relief administration was made during January and February, Leo M. Lyons, CRA commissioner, said yesterday. Formerly months have elapsed between visits to some of the families. Results of the investigation will be tabulated about Feb. 15. In cases where the need for relief was deemed questionable a further investigation will be made this month, Lyons said.

$72,957,679 CITY TAX LEVY ADOPTED; TOPS 1938 TOTAL $252,199

Chicago's 1939 tax levy ordinance was passed yesterday by the city council. It provides for a total levy of $72,957,679, an increase of $252,199 over last year. Ald. J. M. Avery [24th] told council the chief reason for the increase is a $760,000 boost in sinking fund and interest charges on bonds issued by previous administrations.

The figures for both years include the $37,000,000 "pegged" levy for corporate [operating] expenses. The other main funds and the amounts levied in 1938 and 1939 are as follows:

Library building	213,100	200,000

Issuance of the first 1939 tax anticipation warants was authorized. These can be sold up to 75 per cent of the levy.

GERMANY BACKS BULGAR CLAIM ON RUMANIAN AREA

Nazis Advocate Another Change in Map.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Germany wishes to make another change in the map of Europe beyond the territorial alterations effected by the Munich agreement and the Vienna award. This was indicated in today's Essener National-Zeitung, organ of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering.

Black portion shows area Bulgaria claims.

The paper supported the territorial claims Bulgaria is alleged to have made on her northern neighbor, Rumania.

[Under the Munich agreement Germany won Sudetenland from Czecho-Slovakia. The Vienna award gave Hungary 4,875 square miles of Czecho-Slovak territory.]

Says Claim Is Justified.

The Essener Zeitung said that on the strength of the "ethnological principle" Bulgaria is entitled to South Dobruja, a territory south of the Danube estuary. Bulgaria was compelled to cede this land to Rumania after the second Balkan war. The area was annexed after the peace of Bucharest in 1913.

Goering's paper admitted that the Bulgarian inhabitants of this territory represent only 47 per cent of the total population. However, it insisted that the Bulgarian claim to South Dobruja is more justified than that of any other country, especially Rumania.

The National-Zeitung claimed that, according to the last census, only 2 per cent of the population is Rumanian while the remaining part is of Turkish or Tartar origin.

Continue Drive on Roosevelt.

The campaign against President Roosevelt was continued today in the German press and over the radio. The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said that "America should make no mistake as to Europe's desire to settle her own affairs. We have thrown bolshevism back to Moscow and we have no use for foreign crusaders from America."

Radio announcers attacked "Roosevelt's so-called denials" of reports he had told the senate military affairs committee that the American frontier is in France.

G-MEN PROBING KIDNAP THREAT TO CHICAGO GIRL

Federal agents in Boston, Mass., yesterday were seeking the author of a note in which an anonymous writer threatened to kidnap Miss Marie Louise Hulburd, 18 years old. Her father is De Forest Hulburd, La Salle street investment broker and a resident of Lake Bluff. Miss Hulburd is attending a school in the Back Bay region of Boston.

The note, received in the Tribune office Sunday afternoon, warned that the girl would be kidnaped by the time it was read. The school authorities and federal agents were notified immediately.

Miss Hulburd attended classes as usual yesterday. The director of her school said the girl had been warned not to leave her residence alone.

MAX SCHMELING'S WIFE BANISHED FROM NAZI FILMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Anny Ondra, motion picture actress and wife of Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, has been banished from further appearances in Nazi films, said reports reaching here tonight.

Miss Ondra was said to be one of 150 persons in the reich's theater, motion picture and music hall professions who have been blacklisted in a new purge by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda.

Presumably Miss Ondra was banned because she was an "alien," having left Czecho-Slovakia several years ago. In the same classification was placed Lida Baarova, whose friendship with Miss Ondra and Schmeling was reported to have caused the fighter to comment publicly on Goebbels' love affairs. Schmeling, who is visiting in the United States, was reported to have said he would have broken Goebbels' neck had the propaganda chief tried to make advances to Miss Ondra. Goebbels' affair with Miss Baarova was said to have resulted in his being severely beaten last Dec. 21 by friends of the actress' husband, Gustav Froelich, movie star.

QUICK TRIGGER CURSING BANDIT ROBS 2 STORES

A new bandit menace appeared on Chicago streets last night—a cursing young man about 17 years old, who fires at slight provocation.

He first appeared in the confectionery of Abe Lepovsky, 2614 Le Moyne street. A poorly fitting handkerchief mask revealed a deep scratch on his face. He carried a double barreled shotgun and a revolver.

The robber cursed Lepovsky, his wife, Sophie, and a customer, George Sweet, 2644 Le Moyne street, and chased them out of the store and into the street. He took $4 from the till before he fled.

Fifteen minutes later the young robber stepped into the grocery at 1458 North Maplewood avenue. This time he carried a pistol. He ordered Albert Friedman, 3413 Elaine place, the manager, and John Unrol, 1726 North California avenue, and Stanley Wojcieszek, 1456 North Maplewood avenue, to put up their hands. When Unrol was slow in obeying the robber fired a shot at him. The bandit got $40 in this holdup.

HOLY LAND ARABS STRIKE ON EVE OF LONDON PARLEY

British Place Jerusalem Under a Curfew.

JERUSALEM, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Arabs of Jerusalem and other parts of Palestine today called a three day strike on the eve of London conferences at which Arabs, Jews, and British representatives will try to settle their differences in the Holy Land. British military authorities clamped down a 24 hour curfew in the Arab sections of Jerusalem. Police patrols were reenforced.

The British said the strike was organized by followers of the exiled grand mufti of Jerusalem, whose Arab faction is not represented in London. The grand mufti's followers allege that the Arab public is opposed to representation in London by the Arab National Defense party.

Plan "U. S. of Arabia."

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Great Britain's final attempt to induce the Arabs and Jews to settle their Palestine feud will be made at a conference starting tomorrow. The government is expected to take over administration of the Holy Land and ask Arab support for a "United States of Arabia" if an agreement is not reached.

The "final three week attempt" to settle the struggle for Palestine as a homeland will be made in conferences with both factions. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain is to address Arab delegates. Later he will speak to the Jews in another meeting.

Jews and Arabs Far Apart.

Jews and Arabs are so far apart that even before the talks start discussion centered on what Britain planned to do when they ended.

British officials hoped Arab delegates from Egypt, Iraq, the kingdom of Saudi-Arabia, Yemen, and Transjordan would recommend moderation to the Palestine Arabs, or at least support the "United States of Arabia" plan.

Under this plan Palestine would be divided into two autonomous cantons, each having an autonomous government and the right to control immigration in its own area. Both cantons would be linked to a federal government under British mandate. The two autonomous states would then be associated with other Arab states represented at the conference in an Arab federation.

SEWAGE PUMPING STATION PROJECT IS ON SCHEDULE

Sanitary district engineers said yesterday that work on the new $1,700,000 Racine avenue pumping station, at Pershing road and Racine avenue, is progressing on schedule. The superstructure of the building is now under construction. William H. Trinkaus, chief engineer for the district, said in order to build one wall of the station, which is at the bank of the Chicago river, it was necessary to construct a coffer dam.

Work on the project was started last May. It is expected to be completed in July. The station will divert storm water from the intercepting sewer connected with the Stickney sewage treatment plant. The storm water will be dumped into the Chicago river to avoid overloading the treatment plant. Until the new southwest treatment plant at Stickney is completed this summer, sewage from the area served by the station is being dumped into the river at Pershing road. The area to be served is bounded by Pershing road, Lake Michigan, 79th street, and Ashland avenue.

U. S. FLYING FORTRESS LANDS IN CHILE WITH AID FOR QUAKE VICTIMS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The American superbomber B-15 arrived today with 3,300 pounds of medical supplies. The supplies were sent by the American Red Cross for victims of southern Chile's disastrous Jan. 24 earthquake.

The plane, which left Langley field, Va., Saturday, stopped en route at Panama and Lima, Peru. The craft was under command of Maj. Caleb Haynes.

The earthquake took more than 20,000 lives. The "Workmen's Insurance" branch of the Chilean government said it was able to finance education of all injured minors and orphans of the quake zone. The organization also plans to provide for all girls under 20 and for earthquake widows.

DIES CHARGES U. S. LAWYERS ACT TO AID ALIEN REDS

Asserts They Try to Bar Deportations.

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Representative Dies [D., Tex.] told the Supreme court today that justice and labor department lawyers were attempting in the Strecker case to get a judgment protecting "other aliens against whom deportation proceedings are now pending."

The chairman of the house committee on un-American activities filed a brief as a "friend of the court" in connection with oral arguments late this week on the validity of a deportation order against Austrian-born Joseph G. Strecker of Hot Springs, Ark., an admitted former member of the communist party.

Demands Bridges' Deportation.

Dies has demanded that Secretary of Labor Perkins press deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. leader, on the grounds that he is a communist. Miss Perkins has said she was awaiting a Supreme court ruling on the Strecker case before taking any further action against Bridges.

After contending that government attorneys have gone "outside the record" to raise the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and of assembly in the Strecker case, Dies said:

"Although counsel for the government owe a duty to enforce the laws of the United States, they have chosen rather to suggest to this court rights which the alien does not urge."

Raise Constitutional Question.

The government's case was presented in a brief filed last month by Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson and Gerard D. Reilly, labor department solicitor. They contended that an alien who becomes a member of an organization seeking the overthrow of this government by force is subject to deportation "whether or not he is a member at the time of his arrest or the issuance of the warant for his deportation."

They also raised, however, the question of the extent to which rights of free speech and free assembly are guaranteed aliens by the constitution.

TWO GUN DEATH OF LOAN OFFICIAL IS HELD SUICIDE

Dead Finger on Trigger Fired Second Shot.

John P. Ewald, veteran secretary of the Keistuto Loan and Building association, who was found early yesterday in the rear of his office at 3236 South Halsted street shot to death, killed himself, police said last night.

John P. Ewald.

Detectives at first were puzzled by the fact that Ewald had three gunshot wounds in the head and that two guns lay at his side. Medical examination disclosed that one bullet had made two wounds—entering and leaving the head—and a second bullet had made the third. Powder marks were found, indicating the shooting was done at close range.

Discards Jammed Gun.

Police also had an explanation for the two guns. One had jammed. Ewald apparently discarded it and used the second, a light trigger automatic, according to Sergt. Hugo Olson of the homicide detail. Sergt. Olson pointed out that apparently only two shots had been fired. The first, he believes, caused instant death. The second was fired, he believes, by muscular reflex action in Ewald's hand as he fell. Such an occurrence is not unusual, Olson said.

Ewald, who was 52 years old and a Lithuanian leader, had served the loan association as secretary for twenty-eight years. The organization was founded in 1897, has a membership of about 900, and assets of $671,263, as of recent figures. The usual yearly audit of the association's records by state and federal examiners, which began last Thursday, is now going on.

Nervous with Examiners.

Neither Fred Temple, state examiner, nor John Domeier, federal examiner, would comment on reports of shortages in Ewald's accounts. They said it would be at least a week before the audit of the association is completed.

"Ewald appeared nervous when I talked with him Friday," Domeier told police. "I asked him about several transactions listed in the books and he was evasive."

Thomas Janulis, 3430 South Morgan street, president of the association, said that as far as he knew Ewald's accounts were in good shape. He said that at a directors' meeting last week Ewald had said the business was doing well.

Ill Over Loss of Money.

Ewald's widow, Margaret, told police her husband had been in ill health since losing most of his money in a Lithuanian community center project four years ago.

Ewald lived in an unpretentious apartment at 6912 Parnell avenue. The family formerly owned its own home at 101st street and Irving avenue in Beverly Hills, Mrs. Ewald said. Her husband lost their home and in 1936, she said, she and her husband filed separate voluntary bankruptcy petitions. They were discharged the following year.

There are three children, Vincent, a student at the Parker High school; John Jr., who is attending a military academy in Georgia, and a daughter, Margaret, a student at the University of Chicago.

25 DEFENDANTS LAY WPA FRAUD CASE TO POLITICS

Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 6.—(AP)—A federal court jury in the trial of twenty-five defendants charged with political manipulation of the WPA heard the defense today in a series of blanket denials of wrong-doing. The number of defendants was reduced to twenty-five today, when the government concurred in a defense motion to free five minor defendants.

The defense made it clear that it considered the basis of the case lay in the 2 year old struggle for domination of New Mexico's Democratic organization between United States Senator Dennis Chavez and former Gov. Clyde Tingley.

The defense called as its first witness Stanley W. P. Miller, 28 years old, dismissed assistant United States attorney, son-in-law of Senator Chavez, and the defendant charged by the state with being the directing genius of an organization which allegedly used WPA workers for funds and votes in behalf of Chavez.

Miller, both under direct and cross examination, admitted creating political machines to elect candidates favorable to Senator Chavez.

Mother's Standby in Treating
CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS
If your children keep coming down with nasty little colds all winter, use Vicks VapoRub these three simple ways.
✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves local congestion—eases muscular soreness or tightness—helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.
✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.
✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air-passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested ways to relieve the misery of colds.

JAPAN REFUSES TO GIVE UP ISLES GERMANY LOST

Warns She Will Fight to Keep Them.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 6.—No matter what any other country may do, Japan will not relinquish former German colonies in the South Seas which were obtained after the world war by mandate from the league of nations.

This, it was disclosed today, is Tokio's policy on the question of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's demands for the return of Germany's pre-war possessions. Japan considers the mandated islands its ocean lifeline just as it calls Manchukuo its land lifeline. It maintains the islands are legitimate spoils of war. Furthermore, it no more considers returning them to Germany than it would consider returning Formosa to China.

[Formosa, an island the size of Massachusetts and Connecticut, lying between the Philippines and Japan, was ceded to Japan by China in 1895 after the Chinese-Japanese war.]

Japan Gravely Concerned.

The Japanese government looks with grave concern on the whole question. Diplomatic quarters, aware that Germany's paramount diplomatic goal this year will be the recovery of lost colonies, are studying what steps to take in the event any European nation should accede to the reich's demands.

Japan naturally is not expected to raise objection to the return of colonies by other countries. It is felt here that if Great Britain decides to return colonies to Germany it will be in exchange for European appeasement. London, it is believed, will not make the return conditional upon similar action by other countries.

Should this be otherwise, Tokio would be placed in a difficult position. The Japanese government has said time and again that it cannot return mandated territory.

Ready to Fight for Islands.

Voicing the opinion of the navy as well as the nation, Commander Tadashi Kojima said: "Japan must maintain the South Sea Islands at whatever sacrifice. We must combat, if necessary by force, any foreign attempt to interfere unduly in the affairs of the islands."

The Japanese government does not believe Germany includes the Pacific islands in its colonial demands. It is pointed out that Germany never has raised the question of getting back these islands.

The navy regards the Mariana or Ladrone, the Marshall, and the Caroline Islands as of great strategic importance. Reports that the United States intends to fortify Guam, which lies in their midst, have mortified the country. The public regards the fortification of Guam, which is so near Japan and so far from the American mainland, as an unfriendly act.

Important in War.

The Japanese consider the mandated islands of particularly strategic value in event of war with the United States or even Great Britain. They point to a map of the Pacific to show that no ship from America or England via the Panama canal can go directly to China, the Philippines, or Singapore, British military base, without going through a hole in this network.

But the strategic importance of the islands is reduced somewhat by the fact that Japan is not permitted to fortify them. Japan strongly denies there have been violations in this respect.

Even without fortifications the islands are important. Hundreds of lagoons afford nests for Japanese submarines and seaplanes. There are harbors in a few of the larger islands capable of accommodating the largest cruisers, and channels can be dug through the coral reefs wide enough for dreadnaughts.

Find Islands Valuable.

Some naval experts maintain that the islands do not need fortifications to make them an invaluable protection and a base of operations for the Japanese fleet.

Aside from their military value, the mandated possessions are becoming increasingly important for their fisheries, sugar, copper, and phosphate. The annual catch of fish, mainly bonito and tunny, has grown from almost nothing to a million dollar business. Sugar production is valued at $3,000,000 a year and copra and coconuts yield $1,500,000 annually.

Waves Farewell

VIOLET SCHMIDT.

Elkhart, Ind., Feb. 6.—(AP)—"Curly Top" waved a last good-by today to the train crew of the Twentieth Century limited.

Violet Kathleen Schmidt, called "Curly Top" by the trainmen to the backyard of her home, moved today with her father and stepmother to a home far from the railroad yards.

In recent years "Curly Top" has received many remembrances at Christmas from New York Central crews. Last fall her mother died and her father, George A. Schmidt, married again on Jan. 28. "Curly Top" is 10 years old now.

U.S. ACTS TO SAVE MISSION SCHOOLS FROM JAPANESE

Seals Soochow Properties to Prevent Seizure.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The government of the United States is acting to protect American church schools in Soochow. The schools have been threatened with occupation if their officials continue to refuse to reopen them.

American missionaries in Soochow, 50 miles west of Shanghai, reported that the Soochow Japanese administered government had written the American institutions stating that "unless the schools are reopened we are likely to occupy the property."

As a result the American consulate-general here is issuing proclamations and seals which are being placed on the Soochow properties. They state they are American and that trespassing is forbidden.

Unfurl New Flags.

The properties also have been supplied with new American flags, replacing old and frayed ones.

The missionaries reiterated their contention that the war prevents reopening of their schools because, one said, "the Japanese would have us teach the Japanese language to the Chinese, use Japanese textbooks and otherwise assist in their aggression in China."

American missions are represented heavily in Soochow, with valuable properties there belonging to the Northern and Southern Presbyterians, the Southern Methodists, the Southern Baptists, and the Episcopal American Church Mission.

Cite Japanese Warning.

Japanese army and diplomatic spokesmen said they had no information on these developments. Mission officials in Soochow said the Japanese there had said they did not intend "to have third party nationals participate any longer in education in China."

American Baptist missionaries at Yangchow, northeast of Nanking, reported that the Japanese military there had confiscated the mission's textbooks, forbidding use of any except those prepared by the Japanese.

On Saturday Japanese controled newspapers carried reports that schools owned by foreign missionary organizations in Hangchow would be taken over by Japanese authorities unless they were reopened.

GUERRILLA WAR SPREADS IN CHINA; THOUSANDS SLAIN

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Chinese-Japanese war in central China has developed into a far-flung struggle between Japan and the Chinese guerrilla forces, a Japanese army spokesman said today. The Chinese irregulars steadily are disintegrating before the "relentless force" of the Japanese, he asserted.

A "mopping up" process is under way in North China southward into the provinces along the southern shore of the Yangtze river and westward "almost to Szechwan"—a province in extreme western China—the spokesman said.

The Japanese were reported to have fought 200 battles against a total of 50,000 guerillas during January in Shantung, Hopeh, Honan, and Anhwhei provinces, killing 7,600 Chinese irregulars and capturing 288. Chinese reports said the Japanese suffered 2,000 casualties in the last two weeks from irregulars along the borders of Hunan, Hupeh and Kiangsi provinces.

MOTHER BLAMES SON'S CRIMES ON TRAINING SCHOOL

Louis Matye's mother yesterday blamed the St. Charles Training School for Boys for her son's return to crime after he left the school. Arrested Friday, Matye confessed a dozen burglaries. Matye, who is 22 years old, was sent to St. Charles when he was 17. After two paroles he was discharged when he was 21 because of age regulations.

His mother is Mrs. Margaret Matye of 3342 Beach avenue. She echoed the sentiments of many critics of the unwalled institution: That it does not reform young law breakers sent there, but permits them to mingle with hardened criminals and become more wayward. Matye's elder brother, Nicholas, said:

"Before he went away I could talk with him when he did something wrong. But now you can't reach him inside. He has no heart."

DENY REHEARING OF TRIAL UNDER NEW LIQUOR LAW

The United States Supreme court yesterday declined to review the conviction of Samuel J. Tishman, part owner of the Superior Foods Product company, 1433 South Morgan street. Last year Tishman got a suspended sentence of six months and was placed on one year probation. He was the first person convicted here under the new federal law which makes it a federal offense not to report to the collector of internal revenue materials used in liquor distilling. The government charged that the company sold 6,000 pounds of sugar to an illicit still without reporting the sale.

LICENSE WARNING BRINGS A FLOOD OF APPLICATIONS

The warning issued last week by Secretary of State Hughes' office that motorists without 1939 plates would be arrested brought a flood of applications for the new automobile licenses to the secretary's office. As a result, it was decided to postpone any arrests until business is slack again. Under the statute, it is illegal to drive after Jan. 1 without the plates for the new year. The issuance of the licenses is delayed by requests for "I gotta drag" low or trick numbers.

No Communist, Amlie Says; but Others Dispute Him

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Thomas R. Amlie of Wisconsin, President Roosevelt's nominee for the Interstate Commerce commission, denied today that he is a communist but admitted that he advocates government ownership of the railroads. He appeared at a hearing before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee.

W. D. Carroll.

The chairman of the Democratic state central committee of Wisconsin and a member of the assembly of that state described the former Progressive congressman, a lame duck, as "the most radical man in Wisconsin," and said he was totally unfit to serve on the Interstate Commerce commission. The witnesses were William D. Carroll, a former state senator, and Assemblyman Maurice Fitzsimmons.

Discuss Amlie's Theories.

Both discussed Amlie's "production for use and not for profit" theories, which they called communistic. The only difference between his program and that of the communists, they declared, is that he does not advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Carroll said he heard Amlie deny that he was a communist. "I am wondering how long you can continue to advocate communistic theories and not become a communist," he said. "I believe that by his very writings and speeches he has attempted to put in practice the principles of communism, although I doubt if it could be shown by the records that he is a member of the communist party."

Submits Book as Evidence.

Then Carroll presented for the subcommittee's consideration a copy of "The Forgotten Man's Handbook," which Amlie wrote in 1935. In that publication, Amlie expressed his political and economic theories in question and answer form beginning as follows:

Q.—Do you believe that the corporate machinery is better designed to run a highly industrialized economic system than is the political machinery? A.—There is no question about it. . . .

Q.—But how should one adapt the corporation machinery so as to handle our whole economic system? A.—By setting up a great central corporation of the United States to take over the control and operation of that part of the nation's productive machinery which is now owned by absentee owners.

Q.—How much of the nation's productive machinery would this amount to? A.—Perhaps 75 per cent of it. Enough would be taken over so that planned production could be immediately put into operation to take the place of production for profit.

Proposed Scheme in Wisconsin.

Carroll declared Amlie had denounced the Wisconsin legislature for its refusal to pass, in 1935, a measure advocated by the Progressive party to turn the functions of the state over to a corporation, which would have been headed by the governor and vested with dictatorial powers.

In a prepared statement, Amlie said he was not a communist and had never been one; was in fact strongly opposed to the communist aims and program. He said that John Strachey, the English communist, had paid him "the mild compliment" of saying his philosophy was more rational than that of the Nazis. "It is true," he quoted Strachey as saying, "that Mr. Amlie's speech is incomparably more rational than anything which, so far as I know, was ever said by the German Fascists."

In response to questioning, Amlie said he had been chairman of two organizations—the Farmer-Labor federation and the American Commonwealth federation—both of which advocated government ownership.

Interested in U. S. Ownership.

"It is my feeling that a partisan of government ownership would be an invaluable asset on the I. C. C., if congress decided to take over the railroads, because he would be interested in the success of the plan," Amlie said.

Luther M. Walter, a transportation lawyer of Chicago, who had only just begun his testimony when the subcommittee recessed for the day, said Amlie was totally unqualified and unfit for the I. C. C. position. He said Amlie was a "political upheaver" who would destroy the profit system—"the mainspring of the country's economy."

"I can't believe that the President knew what this man believed in," Walter said. "He never would have sent his name in had he known."

FIRST FLYERS OF THE MAIL

By CALEB

THE year was 1918. For some time, Uncle Sam had been thinking about mail-by-air; and though doubtful that it could be done, Post Office department officials conferred with Benjamin B. Lipsner, captain in the U. S. Army's air force, as an authority on plane maintenance and operation. He convinced them of air mail's practicality, was asked to relinquish his post, and became the first Air Mail Superintendent in history.

In his own words: "I engaged four men and nine planes—more air equipment, then, than Pershing had on the Border! And because they were the two best pilots in America, I picked Edward Van Buren Gardner of Plainfield, Illinois, and Max Miller of San Diego, California, to make the first flight. Both had been World War aviation instructors, and on August 12, 1918, were officially made air-mail pilots.

"Both were to fly the first pathfinding air-route selected—New York to Chicago—so that performance of their two different ships could be practically compared. And believe me, only a veteran familiar with the conditions of a generation ago can conceive the hazards those two lads were up against! A course never before flown—711 miles as the crow flies; but as treacherous weather and equipment compelled them to fly it, over 1,000. Two hundred of these miles, moreover, were the perilous 'Hell Stretch' of the Appalachian Mountains. No airports, no beacons, no radio beam or telephone system, no 'blind' instruments, no luxurious duralumin ships and closed cabins, no parachutes—no meteorological safeguards of 1939 flying!

"Instead, Gardner had a wood-and-canvas ship, powered with one of our very first 12-cylinder, 400-h. p. Liberty engines: Miller, a U. S. Post Office-designed ship with 150-h. p. Hispano-Suiza motor. Mere, primitive training planes, subjected to the severest commercial flying usage—with unprotected open cockpits, and unreliable compasses! To make matters worse, both lads had to fight wind, rain and fog over the entire course, compelling more than a dozen forced landings.

"Despite weather, ships and course combined, however, Eddie Gardner and Max Miller brought the mail through! Miller arrived in four hours under train time to Chicago; and Gardner, on the return flight to New York, flew the distance in exactly nine hours and thirteen minutes—a record, twenty-one years later, that is still remarkable! . . .

"All in all, never was an air-feat more breathtaking in history; and never do I hear the drone of mail wings by night but I think of those two intrepid pilots fighting through storm and peril on that first flight of Sept. 5th, 1918. Some day I hope to see an imperishable memorial established that will do justice to the exploit they so gallantly accepted and so heroically accomplished!"

NATIONAL MOTOR TRUCK SHOW TO BE HELD IN CITY

Mayor Announces Big Convention Award.

The 1939 National Motor Truck show, one of America's major trade exhibitions, will be held on Navy pier from Nov. 6 to Nov. 19, Mayor Kelly announced yesterday. With the American Legion convention already scheduled to open here on Sept. 25, it was pointed out, the motor truck show becomes the second large convention that will be held in Chicago this year.

"Each convention brings new customers to the city," the mayor said. "Business is stimulated, creating useful employment and increasing the income of the citizens."

Last year, 801 conventions were held in Chicago with an estimated attendance of 902,600. This represented an expenditure of more than 90 million dollars, Mayor Kelly asserted, on the basis of estimates by the Chicago Association of Commerce that each convention guest spends approximately $100.

Following is a compilation prepared by the Association of Commerce showing the number of conventions each year beginning with 1928 and the number of guests they attracted to the city:

Year—	Number conventions.	Attendance.
1938	801	902,600
1937	790	994,365
1936	821	1,282,484
1935	851	1,046,381
1934	812	*534,145
1933	1,527	*9,564,300
1932	694	458,789
1931	767	734,440
1930	811	1,041,503
1929	845	1,335,435
1928	824	1,136,576

*Years of A Century of Progress.

The city now offers 234,000 square feet of space on the pier for convention purposes, Mayor Kelly said. In the last few years $275,000 has been spent in improving the pier and enlarging its facilities. Further improvements will be made whenever the money becomes available, he said.

Mayor Hits City Slanderers; Jarecki Speaks for Courtney

Twelve thousand city employés and regular Democratic organization ward workers last night heard Mayor Kelly criticize his opponents in the mayoralty race for "their attempts to besmirch Chicago." The meeting, first of three mass gatherings for political workers, was held in the International amphitheater.

Those who attended last night's meeting were from the south side wards. Workers from west side wards will meet tonight and those from remaining wards tomorrow night.

Wants No Outside Advice.

"We don't want any carpetbaggers from other cities to come here and tell us how to run Chicago," Mayor Kelly said. "Tell your friends and neighbors to vote no for those men who are shouting about what they're going to do. Let them pay heed to what we have done instead. In the last six years we have advanced 50 years. That has been due to the great working force in the city hall.

"All these men want to do," the mayor declared, "is to besmirch and throw down the good name of our city. There's another thing they want very much to do, too—they want to sit in the job I'm in. The way they speak you'd think the mayor was responsible for everything that went wrong.

Stands on His Record.

"I don't want to abuse anybody. I will stand on my record. Let the people know of these men who are hurting our city with their so-called criticism. Then let them vote according to their consciences."

Other speakers were Ludwig D. Schreiber, candidate for city clerk; Thomas S. Gordon, candidate for city treasurer, and Wendell Green, member of the civil service commission.

In a radio speech last night County Judge Jarecki amplified his earlier indorsement of State's Attorney Courtney's candidacy for the mayoralty.

"I see in Thomas J. Courtney," he said, "the sole hope of the citizens of Chicago to sever the bonds between the bosses and a politically controled judiciary.

"I am confident many of my fellow judges are praying for the day of deliverance when the people of this city will arise to break the shackles that the political machine has forced upon members of the judiciary, and politicians who have boasted publicly of the control they exercise over individual judges.

"Finishing the Fight."

"Tom Courtney is finishing the fight that was begun a year ago, the fight that goes back beyond that two years when the same bosses of the Kelly-Nash machine set out to defeat Henry Horner as governor of Illinois exactly as they tried to remove me—by denying to him the indorsement of the Cook County Democratic organization."

Because of a severe cold, Judge Jarecki spoke from his residence at 1946 Armitage avenue.

Recalls Courtney's Support.

He said that State's Attorney Courtney has supported the County court unceasingly in its effort for honest elections. He also dwelt on the fact that Courtney stood by him last year when he was dropped from the slate of the regular organization.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that I would be in private life today were it not for the help and assistance of such men as Mr. Courtney who helped me fight a political machine and maintain my independence as an official."

PARKING MURDER TRIAL PUT OVER TO THIS MORNING

Judge William J. Lindsay of the Criminal court yesterday continued until this morning the murder trial of Rubin Jersky, 25 years old, 1136 South Central Park avenue. Jersky's attorneys, Charles A. Bellows and James M. Burke, were engaged in another trial. Jersky is charged with slaying Donald Warden, 27, 1143 South Central Park avenue, during a parking argument in front of Warden's home. Jersky's attorneys have indicated they will offer a plea of self-defense for their client.

2 MORE COURTNEY AIDS BACK KELLY AND FACE FIRING

Two assistants of State's Attorney Courtney yesterday announced that they had been given the alternative of resigning or being fired from the prosecutor's staf. So far nine assistant prosecutors have left the staf voluntarily or been fired as a result of the mayoralty campaign.

Ben Nelson and David Leeds, both assistants of six years' service and considered among the top notch prosecutors on the staf, decided yesterday to go along with Alderman Jacob M. Arvey and the regular 24th ward Democratic organization in supporting Mayor Kelly for renomination.

Jacob L. Sheer, also of the 24th ward, Gerald Hornidge of the 4th ward and Eugene Wachowski, other prosecutors who are supporting Kelly, also have quit the staf in the last few days.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley announced seven new appointees: Maurice J. Kossack, Sam Rosenberg, Walter Pattey, George McMahon, Edmund Grant, Fred Goldberg and Joseph Atwell, colored.

Successor to O'Toole on City Board Approved

The city council yesterday approved Mayor Kelly's appointment of Peter J. Wh..len, 8029 Vincenens avenue, as a member of the city board of examiners for stationary engineers. He will replace former Ald. William R. O'Toole, who had remained a member of the board until yesterday, although his term expired in 1936. O'Toole is a candidate for alderman of the 14th ward, supporting State's Attorney Courtney in the mayoral race.

DEMOCRATS MAP PLAN TO HANDLE APPROPRIATIONS

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—State appropriations were discussed tonight at a meeting of Democratic legislators with Acting Governor John Stelle.

The conferees decided to introduce the state office and University of Illinois appropriation bills in the senate and the appropriation measures for the code department directors in the house. Republicans are waiting for this mass introduction, believing that lump sums and other items can be pared substantially.

In addition to the acting governor and the legislative leaders, the meeting was attended by three of the four Horner leaders who, with Mr. Stelle, compose the so-called regency which is running the state in the absence—because of illness—of Gov. Henry Horner. They are James M. Slattery, chairman of the commerce commission; Charles K. Schwartz, member of the tax commission, and S. L. Nudelman, director of finance.

Girl Takes Driving Lesson; Learns to Climb a Ladder

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Clara Gerringer took a driving lesson but got a ladder climbing lesson instead, she told police after the auto went out of control and plunged into the Maramec river. Passersby obtained a ladder and rescued her and her escort, Alfred Scharlott, from the river.

CANADA BLOCKS U.S. AIR SHUTTLES TO OCEAN PLANES

American Lines Eager to Serve Midwest.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

While American air transportation companies are prepared to offer direct airline connections between Chicago and the middle west and Canadian terminals of trans-Atlantic ocean air routes when European flights begin this summer, Canadian authorities probably will frown on such a service for another year. This was learned here yesterday.

And the route, when it is flown, will be part of the Canadian-owned Trans-Canada Air Line, a system subsidized and maintained by the dominion government. The Canadians, already irked by American efforts to establish branch lines tapping important Canadian cities, have indicated that no American airline has a chance of flying in Canada.

Interests Many Lines.

There are at least three, possibly four, American companies eager to begin flying a route that would connect Chicago to Montreal via Detroit, Ottawa, and Toronto. Although American Airlines now flies from Chicago to Detroit, the other cities are without east-west airline services.

Studies made by trafic experts of United Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, and American Airlines, indicate that this route would be self-supporting without the added premium of passengers and mail bound to and from Europe over the Atlantic ocean airway.

"This is one of the best routes in Canada," said an executive of one American airline, who refused to be quoted directly. "You can't really blame the Canadians for wanting it themselves.

Must Wait on Canadians.

"The chances of any American airline getting it are predicated entirely upon getting approval of the Canadian government. And there's not one chance in a hundred that any of us will be able to get it.

"We've simply got to wait until Trans-Canada gets around to serving these cities. That'll probably be some time in 1940, certainly not sooner than a year from now, although the service is needed today and the Canadians are losing money by not operating at once."

American Airlines, now flying routes that touch Canada at Detroit and are within throwing distance of the border at Buffalo, has made the most determined efforts to interest Canadians in an American service. C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines has repeatedly shown his interest in adding a Canadian link to the coast to coast airways he now controls.

New Air Route

Heavy line marks new route between Tampa and Memphis. Other Eastern air line flights are shown in lighter lines.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Eastern Airlines announced today a new route extension between Tampa and Memphis, with stops at Tallahassee, Montgomery, Birmingham, and Muscle Shoals, Ala. The first flight north will leave Tampa Feb. 15 at 7 a. m., and south from Memphis at 12:20 p. m. Flights will be made daily.

REBUKES INDIANA FOR PERMITTING GIRL, 17, TO WED

Judge Oscar Nelson rebuked Indiana authorities yesterday for permitting the wedding of a girl who came into court with her school books under her arm. He indicated that he would annul the marriage.

The girl is Miriel Hudetz Walton, 17 years old, a Foreman High school pupil living at 2448 North Cicero avenue. She eloped last Oct. 15 with Robert Walton, 19, of 4209 Addison street. The girl said she and Walton obtained a license five minutes before midnight from Lewis Keller, clerk of Porter county. They then drove to Gary, she said, and were married by the Rev. Monroe Schuster in the early morning hours.

"It is shameful," the judge said,

ASSAIL WIDENING OF LAWRENCE AV.; ASK 'L' HIGHWAY

Albany Park Merchants Fear Trade Loss.

BY HAL FOUST.

A delegation of Albany Park business men and property owners, led by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] protested to the Cook county board yesterday against its plan to widen Lawrence avenue from 42 to 51 feet between Central avenue and the Chicago river.

Ald. Joseph C. Ross.

The alderman said he had received petitions with 600 signatures objecting to the proposal.

"Every Chicago street that has been widened in recent years," Ross said, "has increased the accident toll. A broad pavement is a convenience to automobile trafic, but it is an inconvenience and a hazard to pedestrian trafic. It ruins a street for retail trade.

Urge Elevated Highway.

"Any need for a wider pavement in Lawrence avenue would be dispelled by construction of an elevated highway northwest from the loop. East and west streets on the north side are now jammed by trafic between the loop and the northwest side that is detouring by way of the lake front because there is no desirable diagonal route.

"Money now being spent by the city, county, and state on widening and paving surface streets is sufficient for a progressive construction of an elevated highway system that would relieve all outlying business districts of the dangerous and unprofitable through motor travel."

Asks Delegation to Return.

Commissioner Daniel Ryan, chairman of the board's roads and bridges committee, asked the delegation to return next Tuesday to meet with him and a representative of the state highway department. The state has jurisdiction over the county's use of gasoline tax funds. The cost of the Lawrence avenue project, estimated at $400,000, was to be borne by gas tax funds.

In the meantime Ryan's call for a state, city, and county conference on an elevated highway construction program has been awaiting the return from Florida of F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works.

Mark Wiaper, 56 years old, died yesterday in his home at 1615 West Huron street of injuries suffered in a fall.

DIES OF INJURIES IN STREET CAR, TRUCK COLLISION

Albert Mueller, 23 years old, 8019 South Sangamon street, died in the Evangelical hospital last night of injuries suffered Sunday in a collision between a truck and a street car in front of 4926 South Ashland avenue. He was on the truck. The driver, Robert Nugent, 23, 6109 Honoré street, also was hurt. Icy pavement caused the accident, police said.

Injuries suffered on Dec. 14 when he was struck by an automobile caused the death of Henry Schubert, 60 years old, 5941 Ohio street, in the West Suburban hospital last night. The driver was George Troseth, 618 North Austin avenue, Oak Park.

Old injuries received when he was struck by an automobile at State and 111th street five months ago caused the death of Edward Meyer in the County hospital last night. Meyer, 43 years old, lived at 14441 Clark street, Riverdale. The driver was Jules Penvion, 23, of 11 East 111th place.

Nathan Jackson, 22 years old, colored, 1442 Washburne avenue, died yesterday in County hospital of injuries suffered Jan. 29 when he was struck by an automobile in front of 937 Roosevelt road. Ruben Kessler, 1412 Roosevelt road, was the driver.

A man killed Sunday when he walked against the side of an auto at 67th and Rockwell streets, was identified as Joseph G. Klikunas, 55, 4014 Brighton place, a street car conductor. The car was driven by Edward Sarich, 6241 South Kedzie avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 102 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 82 were killed in Chicago, where 1,973 were injured in the same period.

FIRE AND POLICE THRILL SHOW TO BE HELD JULY 16

Tribune Sponsors Second Annual Event.

The Fire and Police Thrill show presented last summer before 70,000 persons in Soldiers' field will be repeated Sunday afternoon, July 16. Plans to make the second production even more thrilling than the first were formulated yesterday afternoon in the offices of Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan of the fire department. The show is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Among those conferring with Corrigan were James P. Allman, commissioner of the police department, and Chief James B. Kerr, newly appointed head of the park police.

Repeat Radio Crime Fight.

Several features of the first show will be retained and enlarged. The two-way radio crime fight will be reenacted. In addition to the park system radio cars, those from the city police department also will take part. Commissioner Corrigan promised that the water fight will be wetter than before. Commissioner Allman will present mounted policemen in unusual maneuvers.

Last year's show not only was a success from the spectator's standpoint but also financially. With an entrance fee of only 25 cents and expenses around $5,000 there still is $6,511.15 in the committee's treasury. This will be used to build a huge fire tower and in other ways to make sure that the 1939 show surpasses the 1938 exhibition in thrills.

Harry M. O'Rourke will be secretary to the committee in charge again this year.

Others attending the meeting yesterday were Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed forces and P. R. Crippen, director of personnel, both of the police department; Evan I. Kelly, director of special service, Chicago park district, and Chief Joseph A. Mackey, deputy fire marshal. Illness prevented the attendance of First Deputy Fire Marshal Anthony I. Mullaney.

GIRLS OF SAFETY SQUAD SEE 1,000 FRESHMEN HOME

Chicago's only girl safety patrol will begin its second semester of work Thursday when new appointments are announced at the Lucy Flower Technical High school.

The patrol, which numbers 20 girls, was organized last September as a safety measure for new students who had difficulty finding their way home by bus, street car or elevated. The girl police, who wear badges, are detailed to assist the 1,000 freshmen by directing them to the proper conveyance. A policeman and two men from the surface lines help.

Elsie Donath, 5241 Warner avenue, 18 years old, is lieutenant of the new squad. She has seven trained assistants left from last semester, all seniors. Fourteen freshmen are being trained.

Woman, 100 Yrs. Old, Once an Actress, Dies Suddenly

Miss Barbara Lammle died suddenly last night in her 100th year in her room at 329 South Racine avenue. Police could learn little about her. She was born in Germany. According to the little information she had given out, she was an actress in her youth.

JURORS WARNED TO KEEP THEIR DUTIES SECRET

Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court yesterday departed from his usual instructions when he swore in the February grand jury. Judge McKinley warned the jurors not to communicate with any one regarding their duties. Should any one seek to talk with them about their duties, the court said, the jurors should communicate with the state's attorney or himself. Judge McKinley's action, it was understood, was prompted by a recently published pamphlet which attempts to outline the duties of a grand juror.

Cicadas Harm Trees

February 6, 1939.

OLD superstitions will be revived this summer with the appearance of the "17 year locust," or periodical cicada in northern Illinois and surrounding regions. Brood thirteen is due in May.

For centuries the cicada has been falsely accused of destroying field crops. It was once considered poisonous in some mysterious way, a forecaster of war, and a bad omen generally. Some still confuse the periodical cicada with the locusts that ate up Pharoah's crops. Cicadas are not locusts. The term locust applies to grasshoppers.

Damage Trees Only.

W. P. Flint, state entomologist, says cicadas do not cause any damage by feeding on crops, but they injure trees by puncturing the twigs and laying masses of eggs inside. These punctures often cause the tips of the branches to die. Twigs from six inches to two feet long will break off and fall to the ground.

The sudden appearance of the cicada often excites the gravest fear for the safety of trees and shrubs. There is some ground for this, especially if they appear in large numbers as they are expected to do this year. Some experts advise against setting out fruit trees immediately before or after their appearance.

Two Distinct Races.

There are two races of cicadas—the seventeen year and the thirteen year. When broods of both races appear in the same year the insects are especially numerous. The biggest broods of the two races—No. 10 of the seventeen year race and No. 19 of the thirteen year race—appeared simultaneously in 1868. But scientists have figured it out that they will not appear together again until 221 years from that date, or, to be specific, in 2089 A. D.

In describing the life history of the cicada, entomologists say that antlike larvae come from the eggs a few weeks after they are laid within twigs of trees. The larvae fall to the ground and quickly burrow out of sight.

TWO "17 YEAR LOCUSTS."

Feed Off Roots.

Each one forms a subterranean chamber or cell over some nourishing rootlet where it usually remains for thirteen or seventeen years as a larva and a pupa. While under ground the larvae grow slowly and are ready to emerge as adults along with other broodmates at about the same time. They remain above ground for about a month. During that time they are sluggish, rarely fly, and seldom take food.

During their life in the open the male insects serenade the noiseless females. They sing almost continuously throughout the daylight hours. The female does not sing.

Persons who have heard the song of the cicada seldom, if ever, forget it. The sound is made by tiny drums, or timbals, on the side of the cicada's body. The note familiar to persons who have heard the cicada is represented by tsh-e-e-E-E-E-E-e-ou. Some think the insects are calling "Pha-a-a-r-r-roah."

THE REVOLUTION ON THE EBB TIDE?

The electric power socialists of the New Deal have reached an agreement with the private investments represented by Wendell Willkie in the TVA area. The Tennessee authority will buy out the Tennessee Electric Power company's properties at a price of about 80 million dollars, which is 25 million more than the TVA's top figure last spring.

Recently the TVA was supported by a Supreme court decision against the contention of 19 of the private companies threatened by its activities, and although the main questions were not passed upon the authority escaped with a new lease of life. Its first decision following that opinion is to come to terms satisfactory to the jeopardized private investments.

Apparently there is more in the air than just this one settlement. Shortly before it was announced utility stocks began to lead the market rise, and following the publication of the TVA terms the industry exhibits new confidence and evidence of new activities.

For several years it has been quite unreservedly conceded by Mr. Roosevelt and many of his yes men that utility investment stagnation was one of the greatest retarding factors against industrial recovery. Over a year ago it was noted in the White House that a normal expenditure of between 2 and 3 billion dollars in extensions, durable goods, and new activities had been stopped by uncertainties in the industry's future. Such expenditures in the durable goods division of industry which has suffered most would have an incalculable pickup value in recovery. Investment in the production of durable goods is an indication of long term confidence and the failure to make such investments is a sure index that there is no foundation under the nation's economy.

The utilities had every reason not to put money in private enterprise. Not only was TVA using the public funds in a destructive competition with the taxpayers who furnished the money, holding the private companies up at the point of a gun and threatening to expropriate their properties, but the system of state socialism openly threatened to extend itself all over the country and do everywhere what it had done in the Tennessee valley. The New Deal was committed to a long run socialist program which would reproduce the TVA in every region and to a short term program which would use flood control as a means of getting at the water power everywhere.

Inconsistency never bothered a New Dealer, and although it was almost preposterous it is also true that along with these threats Mr. Roosevelt would call in the utility men and insist that they go ahead and spend billions of their money in enterprises which the government proposed later to expropriate by cut rate, tax supported competition and with a highbinder's disregard for all the equities.

Even before the sudden change of front in Tennessee the utility men began to show some signs that they were not as hopeless as they had been, and now they have recovered a great deal of pep. Apparently they have been given some assurances which they are willing to accept and act upon that they can go ahead, and that the government will confine itself to its Tennessee experiment, having cleared the way for it by a bargain with the private interests which they will accept as fair. The logic of past events would seem not to make such an agreement, if there has been one, trustworthy, but the long strangled industry is probably willing to accept the slightest encouragement to expand. If the change of policy were reliable it would be one of the most encouraging admissions of fraud and failure the New Deal has yet given. Accepting the agreement, the utility men say they are prepared to spend a billion dollars a year for several years in making replacements, in wiping out the obsolescence, and in plant extensions.

This socialist power experiment has been one of the most insane and costly things the Roosevelt revolutionaries have done. It has had a tremendous effect in prolonging the depression, in causing unemployment, and in making the business men in every line of activity unwilling to put capital at work on anything. It was a Mexican program of expropriation without compensation just as communistic as anything the Cardenas government has done to destroy the industry and economy south of the Rio Grande. Its effect is felt not only in the industry directly attacked and smothered but in every other field of investment, being an accepted sign that Mr. Roosevelt's revolutionaries intended to destroy capital investment and private enterprise in this country. It was altogether to be expected that the railroads, the mines, and probably the great industries at which John Lewis was aiming would follow utilities into the hands of a socialist state. In doing this the New Dealers were cutting their own throats but the revolutionaries could say that out of the wreckage would arise their own opportunity to seize power to remake America. That was the end result they wanted. How complete the surrender is we don't know.

Possibly the New Dealers are not entirely dumb and are not completely lost in the pride of their egotism. If they are not, they have observed for self-correction the vote by which the Dies committee was authorized to continue its work of revealing the extent of subversive influence in American political and governmental action. The house of representatives not only rejected the demands of the revolutionaries and defeated administration intrigue but it gave Mr. Dies a vote of confidence by 344 to 35. The communist front tried to kill that committee. It was assisted by every fellow traveler in the administration. It could muster just 35 votes.

So stunning a defeat might have its effect even in the clouds in which the New Dealers try to hide themselves. The votes spoke as decisively as a popular election, revealing that the country has exhausted its patience with a government which has nothing but debt, deficit, and destitution to show for its unbridled conduct and its indifference to national welfare. People can't forever be deceived by frauds for which they have to pay so heavy a price.

The socialistic program the administration worked out in the utility field is one of these terrible frauds, advantageous only to the persons Mr. Dies' committee has been chasing out of their burrows. His committee has been uncovering the great conspiracy in the United States and the conspirators have failed to stop him. Even the White House may have a change of disposition, although that might be regarded as a miracle.

SUICIDE AT GUAM.

The White House and the military strategists who are proposing the fortification of Guam ought to take a lesson from the Russian experiences in Port Arthur and then ask themselves what they are doing and explain it to the people. Russia in its Asiatic advance had spread over Siberia, Manchuria, and the Liaotung peninsula, on which a great fortress was raised with a fine harbor. A railroad was built across Asia, an insufficient line of communication, it is true, but still a safe and protected line. A powerful fleet was based upon Port Arthur and a military power seemed to be impregnably intrenched on the coast of the far east opposite Japan.

Japan, beginning the policy of ousting the occidental nations, in which it is still engaged, attacked the Port Arthur fleet without a declaration of war and crippled it. Japanese forces invested the fortress. When the fleet sailed out it was destroyed. Russia, in a vain and tragic effort to regain control of the sea, sent its ill equipped and badly organized Baltic fleet on the long journey into the Sea of Japan, where it met the inevitable, its destruction. In this war Russia found nothing but humiliation. Even if its military faults had been less, its advantages in fighting so far from its supplies and replacements might have been fatal. Theodore Roosevelt at the Portsmouth peace conference did more for Russia than all its armies, navies, and fortifications had been able to do. He saved some of its far eastern empire.

In the face of this obvious lesson White House politicians and some fake strategists are recommending that we undertake military enterprise of some sort or other in Guam, less than 1,500 miles off the Japanese coast and in a nest of Japanese islands which have been made ready to receive just such an American plunge into trouble. The Japanese might feel that they had to fight if the United States began to tinker around with airplane and naval bases so close to their shores. If they tried the same thing over here the United States would have a fit.

We couldn't build any kind of fortifications on Guam that would have one-tenth the military strength of Port Arthur. If we were allowed to get a fortification or an air and naval base started on this island an attack upon it would then, of course, require that America resist. There would be a demand to protect the place with the fleet and we would be obliged, unless we would accept an advantageous humiliation, to send the battleships out to meet the fate of the Russians.

The insane notion of a fortified Guam should be thrown out of our naval policy at once. The notion that the crazy proposal is good for diplomatic trading purposes is just as nutty as the military idea.

HERR CHAPLIN, DER DICTATOR.

The Charles Chaplin production of a film to be called "The Dictator" should answer the question whether the comic genius of the silent films has weathered or withered since talking pictures extinguished his own medium. Charles, it is said, is to talk in his new picture. Harpo Marx will be the only silent figure on the screen unless we think of Charley McCarthy for what he really is.

Herr Hitler is to be Chaplin's hero and the people may be able to discover whether art is imitating life or life is imitating art. It hasn't seemed reasonable that der Fuehrer deliberately set himself, when he was on the road to power, to be as much like Chaplin as he could, at least in appearance, but without intention he achieved the effect. Chaplin may have resented it. His prior rights were well established. He was known to the world when Adolf was a morose, obscure, and disappointed young man in Vienna and Munich, suffering from the frustration of all his ambitions and wondering how he could get even with the world against which he was developing a grudge.

When Adolf adopted the Chaplin mustache or when he merely permitted it to grow he was putting a great strain upon Mr. Chaplin's self-control and should have been aware of it. When, furthermore, he allowed something of the Chaplin strut to get into his gait he was simply asking for what Mr. Chaplin now proposes to do. It has been reported that Chaplin has been advised that his project is full of explosives and that the international situation distinctly will not be improved if he does his best with the Nazi leader and if his best in the talking pictures should be as good as it was in the silent. This may be the supreme insult.

The picture will never get into Germany nor will it ever be seen in Italy. It wouldn't be even if these two countries had not stopped the import of American films. It may, indeed, get nowhere in Europe except in soviet Russia, and its release there will be very doubtful. After all, dictators are all alike under the skin, and Brother Stalin doubtless will protect Brother Hitler from any such affront to the new blood royal.

Doubts as to its release may be extended to France and Great Britain. A dollar to a dime is a good bet that Mr. Chamberlain's government will find no appeasement in Chaplin's "Dictator" if it should happen to ring the bell. France probably would be just as uneasy about it.

It may be predicted that if Chaplin goes through with it and gets by with it the United States will be about the only country that will see that picture, and it's none too certain that Jimmie Roosevelt, now a Hollywood executive, will think that it is a proper picture for Americans.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

TALE OF A SHOOTING STAR.

What's this about meteorites from the Field museum? Only two recorded fugitives from infinity have fallen upon Illinois—one near Carlinville, 9-29-'38, and the other near Tilden, 7-13-'27? What about the meteorite that hit the north side in the summer of 1904 or thereabouts? Why, the evening newspapers were full of it!

We investigated this astronomical event, but thus far have refrained from publishing our findings. Science must be served, however, and therefore, thirty-five years later, we unveil the mystery of the Collins meteorite.

Upon reporting for duty that day we were given clippings from early editions of four evening papers which chronicled the landing of a meteorite in somebody's back yard, and ordered to hasten to the scene. The location was in that area of old frame houses through which the Elevated passes between North and Fullerton avenues. We found the meteorite and its discoverer without delay.

The proud householder was staying away from work to receive congratulations. He told us how he had been looking out his back window when lo, there was a blaze of light and a ball of fire descended into his yard. In the morning he went out and picked up strange pieces of metal. He had them on exhibition in his kitchen—half a dozen fragments which had apparently been fused at a high temperature.

They didn't look like meteorite material to us, but we asked him to lend us a piece for study by experts. No, sirree; he wasn't letting any of the stuff get out of his possession; it was more valuable than gold.

Then we left him and scouted the alley. Near by we found a barn where a man was currying a horse and stopped to chat over the news. The man laughed, and there was also a snicker from the horse.

"There was a heavy rainstorm last night," said this natural philosopher, "and some short-circuiting on the Elevated's third rail. That coot saw one of the flares. Then he picked up some pieces of blast furnace slag with which the alley had been surfaced. His shooting star came out of an ash can."

That explained everything to our own satisfaction and our city editor's disgust.

CLOSED FOR THE SEASON.

Sweetling, quench that burning sigh,
Forget those vows made last July;
Cupid's scraped his farewell bow—
I've got to fix the furnace now.

Don't prate of rings and nuptial plans,
My mind's on toddies and warming pans;
Go peddle your wares in another block—
My urge is in storage, my heart's in hock.

Shelve your ardor until the spring,
Then you and youth will have your fling;
Our love's not permanently flawed—
I'll be back when my feet have thawed.

The British Museum of Names.

Talk about the three ways of pronouncing Pepys brought up the old but always amusing matter of erratic treatment of proper names in England. So we jotted down the following list and hope that it can be expanded:

Alnwick, pronounced Annik.
Cirencester, pronounced Siseeter.
Cholmondeley, pronounced Chumley.
Keswick, pronounced Kezzick.
Leicester, pronounced Lester.
Magdalen, pronounced Maudlin.
Marlborough, pronounced Maulbro.
Pall Mall, pronounced Pell Mell.
St. John, pronounced Sinjun.

Then there is Snooks, pronounced and spelled that way, which was originally Sevenoaks. We have also heard that the uncommon name, Twelvetrees, is pronounced Tweedles by Britons in their inaccurate moments.

Hint to Amateur Tree Hunters.

The United States forest service has standardized breast high measurement at 4½ feet. In ordinary timber the trunk has become straight and practically cylindrical at that height. In elms the conformation is so variable that breast high dimensions do not always give true comparison. In swamp timber, such as cypress, and in trees of tremendous size, such as the sequoia, redwood, and Douglas fir, indicative measurements must be taken at much greater heights. A huge Douglas fir on the rain soaked western slope of the Olympic peninsula must be measured 9 or 10 feet above the ground. Roberts Mann.

A SONG FOR MARIETTA.

Let others sing their ladies' loveliness;
My Marietta is beyond compare!
Not even Deirdre, nor the pale princess
Of Capulet, nor Helen, were more fair.
And sweet her temper, gay her lively mien,
Her every mood's a perfect mate for mine.
She's poetry in motion, slim, serene,
Head up to any wind—no surer sign
Of lasting love or true fidelity!
Wherever my rooftree, she makes her home
A sunny bit of life; or goes with me
Down any roadway I may choose to roam.
Oh, reader, never think me prodigal
With words of praise! Her shining presence steals
The dullest heart! I sing my bicycle,
Most dear, most cherished queen of wander-wheels!

Phantoms of Rush Street Bridge.

The Michigan avenue bridge may be a masterpiece of engineering and a fantastic sight when it opens its jaws, but it cannot match the traditions of the old Rush street bridge which it replaced. The first bridge there was built in 1857; it was an iron structure, regarded as the equal of the Pyramids in durability. In 1863 a herd of cattle was driven upon the bridge. A vessel approached; the tender swung the bridge with the kine still aboard and the whole thing collapsed, drowning the herd. Yes, sir, right there at the waterfront of the Wrigley building. WINTER ECZEMA.

MANY of us have observed that while the skin is clear most of the time, during the colder season cracks may appear at the tips of the fingers, on different parts of the face, about the knees, elbows, or on the shins. In addition, many of these lesions become sore—infected—and the ailment is ascribed to hard water, soap, clothing, dirt, and exposure.

Certain individuals are highly susceptible. On slight provocation [irritation] they will exhibit itchy, scaly, even inflamed patches whenever the circulation is depressed by chilling. In such circumstances the natural oil glands are not as active as they should be, resulting in a feeling of dryness and harshness. Furthermore, dust is likely to accumulate on the outside more rapidly. All of these factors may give rise to the condition popularly known as eczema or salt rheum.

There are, however, many other causes. In fact, any substance to which the victim may be sensitive must be considered. Trouble may follow the employment of hair dyes or cosmetics and all signs will vanish as soon as applications of the offending chemical are discontinued. Outer garments may be at fault and furs which have been processed are common offenders. Now and then all that is necessary is to identify a specific material which is encountered routinely. For example, painters, metal workers, and those who handle oils rarely fail to improve if contact is avoided.

One of the chief incitants is soap. If the hands are rough and prone to develop fissures, cotton gloves may be worn for regular activities and every precaution exercised to shun soapy water. With the housewife, who is obliged to wash dishes, some waterproof protection will be needed. The hands should be dried thoroughly, then anointed with a bland fat such as lanolin or one that contains zinc oxide, and finally dusted lightly with boric acid powder before the gloves are put on. On going out of doors the same procedure should be gone through. Some authors advocate a cold cream that is impregnated with 2 or 3 per cent of quinine.

But sometimes the exciting agent comes from within and no amount of external treatment will help very much unless we can apprehend the culprit. Because diet is so easy to regulate we may begin our investigation with foods. Starches and fats should be restricted or, in severe cases, left out entirely. Proteins must make up the bulk of the menu. Now and then the elimination of potatoes, sugar, butter, and fat meats will be followed by prompt disappearance of the blemishes. While fluids may be allowed freely as a rule, tea, coffee, and alcohol should be interdicted—at least for a time.

Many of these sufferers mention itching which is so annoying at intervals that existence is almost a burden. Amelioration may be obtained through the utilization of warm baths containing baking soda—¾ of a cup to the ordinary tub. Bran is of value and two or three pounds—enclosed in muslin bags—may be thrown into the water and squeezed frequently until the fluid is milky. Without rubbing or "washing," the patient should remain immersed for twenty minutes. Occasionally a sedative will be helpful and bromides or one of the barbituric acid preparations may be prescribed.

If the difficulty has persisted for some time or if it returns periodically we may know that there is some general underlying element either in the home or in the workshop. Now and then house dust is responsible and no plan of treatment will give permanent relief until the afflicted person can be desensitized. This may require skin tests of various types until a marked reaction [reddening] points the finger at the enemy.

No time should be lost in attacking the disorder in infants, especially in families in which there is a definite allergic tendency. Usually the omission of wheat, egg yolk, or some single dietary element will solve the problem. As we can well imagine scratching makes the situation much worse, as bacteria are thus permitted to invade the skin with all their troublesome antics.

SCARLET FEVER.

M. K. M. writes: We are having an epidemic of what some doctors call mild scarlet fever and others scarletina.

1. What is the difference between scarletina and scarlet fever?

2. Should these cases be quarantined, and if so, for how long a period?

3. Is the "scaling off" stage contagious?

REPLY.

1. None. They are the same.

2. The length of the quarantine period is established by your state health department. Usually four weeks.

3. The scales are not sources of infection. The germs usually are found in the throat. Some children may harbor them in the tonsils long after recovery.

TOOTH DECAY.

E. F. writes: My teeth have many white marks, which the dentist calls "erosion." I clean them regularly. In spite of this and frequent dental work, they seem to be disappearing rapidly. Isn't there something I can do to stop this?

REPLY.

Many dentists feel that decay and erosion can occur only when the condition of the mouth is acid. This is increased by the use of rich, sweet foods. Steps must be taken to neutralize the acidity. Unfortunately, alkaline mouth washes and dentifrices have only a temporary effect. Your physician may suggest some helpful modifications of your diet.

CALL A DOCTOR.

L. J. B. writes: I am 77 years old and weigh 185 pounds. When I get up from a chair I cannot straighten up for at least a minute. When I walk upstairs—even slowly—I have to stop because my heart pounds. Do I need a physician, exercise, or extreme patience?

REPLY.

You need a bed, patience to stay there until improvement occurs, and a physician to advise proper treatment. Some form of arthritis probably is your basic difficulty.

CHEW GUM INSTEAD.

Mrs. A. M. writes: I have the habit of chewing toothpicks after meals. After biting them until they are soft, I swallow them. Can this practice do me any harm?

REPLY.

Wood [cellulose] is indigestible. If it is chewed to a pulp it resembles paper and is harmless if swallowed. Splinters, on the other hand, would be dangerous. Discard your toothpicks promptly after use and substitute a good grade of chewing gum.

SPUR ON TOE.

B. Q. writes: My physician tells me I have a spur on one of the toes. What is this? Can it be cured?

REPLY.

Spurs are little bony growths, frequently the result of arthritis. Removing pressure, as of tight shoes, may be helpful.

NO!

N. D. writes: Is the use of borax in snow water good for cataracts?

REPLY.

Of no value whatsoever.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Official statistics show that the number of married women taking jobs is increasing rapidly. The figures disclose that one out of every five women with a job is married.

There are nearly 900,000 married women holding jobs throughout the country—chiefly in the textile trades and in domestic service, but in growing numbers in commercial and professional employments.

In the last ten years the number of women workers has increased by 569,000. About 114,000 of them are married. Sixty thousand have been absorbed in shops and businesses, as office clerks and typists, and in the professions.

More than 42 per cent of the clerical workers are women, and the proportion of both sexes employed as shop assistants is fifty-fifty.

Women workers have increased in almost every type of employment except agriculture. The main rush has been into offices and shops.

Typists are practically all women—212,000, as compared with 5,000 men. More than 27,000 of the women clerks and typists are married.

The proportion of married to single women clerks and typists is only one in twenty. But the ratio is increasing because young married women frequently find it necessary or advantageous to continue their work after marriage.

Though the ban on married women teachers is still exercised by many educational authorities, the figures show that nearly 17,000 of the 180,000 women teachers are married.

In the professions 30,000 of the women employed are married. More than 4,000 are nurses. There are 2,700 actresses and 2,900 musicians or music teachers.

More than 850,000 women are employed within the administrative county of London, and about 85,000 have husbands.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. My father in his will left cash to my stepmother with the stipulation that if she married or died each child was to receive a certain sum from her. She was married long ago, but the children received nothing from her.

2. In my mind this will was as good as none, as those mentioned were not protected.

3. This is what I would like to avoid in making my will, as my case is very similar to his. I have two children [both married now] from my deceased first wife and one child with my present wife. I have real estate, insurance, stocks, and cash. The real estate is in joint tenancy.

4. Can I will my entire estate, both real and personal, to my wife until her death and then to be distributed to the children in equal shares?

5. Is my will valid after her death as to disposal of real estate and personal property?

6. Is my will valid as to what my wife is to do with what cash is left after her death?

7. Can she give or will any part of my estate to one of the children and not the others?

8. Am I right in assuming that all but real estate is considered personal property [meaning life insurance, stocks and cash]?

9. Could she spend or dispose of the personal property beyond what she would need for her daily needs?

10. Would probating be necessary for a clear title of real estate in this case? G. A.

1. The gift of cash to your mother would be almost meaningless unless she was permitted to spend it. If she was permitted to spend it, it is not clear what significance attaches to the gift over her marriage.

2. It seems probably that you are right. We cannot advise to advantage without having the wording before us.

3. Obviously the best protection is to employ an attorney in the drafting and execution of a will.

4. Yes, but you should make up your mind what beneficial interest in your personal property your wife is to enjoy, and should take appropriate steps.

5. In general, yes, but see preceding answers.

6. In general, yes.

7. Yes, unless you provide otherwise.

8. Yes.

9. Depends on what power you give her. Ordinarily it is considered desirable to place personal property in the hands of a trustee.

10. Yes. You could avoid the necessity for probate by joint tenancy, but that would mean that she would have a definite interest in the real estate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FAMILY EXPENSES.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a husband signs a lease can they hold his wife responsible for two months' rent he did not pay?

2. Can they collect anything from the husband after giving him notice to move?

They have sent the wife a letter stating they are going to [3] sue her or [4] garnishee her wages.

5. Can they do any of these things?

6. Her salary averages from $15 to $25 a week. R. J.

1. Yes, in the sense that rents accruing while the parties occupy the premises as a family would be a family expense and as such would be chargeable to both spouses under the Illinois statute.

2. Yes.

3. Clearly they can do this.

4. Garnishment proceedings would not be in order until after judgment is obtained.

5. Yes.

6. There is no garnishment exemption for a person who is not head of a family.

TO NEW YORK BY DAYLIGHT.

Owatonna, Wis., Jan. 31.—I read with a great deal of interest your editorial, "Twice Six is Twelve." The present schedules maintained by both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania certainly suffer in comparison with the western roads.

I feel that you overlooked one very important point however, that of operating a daylight train similar to the Twin City Zephyrs. The economy of such a train with convenience of day travel, less expense of Pullman fare, etc., would attract an immediate following. One could leave Chicago at 8 in the morning and arrive in New York at 9:40 p. m.; also one could leave New York at 8 a. m. and arrive at Chicago at 7:40 the same evening.

With the World's Fair at New York coming on, and with a large percentage of the traveling public unaccustomed to Pullman travel, it seems there is a real need for a fast daylight train between the two cities. WM. H. KELLY.

THE DRYS HAD THE SAME IDEA.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 1.—The question of the health of our nation is one which should be considered apart from political inferences. THE TRIBUNE'S editorial, "Uncle Sam, M. D.", is guilty of fallacious rationalizing when it states that because our death and disease rates have been steadily declining there is no need of reasonably hasty action concerning some sort of health legislation. Because I have never done worse than stub my toe on that shoe scraper on our front porch is no reason that I should not have the scraper removed, although I do manage to dodge it better now than at first. Because our health rate is improving is no reason that some line of action may not be able to make it even better.

To attempt to legislate health to people who can afford their own medical requirements is indeed folly. But to supply some means whereby those who have only the bare necessities of attention are able to have the benefits of advanced technique is indeed a notable aim.

THE G. O. P. AND THE SOLID SOUTH.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—The Republican party is not a national political party. On account of the solid south its field of operation is confined to the northern states.

At the Republican national convention in 1940 would it not be practical and most desirable by its call to form that convention into a National party? Let a National party be born there, not merely a change of name. Let us, if possible, make a united nation of the United States. FREDERICK H. WOOD.

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 30.—On behalf of the general executive committee and the people of Manitowoc county I extend thanks and appreciation for THE TRIBUNE'S splendid and encouraging editorial today indorsing Manitowoc County Citizenship day.

Our aim is to set a pattern for a permanent National Citizenship day and to keep it strictly nonpolitical, nonsectarian, and nonpartisan. Contemplate, if you please, some 2,500,000 21 year old voters every year being inducted into full fledged American citizenship by a proper course of study as to the rights and responsibilities of citizenship, and formal, imperative, public installation ceremonies in the interests of a more alert and loyal Americanism and you have a picture of the importance, the immensity, and the far-reaching possibilities of the Manitowoc plan! JUDGE ALBERT H. SCHMIDT.

NATURALIZATION CEREMONY.

La Grange, Ill., Jan. 31.—Your editorial, "On Becoming a Citizen," encourages me to mention a brief service which took place in the courtroom at Elkhorn, Wis., last fall.

After the judge had finished giving the oath of allegiance, the president of the auxiliary of the American Legion from Delavan stepped forward. She talked to the men and women in a simple, friendly way on what being a citizen of the United States might mean to them and gave each a small silk flag. As she shook hands with them, she realized that it was the biggest, most vital thing in their lives perhaps, the renunciation of the land of their birth and the pledge of loyalty to a new country. Their expressions of appreciation showed a depth of feeling such as we who take our freedom for granted seldom display.

PLAN ASSEMBLY FIGHT TO BLOCK U.S. LAND SEIZURE

Grab Challenged as Blow at State's Rights.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Legislative action to resist federal government condemnation of 56,000 acres of southern Illinois land for a project known as Crab Orchard lake is expected here tomorrow.

Representative M. F. Browner.

Identical resolutions condemning the project will be considered by the senate and house executive committees. The house resolution, backed by the Republican house majority, is expected to be reported favorably tomorrow.

Representatives I. A. [Jack] Palmer [R., West Frankfort] and M. F. Browner [R., Mound City] and Senator R. G. Crisenberry [R., Murphysboro] are co-sponsors of the resolutions.

Fight Tax Losses.

Senator R. Wallace Karraker [D., Jonesboro], who represents one of the districts in which the lake is being built with WPA labor, is chairman of the senate executive committee.

The resolution requests Attorney General John E. Cassidy to intervene in the condemnation of this vast tract of land, on which rest state highways, the farms and homes of 800 families, various utilities, fifty businesses, fifteen churches, four cemeteries, and several public schools.

Mr. Cassidy is asked to interest himself because the project, according to the resolution, will remove from the tax books of Williamson and Jackson counties property valued at $3,000,000.

Williamson county bonds totaling $150,000 are outstanding and payable solely out of tax collections, the document states. Approximately one-fourth of the area and land value of the county will be taken from the tax books if the lake is completed, legislators said today.

Base Fight on State Rights.

"It is the opinion of the general assembly of Illinois that the acts of the federal government in creating such a project, and the taking of said land by condemnation or otherwise, violate the constitution of the United States and the sovereign rights of Illinois," the resolution reads.

It continues by challenging the government's contention that the condemned land is necessary for reforestation, to prevent soil erosion and forest fires, and for relief of unemployment.

"Unemployment may be relieved without such drastic measures as taking the homes from so many families, and taking land from the tax books of the state," the resolution declares.

"If there is any necessity that such land be put to such use or purpose it is the duty and right of the state of Illinois to so take and use such land, as the land is all located within the state, and said use would be an intrastate instead of an interstate use, and therefore no concern of the federal government.

"The state of Illinois, by its general assembly, has not given its consent to the federal government to acquire such land by purchase, condemnation or otherwise."

Hits Sponsor's Red Theories.

Congressman Kent E. Keller is sponsor of the project, which after two or three prior designations is now called a fish preserve and pleasure resort.

Taking into consideration Congressman Keller's opposition to continuation of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, this idea seems in line with his communistic activities," said Senator Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, Republican floor leader of the upper legislative chamber. "Republicans will fight for adoption of this resolution. We will do all we can to stop this dispossessing of families for a foolish reason."

Representative Robert J. Branson of Centralia, Republican floor leader in the house, who represents a district in southern Illinois, said he has received many complaints from residents of Jackson and Williamson counties.

SEEK AGREEMENT IN FIGHT ON U. S. FLOOD CONTROL

Boston, Mass., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Massachusetts' senior Democratic United States Senator David I. Walsh and Republican Governor Leverett Saltonstall today backed a proposal to hurdle New England's states' rights objections to federal flood control.

The senator and the governor appeared arm in arm at a Massachusetts legislative committee hearing on a Saltonstall sponsored measure to give state and federal governments joint jurisdiction over lands taken for flood control purposes.

The disagreement took form when Vermont challenged the right of the federal government to take land for flood control purposes without state permission, an issue that grew into an all-New England fight against any attempts to encroach upon states' rights.

BENEFITS FADE AS COST OF LAKE PROJECT SOARS

Crab Orchard Outlay Now Set at 3½ Millions.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Marion, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—When the federal government began pouring money into its Crab Orchard Lake project in southern Illinois, a resurrection of the region's industry was forecast by Congressman Kent E. Keller.

Keller, known as one of the staunchest New Dealers in congress, painted glowing pictures of the great benefits to be derived by the people of this area.

Keller was injected into the public eye recently by his opposition to the Dies committee investigating un-American activities. Chairman Martin Dies [D. Tex.] accused Keller of inserting in the congressional record a speech assailing the committee which closely resembled the wording of a pamphlet written by a correspondent for the Daily Worker, official organ of the communist party.

Costs Million Over Estimate.

The government's total contribution to this controversial project will be at least $3,500,000. Earlier estimates had put the cost at only $2,500,000. A great part of this money has been spent.

Farmers living on 28,000 acres in Williamson county will have to move, many of them with bitterness in their hearts. Residents on 28,000 more acres will have to get out, too, if the government decides it needs their tracts to carry out the project. Illinois is planning to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to move a main highway that will be submerged by the largest of three lakes.

There has been no indication that any industry anywhere, or the government itself, intends to locate any plant near the lake. Rumors current in Marion, Herrin and Carbondale that a munitions plant or a hydroplane base or a chemical factory will be set up are not believed even by those who consider the lake a good thing.

Claim Other Benefits.

Crab Orchard lake's friends now stress flood control, reforestation, and soil erosion benefits as its best points. They also point to the wonderful pleasure ground it will create.

Those who consider the project a mistake claim it will not control floods or stop soil erosion in any tillable fields. They maintain that more timber will be cut out of the lake area than can be regrown in twenty years. And they scoff at its value for pleasure.

All points of the project are so controversial that some understanding of its physical aspects is necessary.

The first dam, virtually complete, lies on the Jackson-Williamson county line, four miles east of Carbondale and about fifteen miles west of Marion. Government engineers say the greatest depth of the lake will be thirty-five feet [at the spillway] and that it will back up the waters of Crab Orchard creek for eight and a half miles. It will cover 7,000 acres and have a curving inleted shore line of 125 miles.

Average Depth Ten Feet.

The country to be inundated is not prairie land; neither is it actually hill land. It undulates gently, and the creek bottom drops only about four feet to the mile in its descent.

Government engineers assert that the average depth of the lake will be 10.08 feet. Brown clay will furnish its bottom. There is no sand; there is no rock outcropping. Because of the gentle contour, it necessarily will have much shallow water at the upper end and in parts now covered with hummocks. Government employés say there will be no islands.

Two additional lakes, to be constructed in the Ozark foothills to halt the flow of two tributaries of Crab Orchard creek, are to cover 600 and 900 acres, respectively. They will be deeper than the lower lake.

At present the flood gates of the lower dam are being kept open, but a sudden freshet last week caused water to back up and cover highway 13, the main road that is to be moved half a mile north.

Manager Defends Project.

Some of the original reasons for the project were given today by Charles E. Hamilton, the project manager.

"The business men of southern Illinois," he said, "were looking for something worthwhile on which to employ relief labor. Even today there are, in Congressman Keller's district, 20,114 persons being supported by public funds. Fifty per cent of the population of Williamson county is on some form of relief.

"This dam was projected and I believe it is the worthiest thing that could have been built in Williamson county. Funds were appropriated to purchase lands—about a million dollars—and $2,500,000 for all other expenses."

He was asked what industrial benefits might be expected.

"In my opinion," he answered, "whatever happens in the further development of this project will depend on southern Illinois initiative—not on Washington."

2,000 WPA Jobs Involved.

About 2,000 WPA workmen are employed on the project now. It has furnished jobs to 600 for a year and a half.

Hamilton gave his version of farmers' claims that 800 families with 5,000 members are being dispossessed to make room for the lakes.

"Actually, we are taking over 431 tracts of land by purchase or condemnation," he said. "There are houses on 300 of these, and I guess 300 families. The government does not contemplate buying any more.

"Altogether about eighty condemnation suits were filed—some of them to clear titles. The other tracts were obtained through agreement with the owners. I respect the motives of those who are fighting to save their properties, but the federal court has passed on their claims and held the condemnation legal. Appraisals were made by competent appraisers."

Minimizes Tax Losses.

Half of these farmers, he added, were on relief. It was his guess that they can "buy smaller and better farms" with what the government will pay them, and that most of them will resettle within forty miles of their present homes. Few, he added, have asked help in resettlement.

Questioned about the taxes on the million dollars worth of property, lost to the county, Hamilton said that about 75 per cent of the acquired farms were delinquent in tax payments. In only a few instances has possession been taken.

Hamilton said that four graveyards will be inundated and that about 150 bodies will be removed from them. The work will be done by the regular WPA force.

Hamilton asserted a belief that the lake will have good, clean water in it the year around.

Brutal Procedure Explained.

Hamilton's contention that the government is considerate of the farmers' interest was disputed by Attorney Frank E. Trobaugh of West Frankfort, counsel for those seeking to retain their homesteads.

"The real attitude of the government," he said, "is shown by the fact that in the condemnation proceedings its representatives obtained 'declarations of taking' against the farmers.

"These writs are the most drastic proceedings that could have been instituted; only the federal government can have them issued. The effect of such a writ is to put the entire onus on the farmer. The government takes his land and if he wants compensation he must sue for it.

"Far from being courteous in this matter, the government is trying to run these farmers out like they were rats."

100 POUND WIFE SOCKS 6 FOOT MATE IN COURT ON CHARGE OF CRUELTY

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Angelina Raia, appearing in Bridge Plaza court in Brooklyn today to complain that her husband had been beating her, suddenly leaped across the courtroom and socked her spouse twice with her fists. She also clouted him in the face with a handbag and then started to kick and scream when court attendants sought to protect her husband, Frank. Magistrate Gasper J. Liota, skeptical of the 100-pound wife's charge that her six-foot mate had abused her and torn her clothing, ordered her held on a charge of assault and sent her to jail in default of $500 bail.

HOLIDAY CHARITY OF HINES TRACED TO SCHULTZ MOB

Witness Tells of Turkeys Supplied by Gang.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, N. Y., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—One thousand Thanksgiving turkey baskets ordered through a political crony of Tammany Leader James J. Hines, whose generosity has been praised in high places, were supplied by the notorious Dutch Schultz gang of hoodlums in November, 1932.

This testimony was given by a witness today in the second trial of the Democratic boss before Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. and a jury in General Sessions court. Hines, on trial for violation of the state lottery law, is accused of being political protector for the 20 million dollar a year policy racket operated by the Schultz gang.

Big Harry Schoenhaus, former Schultz lieutenant and one of the state's principal witnesses, declared the cash for the turkeys came from profits in the policy game and was charged up to expenses.

Dewey Scores Victory.

In the telling of the Thanksgiving basket story District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey scored a major victory. At Hines' trial last fall Tammany Judge Ferdinand Pecora would not let the testimony be introduced. Judge Pecora later declared a mistrial on a technicality.

Today Judge Nott ruled the testimony was admissible. The defense fought hard to block it because the story damages the picture of Hines as a big hearted philanthropist which will be painted by character witnesses later in the trial. Lloyd Paul Stryker, chief of defense counsel, scoffed at the charges against his client at a preliminary hearing and pointed out President Roosevelt had once praised Hines for his humanitarianism.

Before Schoenhaus took the stand, Isidore Frank, a meat dealer, testified his company sold the Thanksgiving baskets to George Weinberg, business manager for the Schultz policy game enterprise. Weinberg, a principal state witness, shot and killed himself a week ago.

Hines Alderman Named.

Frank said the baskets were sold through Morton Moses, one of his employés and a former Hines alderman, on Nov. 23, 1932. They were delivered to 351 Lenox avenue, headquarters for the policy game in Harlem, the colored section of Manhattan.

Direct examination of Schoenhaus was completed this afternoon. He told the same story of the rise and fall of the Schultz crime syndicate and Hines' part in it as the political fixer as he did at the first trial.

John F. Curry, veteran Tammany politician and leader of that organization from 1929 to 1934, took the stand in the morning to testify that he had transferred policemen for Hines without asking questions.

Prior to Curry's appearance, a succession of patrolmen and officers testified threats were received from the Schultz gang that certain men would be transferred because they insisted on raiding policy banks or arresting hoodlums.

Dewey contends Hines, on the gang pay roll for just that purpose, transferred offending policemen and influenced judges to throw out policy cases.

Clemency for Thief

Mrs. Walter J. Krischke, who solved disappearance of her diamond ring, and Fred Drake (right), who admitted taking it. He was put on probation yesterday.

Fred Drake, who stole a diamond ring for his sweetheart, then returned it after they quarreled, was placed on probation for a year yesterday by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Boys' court. Drake, 18 years old, was arrested Sunday night after clever detective work by Mrs. Walter J. Krischke, from whom the ring was stolen.

Several days after the ring was missing, Drake brought it to Mrs. Krischke, saying he had recovered it from a boy. She suspected him because he had been washing the windows of her apartment when the ring disappeared.

On the ring were traces of soap and Mrs. Krischke, recalling that Drake's sweetheart was employed in a beauty shop, assumed the soap formed while she wore the ring at work. The girl, questioned by Mrs. Krischke, admitted Drake had given her the ring, but said she returned it after they quarreled. Drake lives in the same building as Mrs. Krischke at 2642 Potomac avenue.

HOTEL OPERATOR INDICTED IN PLOT TO HIDE ASSETS

Samuel Leeds, operator of several Chicago hotels, has been indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to conceal assets of property in federal bankruptcy. With him were indicted four employés.

The indictments are the first voted as a result of the Sabath congressional committee's investigation into real estate reorganizations.

Leeds and the others are accused of concealing income received from the 167 West Washington building, in which the Washington hotel is located.

Those indicted with Leeds, who lives at the Weston hotel, 355 Madison street, are Robert S. Levy and Saul Nathan of the North Park hotel, Reuben Revzen, 933 Margate terrace, and Miss Ann Rubenstein, Leeds' secretary.

Woman Killed by Speeding Express Train in Villa Park

Miss Helen Stahl, 49 years old, was killed yesterday when she walked in front of an eastbound Chicago, Aurora and Elgin express at the Villa avenue crossing in Villa Park. The train, not scheduled to stop at Villa Park, was traveling between 50 and 60 miles an hour. Police said the crossing gates were down. Miss Stahl and her sister, Mary, were distributing advertisments for a magazine publisher. They lived at 147 South Grove avenue, Elgin.

TORRIO, 4 OTHERS INDICTED BY U. S. FOR TAX EVASION

Face 12 Years in Prison and $30,000 Fines.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Johnny Torrio, former Chicago gang leader and associate of Al Capone, was named with four other men today in a federal indictment charging income tax evasion.

Johnny Torrio.

The defendants are accused of conspiring and attempting to evade the payment of $86,643 in taxes on Torrio's income for 1933, 1934, and 1935. The charges carry a maximum penalty of twelve years in prison and fines totaling $30,000 against each.

The indictment supersedes two filed against the same defendants in the fall of 1937. The new action brings the proceedings up to date, it was explained, making the formal charges conform with the results of the most recent investigations.

Brother-in-Law Is Named.

Named with Torrio are Louis G. La Cava, a former Capone associate and a government witness in the Chicago income tax trial that sent Capone to Alcatraz; William S. Slockbower of White Plains, brother-in-law of Torrio; James Lapenna of Valley Stream, N. Y., a former bootlegger, and John D'Agostino of Egg Harbor City, N. J.

The indictment contains two counts of tax evasion and one of conspiracy. In the conspiracy count is the name of one additional person, William H. Boyd, chief of the civil and criminal compromise section of the tax division of the United States attorney general's office, who hanged himself last Nov. 9.

Shortly before Boyd committed suicide, he was suspended because of the discovery of evidence indicating he had accepted bribes in connection with an attempted compromise of the Torrio tax case.

Chicago Gandland Graduate.

Torrio, who graduated from Chicago's gangland to sundry New York interests, had a total income of $216,324 for the three years specified, the indictment charged. Part of this was derived from the sale of stock in a liquor distributing firm but much of it represents unexplained cash found in bank accounts traced to him.

Arraignment of the defendants on the new indictment is scheduled for tomorrow before Judge Robert P. Patterson. Torrio is at liberty on $50,000 cash bail, half the sum posted by his wife when he was arrested in 1937. Trial of the case is set for March 7.

The proceedings against Torrio are reminiscent of the case that ended so disastrously for Capone. Both were one-time Chicago gang leaders. Torrio organized the underworld there, but he was forced out by gang bullets that nearly killed him.

Involved in both proceedings is La Cava, who formerly was Torrio's secretary and later Capone's associate. La Cava was a government witness, an unwilling one, in the Capone case, but this time any talking he does will be to save his own freedom.

Not So High

The upswept hair style has been modified. The refusal of many women to follow the designers has brought numerous forecasts of a change in trend. The predictions were borne out last night when the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association held its advance spring show in the Hotel Sherman. The short haircut—usually 3 inches to 4½ inches—was used by most stylists.

The front and top view shows how the shorter hair is arranged in a modified upswept dress that is easier to maintain.

From the side the hair gives a neat appearance with the rolls going back as well as up.

The new spring millinery has been considered by the hairdressers.

This styling will be shown at the Midwest Beauty Trade show opening March 6.

Shorter Skirts Are Featured in Fashion Shows

Pretty legs, with lots of them showing, and colors guaranteed to make a man forget galoshes and drab winter coats enlivened two fashion shows yesterday.

As out-of-town buyers looked on, models in the morning showed sports, formal, beach, and street clothes, combining such colors as yellow and lavender and sea-green and black. This show was at the Merchandise Mart.

At night, as other thousands gathered for the opening of the spring wholesale market, the Style Creators of Chicago presented a lavish display of models and costumes at a banquet in the Stevens hotel.

Skirts as full as they were short, with circular flares, plain pleats, and accordion pleats and otherwise designed for the young and gay, gave women a chance to critically discuss their sisters' knees for the first time in years. Tight fitting jackets, three-quarter length sleeves, and more hats which sit precariously over one eye, were prominent.

The demure was as well represented as the provocative, however. An evening dress on an ash blonde with doneup hair was a direct steal from something her mother might have worn in the nineties. Of soft black chiffon, it fell off the shoulders, with a band of fine black lace to emphasize the graceful line. The bodice was full and the tiny sleeves puffed.

Another dated from the vampire era, with no shoulder straps at all, its tight clinging fuchia colored expanse following the lines of a full-some figure and ending in a cascade of tiny ruffles, vari-colored. A cyclamen colored evening dress, coy except for the brilliant color, showed a full skirt with yards of tiny ruffles and a muff of rosebuds. A chartreuse dress with rosebuds of the same cyclamen shade across the bosom was worn by another model at the same time.

Three models, one in teal blue and the others in the popular fuchsia, wearing tight fitting woolen suits, sauntered out with Scotties under their arms. A trio in beige suits, with basque jackets and pleated short skirts, and japonica hats, bags, and belts, and another trio in sheer golden wool suits with short full skirts, brought applause.

The blonde models in similar dress of sheer wool, a pale gray with tiny white stripes, showed the effect of nice hips when bolero blouses, belts, and pleated skirts combine. A brunette with them modeled a coat of narrow stripes.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Dan H. Bremerman of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Ruth, to Kirk Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert C. Taylor of Evanston. Miss Bremerman, who is a graduate of St. Mary of the Woods college, has been living in Kansas City, Mo., for the last year. Mr. Taylor was graduated from Northwestern university. The wedding will take place early in the fall.

Council of Religious Education Hears Plea for Articulate Faith

More than a thousand delegates, clergy, and laity, assembled yesterday at the Stevens hotel for the opening of the seventeenth annual meeting of the International Council of Religious Education. They represent forty-one denominations in the United States and Canada and are responsible for the church education of more than 21,000,000 members of the Protestant faith.

Dr. Justin W. Nixon of Colgate-Rochester Theological seminary declared the basic need of the church today was a perspective of the power of the Christian faith.

"If Christianity is to be a vital influence in determining the future of mankind," said Dr. Nixon, "it must have a faith as real and articulate as the faith of communism or fascism."

Charlie Chaplin Thinks Dictators So Funny He'll Be 2 of Them

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin will play a dual rôle in his new picture, "The Dictators," which will get under way March 15.

Murray Silverstone, head of United Artists studio, quoted the comedian as saying that "the present political situation as it concerns dictators makes an exceptional vehicle for comedy."

"People with an overabundance of power and dignity make themselves targets for laughter," is about the way Chaplin put it, Silverstone said.

Chaplin will speak from the screen for the first time.

Silverstone said his organization would release the Chaplin film throughout the world wherever people are still permitted to have a sense of humor."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

The blue-red lipstick shades haven't had their day by any manner of means. With certain costume colors they're almost imperative. But for days when your purplish lipstick just won't do with the colors you choose to wear it's always good to have a luscious true, natural red at hand.

One of the loveliest of the true red shades is called hibiscus, named for the Florida flower that blends so well with all of nature's lovely colors. It's a rich, rich red, with no orange or brown undertones and no trace of the blue cast that has had such a vogue this winter. You can wear it with just about everything; it's a vivid, clean red that is a suitable color accent whether you wear brown, blue, or black.

There is a rouge to match, either dry or of the cream variety, that gives the cheeks a natural suggestion of blood color. Here again, because the color is a true one, it's almost universally becoming and completely safe with most costume shades.

We had a powder blended to wear with these. Trying to evolve a spring makeup, one that would make us feel and look fresher, we found that the powder with plenty of peach in it was most successful. You've no idea how nice it is to experiment with a new makeup. With face powder of a subtle pinkish cast and true red rouge and lipstick you have a makeup that makes you look healthy and fresh. With black clothes especially we found the effect very much to our liking.

The new lipstick, by the way, is a creamy one, quite suitable for the use in cold weather. It clings and doesn't get fuzzy at the outer edge.

Good Morning!

Every so often, out of the English studios, comes a whopper of a mystery thriller . . . "Thirty-Nine Steps was one. "The Lady Vanishes" is another.

Most of the action transpires on a train, en route from Switzerland to London. The lady who vanishes on this trip is a gentle, middle-aged Miss Froy, governess—supposedly—by profession. She has had luncheon and conversation with the beautiful Iris Henderson, an American tourist, who awakens from a brief nap to discover her acquaintance nowhere to be found. Other people in the compartment—the same who had been there before Iris dropped off—declare they never have seen such a person as Miss Froy. . . . When Iris persists in her demands that a search be made for the absent, a famous brain specialist, Dr. Harz, appears to tell the maiden that she is undoubtedly suffering from aberrations caused no doubt by a blow on the head. [A flower pot had fallen—or been pushed—down on her, at the station.]

Gilbert, a gay young soldier of fortune, becomes her knight. . . . Developments are absorbing; action fast, exciting and most mystifying. . . .

The acting is all splendid. Clever shading is provided by the presence of two stodgy Englishmen interested in nothing but a cricket match and resentful of all things that interfere with their arriving at Manchester on time for the contest. . . .

I hope we have some more like it.

Is She Pretty?

The battle of words is on. One impassioned admirer says she's beautiful. Another raves about her clear, lovely complexion . . . A lovely wide-awake skin often does give the illusion of true beauty, enchanting all who see. Is yours like that? . . . Try this wonderful way to wake up your complexion—to banish that tired look with Dioxogen Cream, the cleansing and toning cream that releases active oxygen right onto your skin.

Open Tourney of Badminton Clubs Feb. 25

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of badminton clubs in the Chicago area are practicing overtime for the second annual Midwest Badminton Championship tournament, to be held at the Evanston High school on Feb. 25 and 26. Members of the woman's auxiliary of the Evanston hospital, who are badminton conscious, observed with interest the success of last year's tournament, and promptly undertook to sponsor this year's as a benefit for the hospital.

The auxiliary has given only one benefit in the three years it has been established, but the women on the benefit committee are old hands at badminton tournaments. Some of them were active in managing the national badminton championships of two years ago, which benefited the Evanston Infant Welfare. Mrs. W. Burton Ellis, who was chairman of the national event, is ticket chairman of the midwest tournament, with Mrs. John M. Scott, ticket chairman of two years ago, as a co-chairman.

Others on the committee include Mrs. Arthur W. Rogers, chairman; Mrs. Peter Mayo, Mrs. Drennan Slater, Mrs. George Bunge, and Mrs. Robert Elliott Jr.

William Lenhart Tourney Chairman.

William Lenhart is chairman of the tournament, of which W. Hamilton Wolter is the honorary chairman. The former is president of the Midwest Badminton association. Mr. Wolter has been active in restoring the sport to its present popularity in this area. The Midwest association includes Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Arkansas, Indiana, and Illinois.

Mrs. Louis E. Tilden is president of the hospital auxiliary.

The Chicago district badminton championships on Feb. 16, 17, and 18 will benefit the Chicago Commons Settlement house. The Oak Park and River Forest auxiliary of the settlement is in charge. The tournament will be held at the Concordia Teachers college gymnasium in River Forest.

Three Families Welcome Babies

The many friends that Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., and Mrs. Robert G. Walker have in common will have a triple reason for visiting St. Luke's hospital this week. The Sullivans, the Stantons, and the Walkers all are receiving congratulations on the births of children.

The daughter born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan [Betty Offield] is their second child and is to be named Carlisle, the family name of Mr. Sullivan's mother, the late Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan. Wrigley Offield, the Sullivan's 2 year old son, was named after his maternal grandfather, James R. Offield, and great-grandfather, the late William Wrigley Jr. The Sullivans and their children will go to Phoenix later this winter to visit Mrs. Wrigley. Judge Denis Sullivan is the new arrival's paternal grandfather.

A daughter, to be named Rosamond Larrabee for her mother, the former Rosamond Baker, was born on Sunday to the Stantons. The infant, their first child, is the granddaughter of the Edward Larrabee Bakers of Lake Forest, and of the Edgar Stantons of Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker [Jane McMurray] became the parents of a son, their first child, on Saturday. The baby, who will be named for his father, is the grandson of Mrs. George N. McMurray, and of the William M. Walkers.

Chicagoans will be interested in the marriage today of Mrs. Todd Catlin of Litchfield, Conn., formerly of Evanston, to Macklin Cunningham of

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 6.—Noel Coward became so very temperamental on his radio appearance here that the broadcasting company doesn't care whether he ever makes another ether appearance. . . . If Ruth Selwyn becomes Mrs. Richard Gulley [he's Anthony Eden's cousin], she'll forfeit her alimony payments. . . . Has any one reported that the William Rhinelander Stewarts expect Sir Stork in June?—Ditto the Jimmy Dunns, but not in June. . . . Walter Wanger, Joe Schenck, and Charlie Einfeld all eastbound. . . . A. C. Blumenthal off for Miami to see Peggy Fears and arrange a final settlement. Meantime, "Blumey" consoling himself with Dolores Casey and Virginia Gilmore. . . . Connie Bennett and Gilbert Roland at Palm Springs. She's rented Milton Bren's bungalow, so it appears that the Paris trip and divorce are off. Bren, incidentally, will sign with MGM as a result of the Hal Roach upheaval. . . . Paramount's "Café Society" teases Elsa Maxwell. . . . Delay of "I Take This Woman," the Hedy Lamarr-Spencer Tracy flicker, embarrasses the pre-date fan mags which are on the stands this month with pages of pictures and raves.

Carole Lombard will exit from the air to make wedding plans. . . . As a result of threats, ten players asked Warner's not to give them screen credit on "Confessions of a Nazi Spy." . . . Paramount is rushing "Gulliver's Travels" to beat Mervyn Le Roy's "Wizard of Oz" to the release date. . . . Eleanor Hansen wearing Bill Faye's engagement ring. . . . The Lee Tracys billing and cooing. . . . Did Norma Shearer join the Screen Actors' guild because her "Marie Antoinette" is a possible academy winner? . . . Their pals insist that Melba Marshall is Mrs. George Barnes. . . . Ben Bard and Roma Sargent have set the date. . . . Katharine Hepburn and Phillip Barry a bit of an item. Ditto Rosland Russell and Irv Rapper. He's directing dialog on "Juarez." . . . Town shocked by Monte Hellinger's death. He was an awfully fine boy. . . . Don't be too too surprised if Nan Grey and Jocky Jack Westrope see a parson. . . . The George [MGM] Folseys have named their incubator son George Jr.

Not since 1918 have studios waved the American flag so vigorously as they are waving it from the screen right now. In "Let Freedom Ring," when Nelson Eddy sings "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," audiences break into cheers, proving what all the war talk has done to U. S. audiences. Nazi consuls on the coast must turn in daily reports on Hollywood. . . . Ann Sheridan with Lind Hayes. . . . Eleanor Powell with Billy Seymour. . . . Jeffrey Lynn with Lya Lys. . . . Norma Shearer on Lew Ayres' arm. . . . Irene Rich with Addison Randall. . . . Kay English with Edgar Allen Woolf. . . . The Tom Browns back together again. . . . Jean Arthur's assignment to the Frank Capra picture was verified three days after it was reported here.

Best bet is that Zanuck will cancel the $12,000 penalty against the Ritz Brothers. . . . Cafe Lamaze sues Marcel Lamaze to restrain Lamaze from using his name over his new club, which has been tremendously successful. Laugh is that Café Lamaze, when Lamaze was there, was a flop. . . . Tony Martin will kill 'em at the New York Paramount when he goes in there. . . . It will be an April stork at the Parkyakarkus residence. . . . Hedy Lamar and Gene Markey getting to the "I do" stage. . . . Their pals doubt that Walter Wanger and Joan Bennett ever will go beyond the good friends stage. . . . Rave notions coming out on the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers flicker. . . . The Deanna Durbin starrer is the best she's done yet, which gives the Canadian youngster four smash hits in a row.

A Stranger in the Dark

By Frank R. Adams

(Copyright: 1939: By Frank R. Adams.)

SYNOPSIS.

The hero, pursued by Detective Mike Clancy, is stopped in a Chicago railway depot by a young man, apparently dying, who gives him his wallet and baggage check to get him his medicine. He gets the sick man's bag, then, seeing the man being carried away on a stretcher, he uses the man's ticket, and is on his way to Clovis, N. M., as John Bowman—an innocent fugitive, having taken the blame for missing bank funds to save his father. Before reaching Clovis he confesses his identity to Sheriff Tom Johnson, who boards the train to welcome John Bowman, whose father, Pete Bowman, is dying and longs to see the son separated from him by divorce since babyhood. The sheriff persuades him to take on the role. John's sister, Mary, and her fiancé, Charles Ferdinand, manager of her father's ranch, meet him in Amarillo and fly him to the ranch in Charles' plane. Mrs. Lodge, wife of Pete's physician and guest, is with them. Our hero falls instantly in love with Mary and dislikes Charles, a handsome show-off, who is the pet of Pete's sister, Matilda, who had loved Charles' father. The hero meets paralyzed old Pete Bowmen, kept a virtual prisoner by Matilda. Pete asks him to stay and help Mary, and gives him his guns. Charles is carrying on an affair with Mrs. Lodge and even Dr. Lodge knows about it. In the middle of the night Pete sends his nurse for "John" and has him open the safe and burn a paper. Next morning Charles and Mary are to be married. Detective Clancy appears after the wedding, just as word comes that old Pete has died.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

A TRAGIC WEDDING NIGHT.

Aunt Matilda was the only one who did any serious eating, although she stopped once in a while to sob ostentatiously. Mary kept her grief to herself. Charles was wary but pleasant with an occasional "It's all for the best" type of remark thrown in. Some one has to say those things, I suppose.

I did not help him any. I have to admit that I was frankly morose. The prospect which I was facing could not, by the wildest stretch of fancy, be construed as pleasant. It was true that I had persuaded Clancy to wait until after the funeral which was scheduled for the next afternoon but there was nothing particularly cheerful about that or any of the days afterwards.

Charles apologized for the lack of service. "Most of the dude ranch employés are under contract for the season only and are let out the day we close as a resort. After the funeral this building will be closed and I'll transfer the cook and the waitress over to Honeymoon House."

That wasn't a very pat remark and it went over with a dull thud.

"Will it be necessary to send out any notices tonight about the funeral?" I asked.

"No," Charles told me. "Everybody in the county knows about it by now. All Mr. Bowman's friends and two-thirds of his enemies will be here. That will make about ten enemies to one friend. We aren't very popular in our neighborhood."

I'd heard that myself.

"But," he added, "I've got fifty men I can spare from the regular work to see that nobody does any rejoicing out loud."

This was a strange feudal state that Clancy and I had been projected into—with gates closed at night in the ancient fashion of pulling up a drawbridge—with active enemies who cut wire fences and acted in general like guerrillas harassing the flanks of an organized army.

When the dinner was at last over we all, except Aunt Matilda, went outside for a few moments. It seemed less lonely where there was more room.

The new house on the hill was brilliantly lighted—for the first time, Charles said—not only from within but with concealed floodlights around the exterior which set it off like an angry jewel against the darkness of the night.

"Nothing like it in America," Charles said proudly.

He paused to gloat for a minute with one arm carelessly around his bride.

Then he said to her, "Come on, darling, let's go explore our new kingdom. Do you good to leave here for a while and forget your troubles amid new surroundings."

Mary said nothing but she went with him obediently enough.

As they started to move away the telephone inside rang.

"Perhaps we'd better wait until we find out what that is," suggested Mary.

"No, darling," declared Charles. "Tonight we're not answering any phone calls."

The clerk from the office found us.

"It's a long distance call for you, Mr. Ferdinand," he said, "from Amarillo."

"I'm not talking to anybody. You take the message."

The clerk went in. We could hear his voice on the telephone.

"Good-night, John," said Charles pleasantly. "And good-night, Mr. Clancy." He snapped his fingers. "By George, I forgot to arrange about a room for you. But take the one I've been using. It's next to Mr. Bowman's. The windows are right alongside of each other. You can see 'em from here. The entrance to my room is from the terrace outside." Charles pointed.

The clerk came out.

"The party is holding the line, Mr. Ferdinand. They asked a question I couldn't answer."

"All right. Who is calling?"

"It's the Amarillo News Express. The editor says that Mrs. Lodge shot and killed herself with her husband's revolver in a hotel there this evening. She left a note for you, sir, and the editor wants to know if you want to make any statement."

No one said anything for a moment. Mary gasped but that was all. She did not cry out.

Charles spoke finally. "Tell him no. I have no statement to make."

We paused awkwardly. Then Mary said, "I think I'll bid you all good-night."

She started for the door of the ranch house.

That aroused Charles to activity. "Wait, Mary. You can't do that. This is our wedding night."

Mary was still walking as she used the only profanity I have ever heard from her.

"It's a hell of a wedding night, that's all I've got to say."

She went inside.

"If you ask me," observed Clancy, "I think the little lady said a mouthful."

Nobody asked him.

Charles, after a moment, turned and went toward the stables without saying anything further to either of us. There was nothing much anybody could say.

The house on the hill stood still brilliantly lighted like a made-up courtesan waiting for customers.

Clancy was smoking a cigar and I lit a cigaret to keep him company while he finished it.

"I think," he said reflectively, "that this is the screwiest outfit I ever got mixed up with. What I can't figure is what you're doing here."

I didn't tell him. For one reason I didn't quite know myself.

"The young dame, now," Clancy continued, "she's all right. Reminds me kinda of my own kid only this one's older. But they're both nice. I'll show you her picture."

He reached in his pocket but at that moment the lights of the house on the hill winked out. Some one, Charles probably, had thrown a master switch that controled them. There was no illumination now but the stars and the dim radiance from the ranch house office behind us where the clerk was still doubtless working on the books.

"Never mind," said Clancy. "You can look at it later when we turn in."

"Which might as well be now," I suggested. "Shall I show you to your room?"

"No. Show me to yours. We're bunkin' together tonight."

I started to protest.

Clancy stopped me. "You didn't think I'd let you out of my sight, did you?"

"I thought you'd like to sleep alone—I do."

"So do I when I'm off duty. I'm on duty now. You got a double bed, ain't you?"

I admitted that I had.

"Then let's hit it. I'm tired. My grip's in the office."

Little Grooming Flaws Can Mar Otherwise Pictorial Effect

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A point offered for discussion by one of the popular singers of the moment, Bess Johnson, is a good one for women to ponder.

Said Miss Johnson: "Ever notice how many women look attractive from a distance or at a fleeting glance, with a close-up, however, revealing a number of flaws in their grooming? The little details that really give the suave, smooth finish are overlooked for the big wardrobe items on which possibly much attention has been fixed."

It's true that a number of women escape "well dressed" and "attractive" reputations on the very grounds Miss Johnson presents. We think of one woman, known to us, with a large date on which she was expected by her husband, for business effect, to make a splash. She bought a gorgeous lamé frock, paid a huge sum for it. The evening got around and the woman made two discoveries. The worn gold slippers didn't go with the silver lamé and, if you can believe it or not, there was such a last minute rush there was no time for a manicure. The woman's hair was done the day before and her intention was to run in late the afternoon of the dinner date and get her manicure. She couldn't get it. A good time wasn't had by the woman because she was conscious of her nails and her ill matched shoes.

Time and again women will leave the coiffure dressing until too late an hour to be accomplished. The obvious twenty minute curler work has the look of the amateur, not suave, smooth, sleek as the professional dresses the head. Looking at the other sleek heads present, the woman becomes more and more self-conscious of this neglected grooming item. Or it may be a needed massage. It may be a new corset purchase that should have been made but for which time was not allotted, so that poise was upset and general effectiveness destroyed.

Or, you'll see sometimes a magnificent mink coat, perhaps orchid corsaged, coming toward you with a woman in it whose pink slip hangs beneath her dress skirt and whose shoes could look a lot better. Or, all will go into a fur coat with no money left for any of the neat grooming details.

That's what's meant by destruction of the big impression by close-ups revealing little things out of order.

The Child Who Runs Away Has a Good Cause

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"And so she ran away from home."

Touching, tragic words. Unnecessary heartache for the girl. For the mother—well, I don't know. Perhaps only anger and chagrin, for it's more often the hard of heart that youth runs from than the sudden boiling over in anger of an unwise but tender heart. The parent hard of heart cares more about the flaunting of her authority and the appearance of things when her child leaves home on the surge of deep hurt or resentment, than she does about the tragic import of the act.

This young daughter in her teens, as the story came to me from a sympathetic neighbor, was really an unloved child. In her little girlhood she'd been nothing but an encumbrance to her parents, who wanted to live their own artistic and intellectual lives. She had been educated and cared for by other people as much as possible.

The unplanned advent of a baby brother, instead of making the warm hearted child jealous, delighted her. Here was some one to lavish her affection on. The baby boy was one of the utterly ravishing, eye-catching variety—the kind that practically stops trafic! Pride, or something, caused a flowering [but only temporary, it turned out to be later] of maternal and paternal emotion for the baby, and the daughter became just one of an audience, and head nursemaid, but still quite without jealousy.

Years passed and the child became a tall, intelligent, even talented daughter, whose craving for affection was met with indifference or criticism. And then, one day, some slight act of hers provoked a veritable flood of criticism.

"And so she ran away from home," and tried to find work in the nearest big city. Her mother, furious, calls her ungrateful after all she has done for her—running away just because she exercised a mother's prerogative and called her down. In her heart, in the deep of the night, I hope this mother knows that this act of her child's is the cumulative effect of many starved years—the last straw.

If you've loved your child and shown it through the years, been close to him or her, tried to understand, been friends through thick and thin, your son or daughter will not want to run away from home when the tumultuous late teens are reached. Try his wings—yes—with your knowledge and consent. But run away from home? No.

Vegetable in Ring Mold Has Extra Appeal

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

None of us cooks wants to concentrate so much upon the attractive appearance of food that she forgets or does injustice to flavor. Yet since a pretty arrangement greatly enhances the appetite appeal of food, in most cases, that form of service shouldn't suffer from neglect, either.

The ring mold was a fortunate invention, for it allows many foods to be served in appealing ways quite simply. A vegetable baked in a ring mold and served with a center of creamed potatoes or other vegetables is a thing lovely to look upon and by no means a disappointment to eat.

Here's a recipe which we've been sending out in mimeographed form, upon request, for a year or so. It has been so popular that I venture to say other readers will welcome it.

Green Pea Ring with Creamed Mushroom Sauce

[Serves Six]

Ring:

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup pureed cooked green peas
2 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Sauce:

1 pound fresh mushrooms
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon grated onion
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour

RING: Melt the butter in a saucepan and blend in flour. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in the pureed peas, beaten egg yolks, salt, and pepper. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold lightly but thoroughly into the sauce. Turn into a buttered ring mold and bake at 325 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Loosen around the sides of the pan with a knife and turn out on a large platter.

SAUCE: While the ring is baking wash and slice mushrooms and cook in one cup of the milk with onion, salt, and pepper for 10 to 15 minutes until tender. Blend flour with the butter and add the rest of the milk. Cook until smooth and add to boiling mixture, stirring constantly. Cook until thick. Pour into the center of the hot ring and serve immediately.

Carrot Loaf or Ring

[Serves Six]

1 tablespoon chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup bread crums
2 cups grated or ground raw carrots
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Brown onion in butter. Add flour and then milk, cooking and stirring until smooth and thickened. Mix with other ingredients and fill a buttered loaf pan or ring mold. Bake at 325 degrees until firm, 45 minutes or so. Turn out and serve with creamed asparagus and hard cooked egg, creamed peas, or other green vegetable.

E. T. Grigware, Ingerle Have Splendid Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A superb exhibition opens today at the Chicago galleries, 215 North Michigan avenue. Three painters are represented. In the first gallery hang magnificent paintings of North Carolina by Rudolph F. Ingerle and in the larger gallery are brilliant pictures of Colorado by Edward T. Grigware and a group of intriguing water colors by Nina K. Griffin.

Rudolph Ingerle and Edward Grigware are too well known to need an introduction. Both have been among Chicago's most prominent artists for years. Both are fine craftsmen and men of imagination.

Ingerle pours beauty on a canvas as though it were a rich wine; it flows from his brush in a stream of healing fire, stimulating and charming as it runs. No one has quite his touch, quite his understanding. No one can handle sun and shadows as he does; nor weave as perfect a spell with moonlight and broken clouds; nor spin as exquisite a web of mist.

In this group of Mr. Ingerle's latest paintings you will find it hard to choose a favorite. You will think: "This is the finest" and then turn and see another, and waver in your choice. Among the most beautiful, however, among those whose pattern and color, shape and feel, will haunt you, are "Sunset on the Smokies," "Luna's Song," "Nature's Symphony," "In the Gorge,' "Mountain Pattern,' and "Tranquility."

Edward Grigware does as much for the west as Ingerle does for the south. His stirring paintings are virile, colorful, magnificent. Whether he paints a sketch or a large canvas, back of each is consummate skill and great knowledge. A flair for color, an eye for composition, a sure touch, a relentless pursuit of accuracy, and an intense feeling for beauty may be read into these landscapes and western scenes. Horses, cowboys, and Indians play a part, too, in telling of the west. Never is a wrong note struck, never a flaw permitted. Brilliance, dash, vigor—these we find.

"Solitude," "The Corral," "Home on the Range," "Winter Comes," "Headin' Home," and "A2Z Ranch" are among those paintings which captivate us.

The water colors by Nina K. Griffin are delightful. They are intriguing in texture, color, and design. Brushed in broadly, each is an exquisite decoration. "Snapdragons," "Flower Arrangement," "White Tulips," one might run through the entire list and find each painting irresistible.

Wayland Alumnae.

Chicago alumnæ of Wayland academy will give a luncheon at 1 o'clock Saturday in the tearoom of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. Miss Laura MacDonald, dean of women at the academy, and Miss Marion Mitchell, national alumnæ secretary, will be special guests. Mrs. George Newton is in charge of reservations.

Fitted Jacket, Flared Skirt

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SUIT.

If you've noticed the latest suits you are aware that fitted jackets and flared skirts are important. The cardigan type of jacket is the most popular. This suit has both the skirt and jacket according to the trend. The topper is nipped in at the waistline, is high at the neck, has squared shoulders, and buttons all the way down the front. The skirt is molded at the hips and gracefully and gradually flared the rest of its length.

There are many fabric and color combinations you can create. You might use one woolen and fashion the entire ensemble of it. You might have one color woolen for the jacket and another for the skirt, or a plaid or striped jacket may be used with a plain skirt. Silks may be used, too, with each other or in combination with woolen. The sketch illustrates one tricky scheme: The light colored jacket is trimmed on collar, pockets, and sleeves with print to match that which creates the skirt. This is a particularly springlike combination.

Pastels are important for both the south and spring up north.

Style No. 3070 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material for the long sleeved jacket and the skirt if the ensemble is made of one material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Behaviorism.

Dr. David Levy of New York, psychoanalyst and son-in-law of the late Julius Rosenwald, makes a specialty of the behaviorism problems of children. One of his methods is to leave a child in a room full of toys and gadgets and watch, from an observation post, the child's activities. When a 7 year old girl was left in the room Dr. Levy, from his vantage point, watched her pick up a toy balloon and a pitcher of water. She filled the balloon with water, then emptied the water back into the pitcher. After repeating the operation several times she called in a loud voice:

"Doctor, do you really think this is going to do me any good?"

Jeepers Creepers Solution.

When asked how he got his big dark eyes the small son of a Niles Center resident, Mrs. O. T. Cook, replied: "Why, they came with my face."

Personal Touch.

Just because it's called the largest store in the world and the cathedral of stores, it doesn't mean that the service isn't personal. A woman who had ordered some merchandise found it had been delivered that same day while she was out. A note under the kitchen door read:

Your package is in the second drawer of the cupboard on the porch.

Williston Story.

Samuel Williston, authority on the law of contracts, called the Blackstone of today by his admirers, in speaking before the Harvard Law School association, told the story of Daniel Webster's last words, which were "I still live." Most people are familiar with them, he added, but not with the reason why the dying statesman uttered them—he had heard his physician tell his nurse to give him a drink every twenty minutes while he still lived.

RADIO STATION WLW, CINCINNATI, IS DENIED 500 KILOWATT PERMIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The federal communications commission today denied the application of radio station WLW, Cincinnati, for extension of its authority to operate with power of 500 kilowatts, ten times stronger than other major stations. WLW is regularly authorized to operate with power of 50,000 watts, but since early 1934 it has been using the higher power under a special temporary experimental authorization.

With the exception of Commissioner George Henry Payne, who refrained from voting, the action of the commission was unanimous. The commission's action climaxed a feud of long standing between Powell Crosley Jr., head of the Crosley Radio corporation and operator of WLW, and Payne. During the controversy the radio station retained Charles Michelson, publicity director of the Democratic national committee, as its public relations representative. There were charges that the radio station retained Michelson because of his political influence.

Spring Is Near, for Taffeta Is Swishing In

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Listen to the swish of taffeta! Besides being the most provocative of feminine fabrics, it is also the most effective, especially for spring. Stunning new scarfs, wide, square and with fringe two inches deep all around the edge, come in hauntingly lovely French combinations of unusual color, pale pinks, citron greens, copper with giddy plaids and square checks.

Taffeta plaid hats wide of brim, also fringe trimmed, are matched with huge bags to carry smartly under the elbow. Taffeta petticoats come vivid with stripes and daringly extreme color contrast. These peek out from under suit skirts or the wider cut skirts of dark daytime dresses.

Promised for that early spring rush are crisp little blouses of taffeta, in small, precise checks, in stripes, pastel one-colors and in plaids. These are grand tops for those otherwise plain cut suit skirts and just the right accent for trim tailored jackets. Some will be simple, others will have frills, ruchings or cascading jabots or unusual large collars to pull out and wear over the lapels of the jacket or coat. Dark, severely plain wool coats will have gay taffeta linings for a surprising contrast or big Frenchy bows to be tied under the chin or tucked in the vee line of the suit or coat.

But the taffetas that will cause no little buying are the new nightgowns fashioned of pastels and small floral patterned taffeta. Bodices cut with all the smoothness of a high fashion dinner dress, skirts flared and most of the sleeves short and puffed, they present some very tempting buys for all. A lot of them could easily double for a dance dress so the present collections are going out fast.

The Housewife

Last summer we discovered some grand pillow slips that looked like cotton or linen, but were actually made of cellulose and were so inexpensive that you could throw them away when they became soiled, thus saving on the laundry. Now, we find that practical kitchen aprons are manufactured of the same material.

They are strong, smooth, and amply large and six of them come in a package. Throw them away when they get dirty. They are ideal for use in a trailer, for camps, and later for picnics. And they are, of course, not expensive.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The difference between an expert and a master is not always perceptible. In most hands the play of both is characterized simply by extreme soundness and, whenever possible, safety. Every so often, however, a hand occurs in which the master applies some little twist of special treatment that raises him above the level of the expert. Note the two methods of play employed in the following hand, which occurred in a recent match-point duplicate game:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

At one table where the declarer, South, was a very good player, but not quite a master, West opened the jack of spades and the play proceeded as follows: Dummy's queen was put up immediately. This was a vital play inasmuch as declarer had only one sure entry, the spade ace, and would have to try to preserve it, in case the club finesse went wrong and West could hold up the club king. As will be seen, that condition obtained. West allowed the club ten to hold and if declarer had not retained his spade ace he would never have been able to bring home his long club suit. On a second club lead East showed out, so declarer went up with the ace and cleared the suit at the third round. West continued spades. Declarer won, cashed the rest of his clubs and then collected the ace of diamonds and the ace-king of hearts. In all, he took eleven tricks, which turned out to be only an average match-point score.

At another table, where a nationally known master sat South, the first two plays went exactly the same, that is the spade queen held the first trick and the club ten then was led. But here, when West held up his club king, the declarer made a play which was highly imaginative and yet completely sound. He laid down the diamond ace from dummy before trying a second club finesse! The safety of this play must be apparent: Declarer was going to finesse again against the club king and, if he lost, he would lose to West, who could not attack the diamond queen. [The value of the play will be apparent in a moment.] The second club finesse lost to West and, as was to be expected, he returned a spade. It would have taken near clairvoyance on West's part to have returned the diamond jack after taking the club king, but we will see what the failure to make that return led to.

Declarer won the spade return and rattled off every club. When his last club was led his holding was the heart jack, the Q-8 of diamonds, and the three of clubs. West's holding at this point did not matter, inasmuch as he never had a heart stopper. Dummy still had the A K 8 of hearts and the five of diamonds, and discarded the last named card on declarer's club. East, however, did not find it so simple to discard. His four cards were the 10 7 6 of hearts and the king of diamonds. What could he do? If he let go a heart, dummy's three hearts would become good. But obviously his discard of the diamond king [proper under the circumstances since his partner might hold the queen] was just as fatal to the defense. Declarer now could cash the diamond queen and eight before leading to dummy's heart ace. Thus, the master play of cashing the diamond ace before taking the second club finesse [Vienna coup] resulted in twelve tricks and a top on the board for this particular North-South team.

Of course, West could have salvaged a trick by returning the diamond jack after winning with his club king, but, as I have said, how could he possibly tell [a] that East had the diamond king or [b] that failure to lead a diamond would result in its loss?

Edwin S. Smith Won't Give Opinion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Edwin S. Smith, a member of the National Labor Relations board, refused to condemn the sit-down strike as a labor weapon when questioned recently by members of the house appropriations committee, release of the record of secret hearings revealed today.

Edwin S. Smith.

Smith is being opposed for renomination to the board by the American Federation of Labor, which charges Smith with bias in favor of the C. I. O.

Chairman J. Warren Madden and Donald W. Smith, the other members, said they regarded the sit-down strike as illegal but added they saw no reason why participation in such a seizure of property should bar a worker from future employment by the employer against which the sit-down strike was used.

Refuses to Be Specific.

Edwin S. Smith, however, refused to be specific when the committee members pressed him for an opinion of the sit-down strikes. Members of the board were before the committee requesting an appropriation of $3,229,000 for the coming fiscal year. The committee recommended an appropriation of $3,189,000.

Edwin S. Smith declared that the legality of the sit-down strike was not a matter for determination by the labor board but by the courts.

"In the absence of a court decision, you have no feeling yourself in the matter?" asked Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth [Rep., Mass.].

Acknowledges Public Opinion.

"I think that the sit-down strike is a pretty flexible term," Smith replied. "My own feeling is that the labor movement has responded wisely to the pressure of public opinion which condemned the wholesale sit-downs as a method of protest. I think it would have been very unwise to continue sit downs on an extensive scale in the face of public opinion that was running against it, regardless of what the legal situation in a particular jurisdiction was."

Representative Joe Starnes [Dem., Ala.] then remarked that he was still at a loss concerning the attitude of the board.

Speaks with Caution.

"I speak with a certain caution in the matter," Smith remarked. "There was a time when merely belonging to a trade union was in itself an illegal act."

Coming to the aid of his fellow member, Chairman Madden asserted that any public impression that the board approved or condoned sit-down strikes was false. Donald W. Smith, the other member of the board, said he shared the views of the chairman.

A JUDGE IS AS OLD AS HE FEELS; HE FEELS ONLY 25; HE IS ONLY 25

A man is just as old as he feels. And when he sits up there hearing cases in Circuit court, Judge Elmer Medlin feels as if he's only 25. It isn't because he gets up early, or diets, or gets lots of sunshine. It's because there were only 25 candles on his last birthday cake.

Judge Medlin.

Judge Medlin is the city judge of Carbondale. Now that he's sitting in Circuit court here, he is said to be the youngest judge of a court of record in the state. But offenders who come before him will do well to remember this: Young as he is, he has heard all the old ones.

VOTE TO INDICT ROAD ENGINEER ON FRAUD CHARGE

William Wallace, 36 years old, an assistant district engineer of the state highway department for twelve years, was reported named yesterday by the grand jury in an embezzlement true bill. Wallace is accused of obtaining nearly $2,000 by swindling property owners with whom he negotiated in behalf of the state for highway rights of way. Wallace, who lives at 419 South Harvard avenue, Villa Park, surrendered Friday.

MARTIN CARRIES FIGHT ON LEWIS, REDS TO COURT

Seeks Complete Freedom for Auto Union.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Homer Martin, the elected president of the United Automobile Workers of America, took to court today his fight to free the union from communism and from the dictatorship of John L. Lewis, head of the parent C. I. O.

He filed an injunction petition in the Circuit court charging that Lewis and others conspired to destroy the U. A. W. A. so the C. I. O. could appropriate its membership, funds, and property.

He further accused a second group led by Walter Reuther, president of the Detroit west side U. A. W. A. local, with conspiring to give the communist party control of the international union.

Hearing Next Tuesday.

Judge Guy E. Miller signed an order requiring the defendants to show cause on Feb. 14 why he should not issue an injunction restraining the C. I. O. and the U. A. W. A. faction it supports from acting as the governing body of the auto workers' union.

Martin charged in his petition that the dictatorial and communistic conspiracies caused the collapse of his negotiations with the Ford Motor company. He said they broke a tentative agreement under which Ford would have recognized the U. A. W. A. as bargaining agent for its members, and strikes called by the auto workers' union in various Ford plants would have been settled.

Martin made public in the petition for the first time the details of his tentative agreement with the Ford company. When negotiations were broken off the plan included the following:

Ford would recognize and deal with the U. A. W. A. as the bargaining agent for its members. All workers involved in discrimination cases pending before the National Labor Relations board would return to work.

All members of the U. A. W. A. on strike against the Ford company would be reinstated without discrimination. U. A. W. A. shop committees would be set up in Ford plants for collective bargaining.

Two Unions Function.

As a result of the fight among leaders for control of the union the U. A. W. A. has been completely split. The organization is now operating as a dual union with a president for each faction. Each side has called separate conventions to elect officers and an executive board.

When Martin's foes on the executive board tried to oust him he suspended them. They promptly suspended him and named R. J. Thomas president.

MISS ALLENBY, FOUND IN CHICAGO, TO STAY ON JOB, SHE DECLARES

Miss Viviane Eugenie Allenby, 19 years old, who disappeared from a New York nursing school Jan. 18 and was found Sunday working in Chicago as a nursemaid, intends to stay in Chicago, she said yesterday.

Miss Allenby, daughter of James E. Allenby, Bronx industrial engineer and cousin of the late Viscount Allenby, British war hero, left the nursing school after a reprimand. While the police of several states searched for her she came to Chicago by bus and acquired a job as nurse in the home of Max Fuhrer at 5038 Drexel boulevard.

"I'm staying right here," she said. "I have a job, and I like it. My father telephoned me last night, when he heard where I was, and wanted to come for me, but I told him I wanted to stay."

SUPREME COURT TO RULE ON BAR AGAINST C. I. O.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Supreme court will review the long fight between Mayor Frank Hague and the C. I. O. over the latter's attempt to conduct public meetings in Jersey City.

The high tribunal agreed today to take jurisdiction and ordered that an injunction issued against Hague and other Jersey City officials by the federal Circuit court of Philadelphia be inoperative pending a final decision. Arguments were set for Feb. 27.

Hague appealed from the injunction, which was granted to the C. I. O. and the American Civil Liberties union.

CITY SLICKERS FEAR FARMERS NOW, IT SEEMS

It used to be that the farmers would come to town and be fleeced by the city slickers. The farmers who dispose of their wares at the South Water street market, however, know some tricks themselves. After a number of vigorous protests from the market men, the city council yesterday authorized City Sealer James O'Keefe to establish a branch of his office at 1431 South Aberdeen street to test scales and measures and stop the farmers' allegedly sharp practices.

SOUTH SIDE GOLDEN GLOVERS BATTLE TONIGHT

INDIANA BEATS OHIO, 46-34; TAKES BIG TEN LEAD

ILLINOIS WHIPS IOWA, 34-26, TO TIE FOR SECOND

Purdue Turns Back Wisconsin, 39-31.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Indiana snatched the Western conference basketball leadership from Ohio State tonight by defeating the Buckeyes, 46 to 34, before 6,000.

James Hull.

The Buckeyes, who had held the lead for two nights after knocking Minnesota off the top, suffered their second Big Ten defeat in seven games. Indiana, whose only defeat was at the hands of Ohio State, ran up 12 points to the Buckeyes' 5 in the first six minutes and led at the half, 23 to 12. Forward Paul Armstrong's follow-in shot in the first minute gave the Hoosiers a lead which they never relinquished.

Hull Gets 14 Points.

Individual scoring honors went to the two captains, with Jim Hull of Ohio, leading scorer of the conference, shading Ernest Andres of Indiana, 14 to 13. Hull was held to one field goal and three free throws in the first half by the close guarding of Bob Dro but broke loose after the intermission to toss in four more field goals and another free throw. Andres got six field goals and one free throw.

Hull's bombardment touched off a Buckeye rally midway in the second period which brought the visitors to within 7 points of the Hoosiers at 38 to 31.

ILLINOIS, 34; IOWA, 26

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—With Pick Dehner setting the pace, Illinois scored a 34 to 26 victory over Iowa tonight. The lanky Illini center scored 17 points, half of his team's total. It was Illinois' fifth conference victory and gave it a tie for second place in the Big Ten standings with Ohio State and Minnesota.

The Illini won without Bill Hapac, star forward, who is in the hospital with influenza. Joe Frank took his place.

Illinois set a fast pace from the start. It took a 3 to 0 lead, which Iowa tied. After the score had been tied at 6 and then at 7 all the Illini took a lead which they held through the remainder of the game. They were in front at the half 22 to 13.

Iowa started a rally at the opening of the second half which brought it within five points of a tie, but Dehner counted a basket and free throw. Lind and Stephens made the only other Hawkeye points while Henry Sachs got a basket and Frank a free throw for Illinois.

The attendance was 5,888. Score:

PURDUE, 39; WISCONSIN, 31

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Purdue gained a .500 rating in the Western conference basketball race tonight by defeating Wisconsin, 39 to 31. The Boilermakers, who were in front all the way except for a few moments early in the first period, showed the effects of their three weeks layoff in the lack of a consistent attack.

Leading at the half, 22 to 11, largely due to the all around work of Capt. Gene Anderson and the free throwing ability of Fred Beretta, the Boilermakers were given a real scare as the second half got under way. One hand shots by Smith and Dupee whittled down the Boilermakers' lead and midway of the period the Purdue margin was only 32 to 27.

DE PAUL, LOYOLA GO THROUGH LAST WORKOUTS TODAY

Demons Lose Gainer for Tomorrow's Battle.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The basketball teams of Loyola and De Paul universities, rivals in tomorrow night's intracity battle in the Chicago Stadium, will hold their first workouts on the scene of the game today. De Paul will take the floor of the big west side building first, going on between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon, while Loyola's Ramblers will work out between 7 and 9 o'clock tonight.

De Paul's chances received quite a blow yesterday when it was learned that Elmer Gainer, 6 foot 6 inch Blue Demon center, suffered a dislocated shoulder in Friday night's losing contest against Butler in the Madison street armory. Gainer's place will be taken by Chet Tollstam, second year player, who will match a height of 6 feet 2 inches against the 6 feet 9 inches of Mike Novak, Loyola's star pivot man. Coach Tom Haggerty said yesterday that Tollstam played the best game of his career in De Paul's victory in Toledo Saturday.

Loyola Risks Perfect Record.

Loyola enters the game with a record of fourteen straight victories and no defeats, a performance which leaves it the only unbeaten major squad in the central states. The Ramblers have scored intersectional triumphs over such squads as Southern Methodist, Santa Clara, City College of New York, Arkansas State, and Villanova, despite the fact that they have one of the smallest squads in the country, only nine players being listed on the roster.

The scoring talents of Novak and of Wibs Kautz, the latter holding all pointmaking records for his school, are well known. In the two preceding games conducted by the Catholic Youth organization between the two teams, Kautz has scored 18 and 20 points, respectively, for a total of 38, while Novak has counted 29.

Coach Lennie Sachs doubtless will stress the need of watching Bob Neu, Demons' star forward who established a new De Paul record last year.

Prep Teams Open Show.

The collegiate game will be preceded by a preliminary contest between two of the best teams in the Catholic High School league. They are Mount Carmel, winner of the St. George holiday tournament the last two years, and St. Philip, beaten only twice in thirteen starts this season. This game will begin at 8 o'clock.

Tickets for the two games, which are selling at 75 cents, $1, $1.50, and $2, may be obtained at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street; Bond's clothing store, 65 West Madison street, and at Loyola and De Paul universities.

Massin Is 2d in New York Silver Skates

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The first three skaters to finish in the champion of champions race at the New York Daily News Silver Skates meet, in Madison Square Garden were disqualified tonight and first place in the 2 mile test was given to John Roukema of Paterson, N. J.

Vincent Bozich of Detroit, Don Johnson of St. Paul, and Kenneth Bartholomew of Minneapolis crossed the finish line in order in a blanket finish. After long deliberation, the judges ruled all three were guilty of pushing on the turns and awarded the prize to the 20 year old Roukema, who won the senior Silver Skates race in last year's meet. Johnson won the big test last year.

Armin Massin, Chicago Tribune Silver Skates winner, was awarded second place and Joe Fox of Boston, third. Delbert Lamb of Milwaukee, Jim McCane of St. Louis, and Dick Cover of St. Paul were the other starters in the picked field. The time for the race was 7:21.3.

Dick Werner of Haledon, N. J., won the senior men's 2 mile race, coming from behind to defeat Herman Van Putten and Ed Quimby of New York in 6:40.3.

Pitt Reinstates Baseball as Major Varsity Sport

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The University of Pittsburgh will resume baseball this spring as an intercollegiate sport after a 14 year lapse. The team will be coached by Ralph Mitterling, who played with the Philadelphia Athletics in the pre-war period. It will open its season with a southern invasion during Easter vacation, playing Georgetown, Duke twice, and South Carolina.

Cummings, Auto Race Driver, Is Hurt in Crash

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—(AP)—William [Wild Bill] Cummings, 32, winner of the 1934 Indianapolis 500 mile automobile race, was injured severely tonight when his car left U. S. Highway 29, southeast of here, plunged through a guard rail, and overturned in Lick creek.

Cummings, an automobile salesman here, was taken to a hospital, where physicians said his condition was critical.

At the hospital it was said he had suffered fractures of the skull, both legs, an arm, and a hip. Cummings lives near here with his wife and an 8 year old daughter. He was en route home at the time of the accident. A passing motorist saw the car in the creek bed with its headlights still burning and extricated Cummings.

PLAN TO REOPEN RACE MEETING AT GULFSTREAM

Builder of Track Calls Cancelation 'Incorrect.'

Hollywood, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—John C. Horning, youthful president of Gulfstream Park which closed suddenly today, announced tonight arrangements were being made to reopen in a few days.

The race track, the third in the Miami area and operating simultaneously with Hialeah Park, was closed with the announcement the meeting was off just before the regular card of eight races was to start.

Horning, however, said the reported cancelation of the meeting by John F. Letendre, managing director, was incorrect.

To Open as Soon as Possible.

"We are arranging to reopen in a few days—as soon as possible," the 28 year old builder and track president stated. "While the first announcement was that the meeting had been canceled it really was nothing more than a postponement."

It was said that today's difficulties resulted from inability to obtain change money required for mutuel operations but "just whose fault this was isn't known at the moment." When a call was made on the bank for the money it was learned that it wasn't available, and without mutuels funds the track was unable to start its regular races, an associate of Horning explained.

Letendre made his announcement in the racing secretary's office after a conference with Horning and Joel Hurt, vice president.

Told to Sell No More Tickets.

"Gentlemen, I have bad news for you," he said. "The meeting is off. That's all the information I have."

The word was broadcast over the loud-speaker system to the patrons already on hand and the men at the gates were instructed to sell no more tickets.

Horning, as a contractor, had taken over the project when the original promoters were unable to go through with it and pushed it to completion within two months, living in an automobile trailer on the grounds and working literally day and night. He put up most of the $1,400,000 required to build the plant and get it ready to open.

15,000 See Track Open.

Some 15,000 attended the opening last Wednesday, when Sonja Henie, skating star, snipped a ribbon to open the racing strip, but after that the attendance fell off to a few thousand. It averaged about one-fourth the attendance of Hialeah Park. Last Saturday Gulfstream's pari-mutuel handle was $81,922, compared with $517,939 at Joseph E. Widener's Hialeah track.

Gulfstream officials said from the start that they were "conflicting but not competing" with Hialeah. Their horses mostly were a class unable to meet the strict conditions at Hialeah and their admission prices were lower.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's south side will begin its Golden Gloves campaign tonight when the first of 200 elimination bouts will be held in White City. After six nights of fighting, this week and next, a team of eight will emerge to represent that section in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium on Feb. 27 and 28 and March 1.

The west side eliminations, which began last Wednesday, will be continued tomorrow and will wind up on Thursday, when the sectional champions will be decided. The northwest tournament will be held next week and the north the following week. All these teams will join the forty-seven out of town squads in the Tournament of Champions.

They're Fighters Out South.

Tonight's bouts will give south side fight fans their first line on what their neighborhood favorites of this year can do in a big tournament. In other seasons this section sent uniformly strong teams into the Stadium, where the boys acquitted themselves well against the finest amateurs in the country. From various south side clubs and gymnasiums come reports that this year's crop of fighters has shown considerable promise in neighborhood shows.

The Golden Gloves preliminaries are always entertaining to the crowd, even though some of the novices are not quite up to par on ring generalship. The fans like to see what a boy will do when he crawls through the ropes for the first time in his career. Sometimes the career ends right there. In other cases, the boy goes on to distinguish himself in big time competition. In any event, the spectators see a performance that is entirely spontaneous and often unpredictable.

It's a Long, Long Trail

The south side field is so large that the boys who win tonight will face a long road before they reach the Stadium. There will be more fighting in White City tomorrow and Thursday, after which the boxers will have an interlude until next week, when bouts on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday will reduce the original field of 300 to one in each weight class, open and novice.

Every one of these six nights in White City should be packed with interesting moments if last week's happenings on the west side can be taken as an indication. The fans saw just about everything boxing has to offer in the way of gameness. There were plenty of surprises and amusing incidents, too.

The officials, clerks and others who

TARPON'S HABITS ARE STUDIED BY SCIENTIFIC GROUP

Seek Further Facts on Florida Game Fish.

BY BOB BECKER.

How and where tarpon spawn, whether these fish travel very far from their "home waters," the puzzling question of the tarpon migration around the Gulf, and other important facts about this great salt water game fish may be revealed shortly if the work of an eastern expedition in Florida waters meets with success.

The New York museum and the Peabody museum of Yale university are coöperating on a tarpon investigation to get the life story of the "silver king," considered by many salt water fishermen to be the sportiest fighter in Florida waters.

Dr. Breder Heads Group.

On a recent visit to the waters around Useppa Island, on the Florida west coast, one of the most famous tarpon fishing spots in the United States, we met the men who now are at work down there tagging tarpon and studying their habits.

Dr. C. M. Breder, acting director of the New York aquarium is the head of the group. Working with him is M. B. Bishop of the Peabody museum. S. C. Dunton, the official photographer of the New York aquarium, was on hand making a photographic record of the work. The party is making its headquarters on the island owned by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, the novelist, who has built a laboratory for the workers.

Ask Anglers to Coöperate.

Dr. Breder said that already they have obtained some interesting data about the travels of tarpon in the waters around Useppa Island. Last year they tagged several hundred specimens ranging in size from small immature fish about 12 inches long to some that weighed around 100 pounds. One 48 pound fish which was caught and tagged in Boca Grande pass [the mecca for many northern anglers during May and June] was hooked and landed several months later in the Myakka river, which is approximately twelve miles from the pass.

Breder and Bishop will be at the Boca Grande pass during April and May when the tarpon fishermen will hold their biggest fishing parties. They hope to tag every fish that will be returned to the water. If the fishermen who will be in the pass during the spring months [when it's possible to hook and land several tarpon a day] will coöperate, the scientists should be able to tag several hundred of these big game fish before they are turned back unharmed.

May Give Travel Clues.

These tagged fish may give important clues on the question of the tarpon's travels around the Gulf. It is believed today that many of these fish travel up the coast of Florida and then around the Gulf every summer. The scientists hope to prove this by getting tags on many of the larger specimens.

Chicago fishermen who plan on battling the tarpon around Useppa Island during the spring months will be asked to coöperate with the New York aquarium-Peabody museum scientists by permitting these men to attach tags to all tarpon which the anglers do not want to kill and keep.

ST. AMBROSE TO PLAY MONMOUTH IN COLISEUM

St. Ambrose college of Davenport, Ia., leader of the Iowa conference, will play Monmouth college Saturday night in the Coliseum. The Hawkeye five was a quarter-finalist in the intercollegiate tournament at Kansas City last season.

The St. Ambrose-Monmouth game will supply the collegiate competition on another triple-header in the Wabash avenue arena. In the main game, the La Salle Hotel Cavaliers will meet Tulsa in a Missouri Valley A. A. U. league battle.

Three members of the St. Ambrose squad, Forwards Tony Sacco, Jack Hughes, and Art Moore are from Chicago.

Monmouth, now battling for top place in the Midwest conference, will play Beloit on Friday night in a game that will have important bearing on the title.

BROOKLYN PAYS YANKS $50,000 FOR 3 ROOKIES

Dodgers Get 2 Pitchers and Catcher.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—By the way of providing lobby talk for the National league magnates who began gathering here today to attend tomorrow's scheduled meeting, the Brooklyn Dodgers consummated a deal with the world champion Yankees of the American league.

Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Brooklyn club, announced he had purchased Pitchers Kemp Wicker and Jack La Rocca and Catcher Chris Hartje from the Yankee chain. The price, MacPhail said, was "roughly $50,000 with no discount." Yankee officials remained silent on the cash consideration.

Wicker Up Once.

Wicker, 30 years old, is the only member of the trio who owns a big league record. He was with the Yankees for a stretch in 1937, winning seven and losing three games. That same year he won seven and lost two for the Newark Bears, a unit of the Yankee string. Last season he was with Kansas City, also a Yankee subsidiary, finishing with a record of nine victories and the same number of defeats.

La Rocca and Hartje also are Kansas City graduates. La Rocca made a late start last season because of a lame arm, his final record being six triumphs and five defeats. Hartje batted .289 for the Blues. Both will be 25 next month.

La Rocca and Wicker will be instructed to report Feb. 15 at Hot Springs, Ark., where the Dodger mound corps will be subjected to two weeks of preliminary training. Hartje will report March 1 when the entire Dodger squad begins its spring drill at Clearwater, Fla.

Lazzeri Begs Off.

The Dodgers wanted Tony Lazzeri, one time Yankee and last season a utility player with the Cubs to report for the preliminary work at Hot Springs, but the Italian veteran begged off.

When Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, arrived today he was confronted by a report that he would sever his present connections and hook up with MacPhail in the purchase of the Brooklyn club.

Rickey termed the rumor "wild talk with no element of truth." He said that MacPhail doesn't need any help, that he has his hands full with his duties as a Cardinal official and that he has no desire to abandon St. Louis as his home.

Discuss Centennial.

The rumor was given wide circulation after it had been announced that Branch Rickey Jr. had been enrolled as a member of the Brooklyn club's office staf.

Besides adopting the 1939 schedule tomorrow, the National league magnates expect to discuss details incidental to the observation of baseball's centennial this summer.

OVERLIN WINS FOURTH VERDICT OVER AL QUAILL

Ken Overlin, one of the cleverest middleweights in the game, won a decision over Al Quaill, Pittsburgh slugger, in a ten round return bout in Marigold Gardens last night. It was Overlin's eighth straight Chicago victory and the fourth in three years he has scored over Quaill.

Quaill's best round was the fifth. He scored with two rights to the jaw which made Overlin hang on. Quaill followed up with a left to the jaw which caused his Decatur foe to wince.

Overlin left the ring with the only mark received in the struggle—a cut lip suffered in the second round.

Overlin weighed 161¼ pounds and Quaill 163¼. A crowd of 1,374 grossed $1,652.

In the semi-final set for five rounds, Verle Davis, 1938 Kankakee sectional Golden Gloves lightweight winner, scored a four round technical knockout over Armando Santiago. Santiago was down once each in the third and fourth rounds.

Marion Mosley, Burnside, Ill., heavyweight, defeated Mike Adler, former Catholic Youth organization champion, in a four round preliminary.

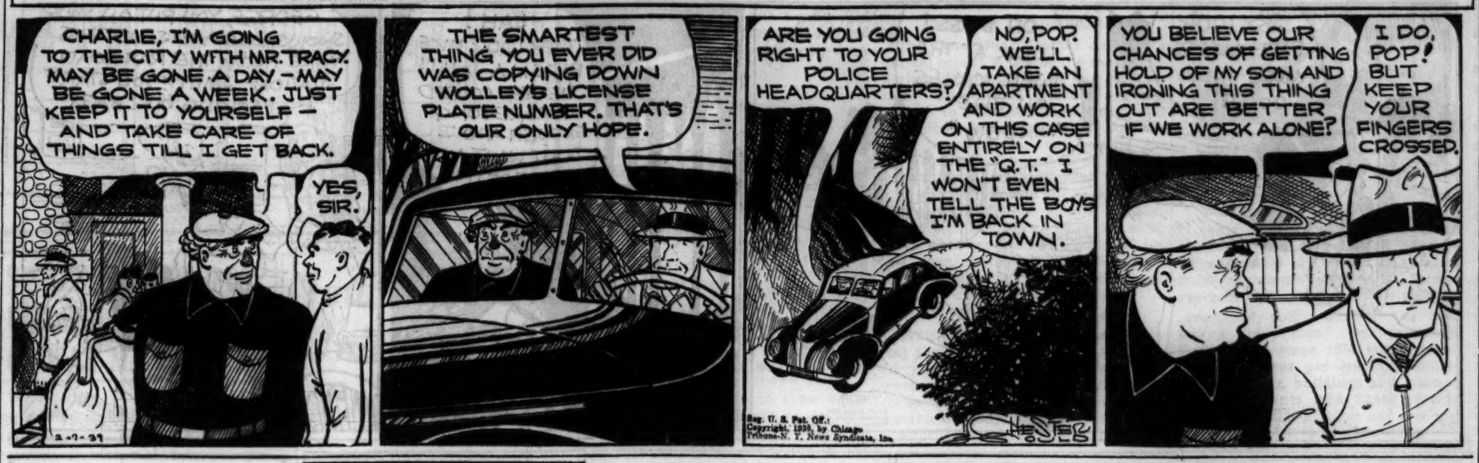
In the preliminaries George Nyberg, Port Arthur, Ont., 148 pounder, whipped Johnny Williams, and Johnny Rock, Chicago, 153 pounder, defeated Billy Martin.

The Coliseum Boxing club yesterday was granted Feb. 16 or Feb. 23 on which to hold its next show. . . . Davey Day, Chicago boxer, has refused an offer to meet Maxie Berger in the New York Hippodrome Feb. 17 to pave the way for a contemplated match with Henry Armstrong for the latter's welterweight title in International Amphitheater March 2. . . . Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois athletic commission left yesterday afternoon for New York, where he will attend the fifteen round rematch between Fred Apostoli, San Francisco middleweight, and Billy Conn, Pittsburgh light heavyweight, on Friday.

Fred Kohler will promote a wrestling program in Shrine temple, Peoria, Feb. 17. . . . Pat Murphy, who was suspended for ninety days after his unsatisfactory wrestling exhibition with King Levinsky in the Park Casino Jan. 11, was reinstated yesterday. . . . Joe Lubin and Marion Mosley, Chicago heavyweights, have been matched for a four round supporting event to the eight rounder between Tony Musto and Clarence Brown in White City Friday. Lubin slugged toe to toe with Musto during a two round workout in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday.

Wladyslaw Talun, giant Polish wrestler, is booked to meet Angelo Lorenzo in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue, tonight. Phil Gruber faces Manuel Cortez, George Mack meets Gene Almon, John Doehring opposes Jack Mason, and Joe Mitchell tackles Ed Van Herrick. . . . Johnny Duncan, Savoy Athletic club, and Ray Cannick, also of Chicago Heights, with Wendell White, another Savoy standard bearer, in two contests of five rounds heading the show in Savoy arena, 47th street and South parkway, this evening. . . . Babe Kasaboski and Jack Hagen have been added to the mat program in the Rand Boys' club tomorrow. Jack Claybourn and Jack Conley are wind-up principals. F. M.

DICK TRACY—Checking Out



CHARLIE, I'M GOING TO THE CITY WITH MR. TRACY. MAY BE GONE A DAY, - MAY BE GONE A WEEK. JUST KEEP IT TO YOURSELF — AND TAKE CARE OF THINGS TILL I GET BACK.
YES, SIR.
THE SMARTEST THING YOU EVER DID WAS COPYING DOWN WOLLEY'S LICENSE PLATE NUMBER. THAT'S OUR ONLY HOPE.
ARE YOU GOING RIGHT TO YOUR POLICE HEADQUARTERS?
NO, POP. WE'LL TAKE AN APARTMENT AND WORK ON THIS CASE ENTIRELY ON THE "Q.T." I WON'T EVEN TELL THE BOYS I'M BACK IN TOWN.
YOU BELIEVE OUR CHANCES OF GETTING HOLD OF MY SON AND IRONING THIS THING OUT ARE BETTER IF WE WORK ALONE?
I DO, POP! BUT KEEP YOUR FINGERS CROSSED.

Michigan Ring Chief Throws in the Towel

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Climaxing a hullabaloo resounding since Tony Galento's quick knockout of Natie Brown last Friday night, Chairman Frank MacDonell of the Michigan state athletic board of control resigned tonight.

A curt "the job isn't worth the embarrassment it has caused me" was MacDonell's retort to critics whose demands for a legislative investigation ultimately brought intervention today from Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Ever since Galento finished off Brown, veteran Washington, D. C., heavyweight, in four rounds, a tumult has raged. Dispute foamed in a manner that would do credit to Galento's best beer in his Orange, N. J., bar, and finally Gov. Fitzgerald said he would take action to remove MacDonell "in view of what has happened to boxing in Detroit recently."

Governor Gives Two Reasons.

The governor said he referred both to the Galento-Brown match and the abbreviated ring career of Jimmy Adamick, Midland, Mich., heavyweight, now partially blind. Adamick was forced to quit fighting after injuries suffered in a fight with Roscoe Toles of Detroit last fall. For each instance State Representative John F. Hamilton of Detroit has demanded an investigation by the legislature.

Hamilton had demanded a general investigation of all professional boxing in Michigan, but late tonight he took the edge off the situation by announcing he would abandon his attempt at inquiry.

"Something must be done for boxing in this state," he said, "and I think at least part of it has been done in the resignation of MacDonell."

MacDonell has threatened Hamilton with a libel suit.

MacDonell a Murphy Appointee.

Up and down ten times before the knockout, Brown subsequently was barred from Michigan rings at MacDonell's order. MacDonell also ruled that Galento, the National Boxing association's No. 1 challenger to Champion Joe Louis, could not fight again in Michigan until he had defeated a fighter "of importance."

Discussing the Galento-Brown and Toles-Adamick fights, Gov. Fitzgerald said "either of these episodes is sufficient justification for seeking a change in the control of boxing in Michigan.

"Michigan's standing in the sports world must not be brought into question in this manner if we can stop it," the governor remarked. "A change in the control of boxing would have worked out naturally in May, but it seems this is as good a time as any to begin it."

MacDonell's term would have expired May 13.

Denton Defeats M'Court Twice in Title Cue Meet

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Tiff Denton of Kansas City defeated Charley McCourt of Cleveland twice today in National Three Cushion Billiards tournament matches, 50-28, and 50-20. The first match went 64 innings. Denton's run of eight, in the second game, was high. The second game went 47 innings.

LAYTON BEATS CHAMACO.

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Johnny Layton earned an even break tonight when he defeated Joe Chamaco of Mexico City, 50 to 48, in 61 innings. Chamaco downed Layton 50 to 26 in 37 innings in the afternoon match. Both are representing New York in the tourney.

Chamaco held the lead for forty-one innings tonight before Layton pulled even at 27-all. It was Chamaco's second defeat in twelve starts and Layton's fifth triumph in twelve.

REISELT, JACKSON DIVIDE.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia and Clarence Jackson of Detroit labored through 122 innings today and emerged with an even split. Jackson, with two high runs of five, won the afternoon game, 50 to 45, in 68 innings, but lost the night match, 50 to 39, in 54 innings, despite two high runs of seven.

McCOURT MEETS BOZEMAN.

N. U. SWIMMERS MEET WISCONSIN AND IOWA TEAMS

Northwestern university's swimming team, victorious in two meets this year, will resume competition against Wisconsin on Thursday and Iowa on Saturday. Both meets will be in Patten gymnasium.

The outcome of these meets will have a strong bearing on the Wildcats' Big Ten championship hopes. Iowa, which finished third in the conference last year, has a veteran team and a victory for the Purple would enhance its title chances.

Although the loss of Capt. Herb Wolfson, who was operated on for appendicitis last week, will weaken the Wildcats in the dash events, they will be strengthened in the distance races by the addition of Irv McCaffery, sophomore and former Lane Tech star. McCaffery, a midyear student, became eligible this week. He is outstanding in the 220 and 440 yard free style events.

ARRANGE GOLF OUTING IN BILOXI FOR CHICAGOANS

The Chicago District Golf association has completed arrangements for a golf outing to the Edgewater Gulf hotel in Biloxi, Miss. The party will leave on March 22 over the Illinois Central railroad, arriving the following day in time for a round of golf. A thirty-six hole tournament will be held during the next two days, eighteen holes to be played each day. The fourth day will be open for general play, the party leaving that night in time to reach Chicago on the 27th. Details can be obtained from the Chicago District Golf association's headquarters in the La Salle hotel.

HARVARD, YALE POLOISTS TO RIDE CHICAGO HORSES

League Players' Mounts Accepted for Game.

Polo players of the Chicago area and Detroit will place the pick of their mounts at the disposal of the Harvard and Yale teams, which will meet Friday night in the 124th Field Artillery armory.

The offer was made by members of the ten teams competing in the Metropolitan Polo league tournament. The plan also has received approval of Mott Woolley and R. B. Forbes, captains of the Yale and Harvard teams.

As a consequence player ability alone will count in determining the outcome of the Yale-Harvard contest.

When the collegians arrive Friday morning they will find fifty polo ponies awaiting them in the armory stables. The captains will toss for first choice, and from then on the players of Yale and Harvard will alternate in picking their ponies. The game will mark the first meeting of Yale and Harvard in any sport anywhere except along the Atlantic seaboard.

Whether the game will be played on the flat, which in polo parlance means from scratch, or on a handicap basis with the higher rated team spotting its opponent a corresponding number of points to make up the differential, will be determined after a conference between captains and coaches here.

Top ranking squash racquets players began arriving in Chicago yesterday to wind up training for the three national championship tournaments to be held on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday. Teams have been entered from New York, Boston, and Philadelphia.

Three courts in the Lake Shore Athletic club will be used for the national singles championship, while the team tournament will be played in the C. A. A. and the veterans title will be decided at the Racquet club.

Philadelphia's entry includes five of the outstanding players in the game, Le Roy Lewis, 1938 intercollegiate champion; Cyrus H. Polley, former Canadian champion; William Slack, co-holder of the national doubles title; A. Willing Patterson, former English and Harvard star, and E. Rotan Sargent, intercollegiate champion in 1934.

Cities represented for the first time include Minneapolis, St. Louis, Louisville, Kansas City, and Milwaukee. Purdue also will be represented.

JO JO WHITE QUITS GAME IN ROW OVER SEATTLE TERMS

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Jayner [Jo-Jo] White, former Detroit Tiger outfielder, said tonight he had decided to quit baseball and devote his time to a job in a Detroit automobile plant.

He is the property of the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, having been traded by the Tigers several months ago in the transaction that brought Fred Hutchinson, young Seattle pitching star, to Detroit.

"I guess old Jo-Jo is about washed up with the game," White said as he revealed that his retirement was the result of a salary dispute with the Seattle management.

"I told them what I wanted to play out there and they told me what they would give me," White said. "We weren't anywhere near each other and Manager Jack Lelivelt of Seattle told me not to write him any more so I'm not going to write."

PRESBYTERY HITS ATTEMPT TO TAX CHURCH SALARIES

Collapse of Own Pension Plan Feared.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Presbyterian church yesterday opened its attack on President Roosevelt's expanded social security plan to tax churches. The local presbytery, representing churches in the metropolitan area, condemned the plan in an unanimously adopted resolution. National church officers sent a warning circular letter to more than 10,000 clergymen of the denomination.

This is the second denomination to take action against the President's church tax plan. Yesterday Episcopal clergymen of the country received a circular letter from that church's powerful pension fund attacking the bill.

No Reference to Churches.

In presenting the resolution to the Chicago presbytery the Rev. Selden L. Haynes of the Presbyterian board of pensions, 77 West Washington street, explained that the framers of the President's plan had displayed especial cunning by omitting all reference to churches. He added that no interpretation of the bill is available that would show that it does not discriminate against salaried Protestant clergy.

The Rev. Mr. Haynes explained that the new social security bill calls merely for "the cancellation of the exemption of all nonprofit organizations having exclusively religious, charitable, scientific, literary, humane, or educational purposes."

If this exemption is canceled it would require churches to pay taxes on their pay rolls and would subject their employés to the salary tax.

Fear Collapse of Own Plans.

The circular to Presbyterian clergy of the country states that if President Roosevelt's plan to tax churches and salaried clergy is made into law the Presbyterian clergy may expect the collapse of the present service pension plan. The letter was signed by Dr. Charles Welch of Louisville, Ky., moderator of the church; Dr. William B. Pugh of Philadelphia, Pa., stated clerk of the general assembly, and Dr. Reid S. Dickson of Philadelphia, general secretary of the board of pensions.

Dr. Dickson is president of the Church Pensions conference, which represents forty Protestant denominations. He has been delegated by that conference to represent the forty pension boards at public hearings on the church tax bill beginning next Monday in Washington.

Would Increase Burden.

"It is hardly possible," the letter warns the clergy, "that the ministers and other workers could pay employés' taxes and still maintain their 2½ per cent contributions [to the pension board], or that churches and other agencies could pay employers' age annuity taxes and the unemployment compensation taxes and still maintain their 7½ per cent contribution to the church's service pension plan, and their additional contribution through the benevolence budget."

The letter points out that the church affords a wider coverage for security and larger scale benefits than the federal social security program provides.

The resolution of the Chicago presbytery, adopted at its meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street, was ordered sent to the ways and means committee of the house of representatives.

SMITTY—THE LAST STRAW

OLD TROOPERS MOURN DEATH OF COL. TOMPKINS

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Wherever the rough riding men of the old 7th cavalry met tonight there was sadness over the death last night of Col. Selah R. H. Tompkins, 76 years old, a cavalryman of the carbine and saber school. He retired twelve years ago.

Col. S. R. H. Tompkins.

To cavalrymen his name meant action. He was the stuff of tradition and anecdote. His gift for expletive made him famous.

Once in the Philippines, old soldiers recalled at Fort Sam Houston tonight, he was given 400 cavalry recruits and told to mold them into a fighting unit. After a few weeks his superior officer sent a note inquiring how things were going. Col. Tompkins sent the following reply:

"I have 400 men who never saw a horse and 400 horses which never saw a man, and 12 officers who never saw a man nor a horse. Now what can I do?"

TOWNSHIP TO PAY FOR FUNERAL OF GRANT'S NEPHEW

Cremation services for Jesse Root Grant, nephew of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, who died Sunday in the County hospital, will be held at Graceland cemetery this morning. Jesse Grant's son, Ulysses, said New Trier township had agreed to pay the expenses.

A brother of the dead man, U. S. Grant of 150 East 93d street, New York, telegraphed $150 for burial expenses. This now will be used to meet other obligations, the son said. He will apply $140 on overdue instalment payments to the HOLC on the Grant home at 1327 Washington avenue, Wilmette, and $10 on an overdue light bill.

Jesse Grant was found suffering from exposure on the basement floor of his unheated home Saturday morning. He was a retired accountant.

MRS. EDNA BUNGE ACCEPTS $350,000 IN ESTATE BATTLE

A cash settlement of $200,000 and property valued at $150,000 will go to Mrs. Edna Morrison Bunge, 422 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park, in lieu of her rights to the estate of her husband, Albert J. Bunge, a coal merchant who died on Nov. 14, 1937. He left an estate of $560,000. Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski signed the order yesterday after an agreement had been reached by Mrs. Bunge's attorney, Frank Cantwell, and Attorney Herman Kannenberg for the First National bank, executor of the estate.

The Bunges agreed before their marriage in 1923 that she was to receive $25,000 cash upon his death, as well as the net income from one-half of his property. Mrs. Bunge contended, however, that her husband had torn up this agreement and that it never was in effect. The net income from the residue of the estate now will go to Bunge's sister, Miss Emma Bunge of 305 South Cuyler avenue, Oak Park.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain, or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

A CITIZEN CALLS A COP ABOUT A MAN AND A DOG

Evanston Policeman Gets Legal Lesson.

The telephone rang insistently in the Evanston police station yesterday. Policeman Harry Witt of the hello squad answered.

"I want to report a lawbreaker," said an excited male voice. "There's a fellow leading a dog down Sheridan road!"

"What of it?" asked Witt. "Is it your dog? Is this fellow a puppy-snatcher?"

"No," replied the voice, "but he's leading it down Sheridan road."

That Voice Is Back Again.

"A lot of people do that," said the policeman. "Save your nickels, buddy." He said good-by and hung up. Almost before one could say Dobermann-Pinscher the phone rang again. It was the same voice.

"That man and his wire-haired terrier are breaking an Evanston ordinance and I want him arrested," said the caller. "If you don't believe me look it up."

Instead of barking back at the citizen Policeman Witt just said O. K., he'd look it up. He called Crittenden C. Jarvis, the city attorney. Mr. Jarvis got out his Evanston municipal code.

He found that an ordinance passed fifty years ago, and never repealed, read as follows:

"No cattle or other animals of any kind shall be allowed on or along Sheridan road or Ridge avenue, nor shall any person drive or lead any animals thereon except horses, which shall be subject to the regulations elsewhere prescribed.

"Violations of this ordinance shall be punishable by a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $200."

Attorney Has a Reason.

Policeman Witt, no man to sit idly by and take a heckling, in the meantime had traced the calls to William H. Lytton, a young attorney who opened an office at 1580 Sherman avenue a few weeks ago.

"I just wanted to start a move toward getting some of these old laws repealed," said Lytton. "Besides, that man and his terrier have probably gone home by this time."

Sure enough, they were gone. But in their place, up and down the length of Sheridan road, strolled several dozen men, women and children—with their dogs. And on Ridge avenue all the bark wasn't on the trees, either.

INDIAN MONARCH WHO VISITED CHICAGO FAIR DIES AT THE AGE OF 75

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Maharaja Gaekwar Sir Sayaji Rao III. of Baroda, the third wealthiest of the ruling princes of India, died today at the age of 75. The maharaja opened the parliament of religion during the Chicago's A Century of Progress in 1933.

Baroda, although relatively small in area, is considered one of the most important Indian states.

The maharaja, whose annual income was reputed to be 10 million dollars, created a sensation in 1911. He turned his back on the late King George V. and Queen Mary after making his obeisances to them at the Delhi Durbar when the British monarch was proclaimed emperor of India.

PUBLIC HEALTH INSTITUTE AIDS 17,413 PATIENTS

The Public Health institute, a nonprofit clinic for venereal diseases, examined 17,413 patients in 1938 and gave 154,866 treatments. This report was made yesterday at the annual meeting of the board of directors.

Officials emphasized that the institute is participating in the public health campaign against syphilis without benefit of public funds. It is self-supporting, they said. The institute gives free treatment to those unable to pay, however, and 50 per cent of its service is on a credit basis.

Officers of the institute were re-elected. They include Joseph H. King, president; Thomas R. Gowenlock, Albert A. Sprague, August A. Carpenter, and David A. Crawford, vice presidents; Robert A. Gardner, treasurer; A. B. Dick Jr., secretary, and Dr. C. A. Cummings, assistant secretary and executive officer.

SUBMITS PLAN TO REORGANIZE ELEVATED LINES

Sprague's Capital Program Filed.

A. A. Sprague.

Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, yesterday filed a plan for reorganizing the elevated lines in federal district court. His plan anticipates consolidation of that property with the Chicago Surface Lines in a new company to operate all local transportation.

Sprague's proposal agrees substantially with one worked out by Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to Judge James H. Wilkerson. Sprague's plan supplements the Shaw plan by setting forth the proposed treatment of elevated line securities in the merger.

Hearing Set for Feb. 23.

Judge Wilkerson set Feb. 16 for filing objections to the plan and Feb. 23 for hearing them. By the latter date the surface lines are expected to present their amended report.

"I'm going to keep pressure on this," said Judge Wilkerson, "or another month will pass and we will find nothing more has been done."

Representatives of twenty committees in court told Judge Wilkerson they agreed to the Shaw plan.

Attorney Francis X. Busch, representing first mortgage bondholders of the Rapid Transit company, said a meeting of his committee will be called to consider the Sprague report.

"In the interest of peace I believe the committee will not stand on minor objections," he said. "In any major objections we will, of course, be ruled by the court."

Plan for New Company.

Col. Sprague's plan calls for capitalization of the new company as follows:

1st mtg. 5% bonds, series A	$72,718,350
1st mtg. 5% income bonds, ser. B	7,002,290
Preferred stock [$50 shares]	98,285,067
Common stock [no par shares]	2,685,519

Of these securities the Rapid Transit group would receive:

1st mtg. 5% inc. bonds, ser. B	$ 7,002,290
Preferred stock [$50 shares]	35,463,602
Common stock	1,105,802

For each $1,000 bond in the Union Elevated railway first mortgage, Union Consolidated Elevated railway first mortgage, and Northwestern Elevated railway first mortgage, securities holders would get the following:

New 1st mtg. 5% income bonds, ser. B	$220
New preferred stock [$50 shares]	$780
New common stock [no par], shares	2.5

Exchange of Securities.

The following securities in the new company would be allocated for each $1,000 bond of the Metropolitan West Side Elevated Railway company first mortgage, and the same company's extension mortgage:

New 1st mtg. 5% income bonds, ser. B	$150
New preferred stock [$50 shares]	$850 or 17 shares
New common stock [no par]	2 shares

For each $1,000 bond of the Chicago Rapid Transit company first and refunding mortgage issues the following securities would be given:

New 1st mtg. 5% income bonds, ser. B	$100
New preferred stock [$50 shares]	$684 or 13.68 shares
New common stock [no par]	9.8 shares

For each $100 of general claims, including Chicago Rapid Transit adjustment debentures and notes of indebtedness 2.3 shares of new common stock would be allotted. Each share of prior preferred stock would receive one share of new common stock and each share of old common stock would receive .0314 share of new common stock.

RFC NOTE SALE TERMED SUCCESS BY MORGENTHAU

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today said that the offering of 300 million dollars in Reconstruction Finance corporation ⅞ per cent notes was "a complete success." He said the books would close at midnight.

The treasury's weekly sale of $100,000,000 of 91 day treasury bills brought an average price of 99.999, equivalent to borrowing at 0.004 per cent. This was about the same as last week.

Morgenthau will not have a prepared statement concerning his stand on the administration's silver purchase policy, when he appears before the special senate committee on silver tomorrow morning. He said he will merely answer the senators' questions. Morgenthau is known to oppose the program.

Gen'l Motors to Pay 75c on Its Common

Directors of General Motors corporation yesterday declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock. The payment will be made March 13 to holders of record Feb. 16. The dividend is three times the amount paid last March 12.

William S. Knudsen says outlook is better.

The company paid 75 cents a share Dec. 12, but in the three preceding quarters the dividend was 25 cents. In 1937 dividends on this stock totaled $3.75 a share, consisting of 75 cents in the first quarter and $1 each in the last three quarters.

Preferred Payment Voted.

The directors also authorized payment May 1 of the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the preferred stock of record April 10.

In Omaha, Neb., William S. Knudsen, president of the corporation, said in an interview that the outlook for the motor car industry was 25 to 33 per cent better than a year ago at this time. He is on his way to the Pacific coast to study business conditions.

Knudsen said he based his conclusion on several factors. Consumption of gasoline in 1938 remained about the same as in 1937, he said, although automobile sales dropped. The used car business is brisk, indicating increased employment. Sales of new cars so far in the model year [November, December, and January] are 36 per cent above a year ago.

"We don t expect a boom year as in 1937, but in view of the fact that all indices are so favorable, it is not unreasonable to forecast the production of 3,400,000 or 3,600,000 units, compared with 2,670,000 units last year," he added.

Day's Dividend Actions.

SIX SENATORS PROPOSE U. S. BUILD UP RESERVE OF WAR MATERIALS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Legislation through which the government would build up a $25,000,000 reservoir of war materials was proposed today by six senators.

The measure would authorize the secretaries of war and navy, coöperating with other departments, to decide what "strategic or critical" materials should be purchased for reserve storage.

The materials would be released in event of war or upon a declaration by the president that a threat of war constituted a national emergency.

Senator Miller [D., Ark.], an author of the legislation, said such materials as manganese, used in the manufacture of steel, tin and scrap iron might be considered strategic or critical war materials.

MEXICAN CHIEFS DISCUSS PAYING FOR OIL LANDS

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—(AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas was reported authoritatively to have conferred today with heads of the Mexican petroleum department concerning payment of indemnities to foreign oil companies whose properties were expropriated last March 18.

The conference was regarded as a preliminary to anticipated direct conversations between Cardenas and Donald Richberg, former NRA administrator, who has been retained as counsel for some American companies taken over by the government.

It was understood the government was planning to deliver to the expropriated companies for sale abroad a large portion of Mexico's oil output. Reports that the Cardenas régime was having difficulty in disposing of products received in barter sales to Germany have led to a belief that the government was eager to work out an arrangement with the expropriated companies.

REPORT SOCIAL SECURITY GRANTS IN CHICAGO AREA

The Chicago regional office of the social security board made 266,906 benefit payments up to the end of last year, H. L. McCarthy, SSB regional director, announced yesterday. The local office began making payments in April, 1937. The region is made up of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Heirs or estates of wage earners who had died received 147,681 payments totaling $6,398,980, McCarthy said. The 119,225 payments to workers who reached 65 years of age amounted to $5,356,295. Of 284,000 claims for payments, only about 6,000 have been definitly disallowed, McCarthy said.

All payments until 1942 will be made in lump sums. After that date the board will begin making regular monthly old age insurance payments.

New Federal Unit to Fight Trade Frauds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6—Attorney General Frank Murphy today announced the establishment of a commercial frauds unit in the department of justice to handle prosecution of cases under the securities acts and the mail fraud statutes.

J. Albert Woll will head fraud unit.

At the same time Assistant Attorney General Brien McMahon announced that J. Albert Woll, former assistant state's attorney of Cook county [Chicago], Illinois, and now a special assistant to the attorney general, will head the new unit.

Plans to Stamp Out Frauds.

Murphy said, "establishment of such a unit is deemed advisable because the true interest, not only of the investing public, but of the entire financial and economic structure of the country will be best served by an intensive effort to stamp out frauds in violations" of securities and mail laws.

Murphy cited specifically the securities act of 1933, the securities and exchange act of 1934, and the federal mail fraud statutes.

The purpose of the new unit, he said, "is to facilitate closer coöperation of all federal agencies in an effort to curb commercial frauds."

Says Coöperation Is Assured.

Murphy said Postmaster General James A. Farley and Chairman William O. Douglas of the Securities and Exchange commission have pledged full cooperation with the unit's efforts.

Woll was graduated from the University of Illinois law school in 1927 and for several years was associated with Hope Thompson in the practice of law in Chicago. During his four years as assistant state's attorney, he prosecuted a number of criminal cases and for two years was in charge of drawing all indictments returned in the county.

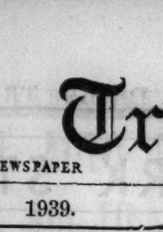
ADMIT GIANNINI GOT MILLION NOT LISTED WITH SEC

Hearing Is Resumed; May Be Broadened.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Counsel for Transamerica corporation admitted today that A. P. Giannini, California banker, had received more than a million dollars from his companies in payments which were not reported to the Securities and Exchange commission.



O. John Rogge seeks broader probe.

Hearings were resumed before the SEC on charges of filing misleading and false financial statements and on an order against Transamerica to show cause why its stock should not be delisted. The resumption brought a move by the SEC to expand its probe of the holding company and subsidiaries.

Payment Listed at $1 a Year.

William Stanley, counsel for Transamerica, testified that payments totaling $1,294,186 were made to Giannini, chairman of Transamerica, by the holding company and its former subsidiary, Bankitaly Company of America, between 1930 and 1936.

One of the charges brought by the SEC against Transamerica and subsidiaries was that records filed with the commission failed to disclose total payments to Giannini and that a registration statement filed with the SEC said Giannini's only salary was $1 a year as chairman of Transamerica.

Stanley denied that there was any culpability in failure to disclose the payments in statements to the SEC.

For the second time, counsel for the SEC moved for expansion of the original order probing the huge holding company and its subsidiaries. The first motion already has been granted by the commission, permitting investigation of relations between Giannini and the Pacific Coast Mortgage company, another former subsidiary.

Acts to Amend Charges.

Today O. John Rogge, SEC attorney, filed a motion with the commission asking it to amend the charges against Transamerica. He sought to include the allegation that the company filed a "false and misleading statement" in failing to indicate that Bank of America, 1 billion 400 million dollar concern, was its "subsidiary."

Rogge asserted that the bank remained a Transamerica subsidiary although the holding company reduced its holdings from 99 to 42 per cent of the bank's stock through a distribution to Transamerica stockholders. He charged that Transamerica still dominated Bank of America after holdings were reduced.

The move was viewed as a strategic one on the part of the SEC, as attorneys for Bank of America are now planning an appeal from a federal District court decision rejecting its application for an injunction to bar the SEC from delving into the affairs of the bank.

Jurisdiction Is Challenged.

The bank asserted in its petition that the SEC lacked jurisdiction over a national bank and that an exchange of information, authorized by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, between the controler of the currency and the SEC, was illegal. The local court last week ruled in favor of the SEC and the bank announced its intention of appealing immediately. The injunction battle is expected to be carried to the Supreme court.

In the meantime the SEC decided to resume its hearings, suspended by court order during arguments on the injunction petition, without mention of the Bank of America.

Big Firm Shows Stockholders, Employes Where Revenues Go

Employés of the Caterpillar Tractor company in 1938 received wages and salaries totaling $16,175,495, B. C. Heacock, president, said yesterday in the big corporation's annual report. Wages and salaries amounted to $20,891,065 in the preceding year, he said.

In 1938 the average number of workers employed by the company, which has plants at Peoria, Ill., was 9,432, compared with 12,234 in 1937. Average annual earnings per hourly paid factory employé was $1,541, Heacock said. In 1937 the annual earnings averaged $1,584. The drop in 1938 earnings, according to Heacock, was caused by the shorter work week in operation for eight months.

Report Is Comprehensive.

The Caterpillar Tractor company's annual report is one of the most comprehensive published by any corporation. Charts and pictures are employed to illustrate operations, and breakdown figures are given to illustrate more clearly the results for the year. The report goes to both stockholders and employés.

The report showed net earnings for 1938 were $3,235,709, against $10,168,690 in 1937, a drop of 68.18 per cent. Sales were reported at $48,246,140 for last year, compared with $63,183,488 in the preceding year, a decline of 23.64 per cent.

Working Staf Is Reduced.

Heacock explained how the company met the business recession during the early part of 1938. He said operations were reduced radically to cut inventories to levels considered more reasonable in relation to anticipated sales.

Approximately 2,000 workers were laid off in January. Operations were put on a four day week basis of 32 hours.

During the year $2,396,999 was spent for buildings, machinery and other equipment, compared with $3,817,986 in the preceding year.

Where Customer's Dollar Goes.

One chart in the report illustrates how the customer's dollar was spent last year. Material took 41½ cents, salaries and wages, 32⅝ cents; manufacturing and operating expenses,

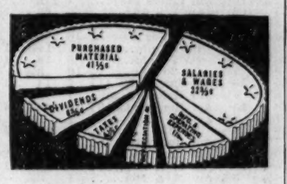


Chart shows how the company spent the customer's dollar last year.

11 cents; dividends, 6⅝ cents; taxes, 4⅛ cents, and depreciation, 4 cents. An additional 2½ cents was taken from customers' dollars of former years in order to pay 1938 dividends.

Another chart showed the company's investment per employé. Based on average 1938 employment, the investment per employé totaled $5,592. Lands, buildings and machinery investments took $2,140 of this, inventories, $1,942; notes and accounts receivable, $948, and cash, $562.

METROPOLITAN'S NEW INSURANCE FOR YEAR EXCEEDS 1.8 BILLIONS

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The annual statement of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company showed today the issuance of $1,810,355,017 of new life insurance during 1938. This brought to a new high total of $22,612,403,594 the company's life insurance in force.

During the year the company's assets increased by $223,179,590 to $4,942,900,417.

Leroy A. Lincoln, president, said the company has reserved $188,042,832 for dividends to policyholders payable in 1939. Of this amount, $57,765,510 will be paid on industrial policies, $57,452,174 on ordinary life policies, and $2,825,148 on accident and health policies.

Steel Output Is Expected to Rise Slightly in Week

The nation's steel production rate will move up to 53.4 per cent of theoretical capacity this week, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated yesterday. The scheduled increase of 0.6 point in the ingot output rate will raise it to the highest level since Dec. 12. Last week the ingot rate was scheduled at 52.8 per cent.

GROWTH, POWER OF INSURANCE COMPANIES TOLD

Assets 27.7 Billion, SEC Aid Testifies.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The staggering size, swift growth, and far-reaching influence of the nation's life insurance companies were outlined today before the monopoly investigating committee.

It was brought out that about 64,000,000 Americans—or about one of every two persons in the nation—are insured by the companies, which have 60 per cent of all life insurance in effect in the world. The companies' assets were estimated at more than one and one half times the taxable value of New York City.

Dr. Donald H. Davenport of the Harvard school of business administration, was one of the two Securities and Exchange commission experts to testify. He compared the recently announced assessed valuation figures for New York City—$16,736,000,000—with the assets of legal reserve life insurance companies, which he said total $27,750,000,000.

Discusses Valuation Methods.

Ernest H. Howe, chief financial adviser of the SEC in its insurance inquiry, discussed the composition of assets of the companies and the varying methods used by the companies in valuing their assets.

The testimony emphasized the financial strength of the insurance companies. Their excess of income over expenditures in the last twenty years was estimated at $20,900,000,000, and except for two short periods, their premium receipts were ample to meet all expenditures.

Chairman William O. Douglas of the SEC, in opening the day's hearing, emphasized that "this inquiry in no way questions the adequacy of the reserves of any insurance company within its scope."

Reassures Policy Holders.

"No policy holder need have any concern that any fact brought out in this inquiry will jeopardize the protection which he counts upon through his insurance policy," he added.

Douglas said the SEC inquiry sought "to survey the economic power

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 6.—Stock market prices were irregular at the close today. Early strength under the leadership of power and light shares failed to hold up in the face of late selling. Only the utility group pulled through with a gain.

Of 751 issues traded, 374 closed higher, 205 lower, and 172 unchanged. The averages for the industrial and rail groups declined, but the utility group rose 0.92.

News of the favorable settlement of the Commonwealth and Southern-Tennessee Valley Authority dispute stimulated fresh demand for utility stocks.

With large blocks changing hands—one running to 25,000 shares in Commonwealth and Southern—power and light stocks made sizeable gains. Common stocks showed advances running to a point, and gains in preferred issues ran as high as 7 points.

Commonwealth and Southern common and preferred highlighted the utility group. The common, most active issue, added ¼ point, closing at 2¼. The preferred soared 6½ points, closing at 62½, new 1938-'39 peak.

Other strong preferred utility issues were American Power and Light, Columbia Gas and Electric, Electric Power and Light, Federal Light and Tractions, and General Gas and Electric.

After making gains ranging to 2 points, industrial issues reacted. Steel shares were mixed. United States Steel, Bethlehem, and National Steel were higher. Republic and Youngstown Sheet and Tube declined. Airplane stocks were mostly fractionally lower.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Under the leadership of utilities, bond prices advanced generally today. Some power issues rose as much as 4½ points. The agreement between the Tennessee Valley authority and the Commonwealth and Southern for the sale of properties of Tennessee electric power was the basis for the market's optimistic tone.

Railroad bonds followed the lead of utilities, although mainly in fractional advances. One of the day's oddities was an advance of 17 points by New York, Lake Erie and Western Coal 5½s of '42 in the second recorded transaction in a year. The first, last week, saw a drop of 66 points.

United States treasuries, in general, gained 1-32 to 5-32 point, although a few minor recessions were recorded. Foreign government issues were uneven.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved in a narrow range in slightly heavier trading yesterday. A total of 33,000 shares changed hands and of the 104 issues traded, 49 advanced and 26 declined. The remainder were unchanged. The Tribune average of 20 stocks finished at 11.01, compared with 11.00 Saturday.

Volume leaders were mixed. Middle West was unchanged at 8. Commonwealth Edison declined ⅛ to 27¾, but Central and South West Utilities advanced an equal fraction to 1⅝. Bendix Aviation was unchanged at 26. Merchants and Manufacturers Securities "A" shares gained ⅛ to 4¾. Helleman Brewing was unchanged at 7¾.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were mostly weaker yesterday, dealers reported. Closing bids were $1 lower to $2 higher. Shares of Chicago Title and Trust company advanced $2. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company stock declined 50 cents and First National bank stock $1 lower.

HOUSE APPROVES $25,000 MORE TO FINISH TVA QUIZ

Gets Plea for 1.8 Billion for 20 U. S. Agencies.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—An additional $25,000 appropriation for the joint committee investigating the Tennessee Valley authority received final congressional approval today.

John D. Battle opposes building of more dams.

At the request of Representative Thomason [D., Tex.], a committee member, the house quickly passed a bill for the money which the senate already had approved. The measure now goes to the White House.

The committee had $50,000 for its work last summer and fall, but Senator Donahey [D., O.], committee chairman, recently said it needed more to complete its work.

Big Sums Requested.

The house appropriations committee sent to the floor a $1,898,000,000 request for funds for more than a score of independent agencies of the government, including $39,000,000 for the TVA.

The committee said it had cut $1,000,000 from the budget bureau's estimate of the TVA's needs during 1940, but had approved authorization for that agency to contract for an additional $4,000,000 of expenses.

The appropriation called for continuation of construction of Gilbertsville dam and reservoir. The committee said that $5,592,977 will have been spent on the project by June 30. The cost of continuing construction in the 1940 fiscal year was estimated at $12,503,000.

Need for Dams Removed.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association, issued a statement saying TVA's pending purchase of Tennessee Electric Power company property removed some of the reasons for the agency's plan for three additional hydro-electric dams. Battle said the dams would cost $166,000,000.

The purchase, he said, would add five dams and three steam plants to the TVA system.

"The bituminous coal industry is interested in this situation," he said, "because our industry stands to lose a quarter of a million tons annually in consequence of TVA's acquisition and prospective shutdown of steam plants."

Wilkie May Sell More Units.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Negotiations between the Commonwealth and Southern corporation and the Tennessee Valley authority for sale of corporation properties in northern Mississippi and Alabama will begin in about a week. This was announced today by Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern.

The proposed sale includes properties of the Alabama Power company in fifteen counties in northern Alabama and the northern holdings of the Mississippi Power company.

The negotiations are expected to be completed more quickly than the sale of the properties of the Tennessee Electric Power company, arranged last week at a price of $78,600,000 after five years of legal controversy.

As a result of the settlement of the TVA controversy, it was indicated that the billion dollar Commonwealth and Southern intends to launch a refunding program for its remaining southeastern properties that may reach $335,165,000.

Nashville Agrees to Join.

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The city of Nashville agreed today to join with the Tennessee Valley authority in a coöperative program for purchase of the Tennessee electric properties of Commonwealth and Southern corporation for $78,600,000.

Mayor Thomas L. Cummings of Nashville announced the agreement, contingent on approval of the Nashville city council, after a conference here with TVA officials. Nashville's share would be about $15,000,000.

Under the plan municipalities will buy distribution facilities and TVA will take over generating and transmission properties.

GIVE JUDGMENT OF 2 MILLIONS AGAINST BENDIX

A judgment for $2,058,007.48 against Vincent Bendix, automobile equipment manufacturer, was entered in Superior court yesterday before Judge Francis Allegretti. It was in behalf of the City National Bank and Trust company, as successor trustees to the Central Republic Trust company, trustees.

Bendix, according to the testimony, guaranteed the $1,600,000 bond issue of the Michigan-Delaware-Chestnut Realty trust, floated in 1928. The trust proposed to erect a building on vacant property on the east side of Michigan avenue south of the Palmolive building.

The issue was to have matured on Jan. 1, 1932. It was then renewed to Jan. 1, 1937, at which time it had been reduced to $1,402,000 by retirement of some of the bonds. Interest, taxes, and penalties, plus attorney's fees, increased the total amount due to more than two million dollars. On Feb. 15, 1937, Bendix was denied a rehearing on a judgment won by the holder of a $500 bond that was part of the issue.

GROWTH, POWER OF INSURANCE COMPANIES TOLD

Assets 27.7 Billion, SEC Aid Says at Hearing.

inherent in the vast investment funds controled by insurance companies and to study the impact of that power upon our national economy."

He added the methods of electing directors and officers are among the subjects to be studied. Frederick H. Ecker, New York, chairman of the board of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, will be the first insurance official to testify tomorrow. Metropolitan was described as the largest insurance company in the world and next to the American Telephone and Telegraph company the largest corporation in America.

The "spectacular growth" of the life insurance business since 1906, to which Douglas called attention, was the high point in the day's testimony.

In 1906 there were 138 legal reserve companies with aggregate assets of $2,924,253,848. At the end of 1937, testimony showed, there were 308 such companies with assets of $26,249,049,219, and by the end of 1938 the assets had increased by $1,500,000,000.

Power in Capital Market.

The testimony showed that in recent years there has been a trend toward concentration of savings in the hands of the insurance companies, in the power of these companies over the nation's capital market, and in the centralization of the most powerful companies in the New York area.

The power of the life insurance companies in the capital market, Howe said, was illustrated in 1937 when the ten largest legal reserve companies bought 62.1 per cent of all corporate issues of bonds and notes which were publicly offered or of large size.

A chart showed, with respect to the increasing proportion of individual savings which goes to the life insurance companies, that in 1937 savings held by commercial banks amounted roughly to $14,000,000,000, savings banks assets to $12,000,000,000, and building and loan assets to $6,000,000,000. These figures contrasted with the 27 billions of assets of the 308 legal reserve insurance companies.

Mutual Companies Grow.

Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, chairman of the monopoly committee, observed that the growth of mutual life insurance companies suggested "there has been a movement of people toward establishing social security for themselves."

"The capital reservoir seems to be constantly concentrating, because the larger proportion of the assets of the insurance companies seems to be flowing toward the larger companies," he said.

"Since the figures show that the assets of these companies are growing much faster than the population, and since the prosperity of a free, independent enterprise depends on ready access to capital reservoirs, this condition is one which every one interested in reëstablishing prosperity must give consideration."

Investors' Guide

WHO WAS RIGHT IN 1935?

Investors' Guide: Please confirm or "disconfirm" my judgment. Late in 1935 I had about $2,500. to invest. An investment man—an acquaintance of mine—suggested Chesapeake corporation common stock. I noticed, however, that Chesapeake owned little besides a big block of common stock in the Chesapeake & Ohio railway.

I thought it more sensible to buy C. & O. common directly than to acquire it indirectly by buying Chesapeake stock. So on Friday, Dec. 13, I bought 50 C. & O. common at $51 a share—$2,550. I see the Chesapeake firm is liquidating. My question is: Am I better or worse off than I would be had I bought Chesapeake common instead of C. & O.?—Mrs. R. B.

Answer: The simplest way to test your judgment is by a dollars and cents comparison. This is made by adding the dividends you received on your $2,550 investment in C. & O. to the present market price of your holdings. Compare this total with a corresponding total for a $2,550 investment in Chesapeake corporation common made Dec. 13, 1935. This will tell whether you are dollars ahead or dollars behind.

You paid $2,550 for C. & O. stock and have received $505 in cash dividends since then. At the present price around $34, you could sell out at $1,700, leaving a "net loss" of $345, after considering the dividends.

You could have bought 44 shares of Chesapeake corporation common on the same day in 1935 for $58 a share—a cost of $2,552. On this stock, you would have received cash dividends of $497 and dividends in C. & O. stock worth $897 at the present market around $34. At the current market price of Chesapeake stock of about $21 a share, you could have sold out with a "net loss" of $233.

So your judgment is slightly "disconfirmed"—to the extent of $112.

GIANTS COMPARED.

Investors' Guide: Which is the biggest industrial corporation in the world—United States Steel, General Motors, or American Telephone and Telegraph?—T. K.

Answer: Taking consolidated reports for 1937, General Motors is largest in sales, and American Telephone is first in the book value of total assets. A comparison follows:

	Sales 1937.	Total assets Dec. 31, 1937.
Gen. Motors	$1,607,000,000	$1,567,000,000
U. S. Steel	1,087,000,000	1,919,000,000
A. T. & T.	1,051,000,000	5,068,000,000

Notice that United States Steel ranks second of the three in both sales and assets.
